Clemency Is Denied

Julius (right) and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted of giving atom secrets to the Russians, have been denied clemency by President Eisenhower. The Rosenbergs had appealed their case to the President after having been sentenced to death. The President's review of the case, however, did not alter the sentence. (NEA Telephoto).

Rosenberg Case To Be Appealed

Eisenhower Refuses Clemency to Pair, Calls 'Sentence Just Punishment'

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower has refused to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs, whose controversial death sentences for atomic spying he termed just punishment for a crime which "could very well result in the death of many, many thousands of innocent citizens."

A New York attorney for the husband and wife, Emanuel Bloch, said he would carry a new appeal to the Supreme Court, which on two previous occasions has refused to review the case. The court almost never changes its mind in such circumstances.

The Rosenbergs—Julius, 34, and Ethel, 36—received the word that the President had turned down their appeal in the death cell block at New York's Sing Sing Prison. They had no comment. They have insisted they are innocent.

Bloch said he will apply to the U. S. Court of Appeals tomorrow for a stay of execution, pending his new Supreme Court plea. If the Supreme Court won't review the case, he said he would "make other moves, and they will not be assinine ones."

On Saturday, he said he plans to take the Rosenbergs' two children, a small boy and girl, to Sing Sing prison to visit their parents. Such visits have been permitted occasionally since the Rosenbergs were condemned.

Their electrocution, originally set for Jan. 24, had been delayed by Trial Judge Irving R. Kaufman while the presidential appeal was pending. The judge's stay expires four days hence; he will then fix a new date for the death sentence to be carried out.

Will Be First

It is the Rosenbergs will be the first American civilians to pay with their lives for the crime of espionage against the U. S.

That fact has figured largely in the world-wide propaganda campaign, sparked by Communists, to save them. Pickets paraded in front of the White House. Others marched in New York's Time Square. In Paris, 400 Communists called at the U. S. Embassy to protest. The Daily Worker, Communist party paper in New York, ran a "Save the Rosenberg's" campaign.

Some non-Communists, too, thought the death sentence was too severe. Among these: Scientists Albert Einstein and Dr. Harold C. Urey, both of whom contributed to early work on the atomic bomb.

Most of these appeals for clemency were directed to Harry Truman, who did not get around to a decision, because the Justice Department was still studying the case, before he yielded the presidency to Eisenhower on Jan. 20.

Takes Case to President

Atty. Gen. Brownell carried the Rosenberg case papers to the White House about 4:30 p. m. (EST) yesterday. Little more than half an hour later, the President's decision was announced in a statement.

"I have given earnest consideration to the records in the case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and to the appeals for clemency made in their behalf," the President said.

"The nature of the crime for which they have been found guilty and sentenced far exceeds that of the taking of the life of another citizen; it involves the deliberate betrayal of the entire nation and could very will result in the death

County to Receive $112,507 Share of New York State Aid

Ulster county will receive $112,507.63 as its share of the fourth regular installment of state aid to be distributed February 15, it was announced today by State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern.

Columbia county will receive $51,886.39, Dutchess county, $158,476.80, Greene county, $32,965.29, and Sullivan county, $43,899.23.

The total of the fourth quarterly distribution amounts to $22,747,890.96. This payment, together with the three other installments paid, boosts the total for 1952-1953 to an all time record of $99,991,074.56.

Checks Are Mailed

The quarterly checks, the comptroller reported, were mailed to the fiscal officers of the state's 62 cities, 549 villages and 932 towns.

The total per capita aid paid by the state to local governments in 1952-1953 was $7,427,662.83 greater than the amount distributed in 1951-1952. New York city's share of the fourth installment was $13,294,140.18, making a total payment to the City of New York for 1952-1953 of $53,176,560.72, or 58 per cent of the total.

This type of state aid is allocated to the local units of government entitled to receive the same on a per capita basis determined by the 1950 federal census. Each city receives $6.75 for each man, woman and child within the community; the towns receive $3.55 per capita and the villages $3. This money is not earmarked for any particular government function, and goes to the local government's general funds and may be used for any general municipal purpose.

Gives Farmers Notice

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 12 (AP)—Secretary of Agricurlture Benson is putting U. S. farmers on notice that they must depend more upon themselves than upon government subsidies in the future. "Price supports should provide insurance against disaster," Benson said. "Those that encourage uneconomic production, resulting in continuing heavy surpluses and subsidies, should be avoided." Addressing some 3,000 farmers of the Central Livestock Association here last night, Benson promised that farm support program would be carried out faithfully by the new administration. He said, "there will be no blanket promises to embark on actions which we have neither the authority to invoke nor the means to implement."

Calls on Adenauer

Bonn, Germany, Feb. 12 (AP)—Dr. James Bryant, new U. S. high commissioner for Germany, paid his first call on Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today. The West German government leader has just returned to his office after several days in bed with influenza.

Israel Acts Hostile, Is Reds Stand

Soviets Blaming Bomb Explosion at Tel Aviv; Claim Leaders Incite Feeling Against Russia

Moscow, Feb. 12 (AP) — The Soviet Union broke off diplomatic relations with Israel last night and the eight adults and one child at the Israeli legation here began packing at once to leave Moscow.

The Soviets acted, a government note to Israel said, because of the bomb explosion at the Soviet legation in Tel Aviv, Israel's capital, on Monday. The note, which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky handed to Israel's minister here, Samuel Eliashev, accused Israeli government leaders of inciting hostile action against the Soviet Union.

Also, the Soviet government, the note concluded, "recalls the envoy of the Soviet Union and personnel of the Soviet legation (at Tel Aviv)."

The Soviets said three Russians, including the wife of Soviet Minister Pavel I. Yershov, were injured in the Tel Aviv explosion. (The note made no mention of the legation cook, Sofia Vana, who was the only casualty still reported in a serious condition yesterday).

The note turned aside subsequent explanations and apologies by the Israeli government and accused it of falsehoods, double dealing, and a "systematic fanning of hatred and enmity toward the Soviet Union and an incitement to hostile actions against the Soviet Union."

Accuse Police Too

The Israeli police were accused of conniving in the bombing.

(In Tel Aviv, circles close to the Israeli foreign office speculated that all eastern-bloc states would follow the Soviet lead and break off relations with Israel, except perhaps Bulgaria. That satellite was viewed as a prospective custodian for Russian interests, which include large real estate holdings formerly belonging to the Russian Orthodox Church and recently transferred to Soviet jurisdiction. Tel Aviv sources also speculated that Switzerland or Argentina would be asked to take over Israel's interests in the Soviet Union.

(The unknown terrorists who set off the blast were denounced after the attack by Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion for a "dastardly act" which, he said, reflected on the honor of the state of Israel.

(The Israeli government began an immediate roundup of suspects, both Jews and Arabs, and said it would pay reparations to the Soviets. However, there has been no announcement that the case has been solved.

Soviet Press Critical

(The bombing apparently was in retaliation for the recent anti-Zionist campaign in Moscow in connection with charges against nine doctors—some of them Jewish—accused of plotting against top Soviet leaders. The Soviet press followed the charges with severe attacks on Zionism in general and Israeli officials in particular.)

The break-off ended almost five

Sudan Pact Is Signed

Cairo, Feb. 12 (AP)—Britain and Egypt today signed an agreement covering the future of Sudan, and Prime Minister Naguib's office said evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal has been agreed upon in principle.

These are the two issues that have been separating Britain and Egypt. Solution of both could go a long way toward enlisting Egypt in the proposed Middle East defense command being framed by the west.

The Sudan is a million square mile area which Britain and Egypt have been running jointly since 1899. The agreement gives the eight million Sudanese the right to decide their ultimate future within three years. They could decide to join Egypt, join the British Commonwealth or set up an independent nation. Early elections for a parliament are planned under supervision of an Indian, an American, a Briton and two Sudanese.

Grand Union Work On New Market Is To Be Started Soon

Will Demolish One House on Property—Architect Is Drafting Plans, Official Says

Charles G. Rodman, real estate manager of the Grand Union Co., stationed at Paterson, N. J., said today that plans were in progress for the new super market to be built in the Albany avenue-Roosevelt Park section.

"We expect to start demolition of one house on the property, as soon as possible, and the architect's plans are in progress," Rodman said.

Title to the property was acquired earlier this month, and "we are proceeding with details as fast as we can," he said. He was unable to say whether construction would start early in March.

The company is still undecided, he revealed, as to whether to continue as owner of the property and operate the market as such, or whether to "sell and lease."

Parcels Are Acquired

Several parcels of land were acquired for the site of the market and zoning changes were necessary to permit some of them to be included as part of a tract to be used for commercial purposes.

Residents of the Roosevelt Park section, at first, opposed the plan, but later yielded on the promise that a buffer zone would be maintained as a protection to residential areas.

The market will be a large one "with ample parking space," Rodman said.

Another source revealed today that the lease of the Wall Street Grand Union store is due to expire on July 1, and it is not known at this time whether that will be renewed or whether the store will be absorbed by the super market. The Broadway store, however, is expected to continue at its present location.

Skinner Resigns

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP) — The White House announced today the resignation of Carlton Skinner as Governor of Guam. No successor was announced.

New Style Brick Seen Aiding Area Industry

President Meets Lincoln Descendant

Item Used Widely on Long Island

Provides Jamb Slot and Patented Furring Clip, Plus Drainage Hole

Area brick manufacturers may have a brighter future starting this year because of "an interesting development brought out by the Structural Trades Products Research Foundation," a spokesman for the Brick Manufacturers Association of New York said today.

This new hope for a greater production volume in the industry arises from the development of a brick of new size now being used considerably in mass building on Long Island.

The brick is eight inches long, five and a half inches wide and two and five-eighths inches thick, the spokesman said. It has an indenture in one end used as a jamb slot for windows and doors and a patented furring clip is used to attach to inside furring, and wall board is attached to furring strips.

Drain Is Provided

The method provides a sturdy, fire resistant, brick wall. Weepholes are left at the bottom so that any water, which might seep through, may drain out at the bottom.

Tests as to heat and cold penetration have been reported as showing "excellent" results. The innovation is known as the Hudson River adaptation of SCR brick, and has "provoked much interest throughout the country," the spokesman said.

Some of this brick has been made at area plants and manufacturers consider it "a promising new line."

Might Be Made Locally

Seven yards have been operating between Kingston and Malden, and if the new brick creates a heavy production demand, it probably will be made by most or all of them.

Most of the area yards were active at one time or other last year. This new find could mean the steadiest and heaviest production in several years.

The association's spokesmen said that the new type of brick construction calls for some building code changes in communities, but such changes were made without serious delays in the places where the brick has been used.

One builder on Long Island, he said, has been making extensive use of the brick in the mass-construction of one-and-a-half-story buildings.

Flu Is on Downtrend

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP) — The Public Health Service said today reports from various parts of the country show that the influenza outbreak is on a downward trend. Declines in the number of new cases of respiratory illness or influenza were reported from New York, Virginia, Arkansas, Louisiana, Washington, California and Alaska. However, influenza and pneumonia deaths in 58 reporting cities totalled 554 in the week ended Jan. 31, an increase of 20 per cent over the 463 in the previous week, the agency's weekly summary showed.

No Comment Made

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP) — The White House had no immediate comment today on the Soviet Union's breaking diplomatic relations with Israel. Asked if there was any White House reaction, Presidential Secretary James C. Hagerty, replied, "I do not know."

395 Added to Casualties

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Defense Department reported yesterday that U. S. battle casualties in Korea increased by 395 during the week ended last Friday, raising the total to 129,819. Of the total, 22,890 are listed as battle deaths and 9,260 as missing.

Federal Jury Says Provoo Guilty of War Treason

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Former Army Sgt. John David Provoo today faced a sentence that could be anything from five years in prison to death for treason while a prisoner of the Japanese during World War 2.

A Federal Court jury found him guilty last night of four overt acts of treason. It was unable to agree on three other treason allegations.

The good-looking, tall and square-jawed veteran was pale and tense as the court clerk read the jury's findings in detail. Judge Gregory F. Noonan scheduled a hearing on defense motions and sentencing for next Tuesday. The 35-year-old defendant was taken to the Federal House of Detention.

One charge on which Provoo was convicted was that he was at least partly responsible for the death of a fellow prisoner of war, army Capt. Burton C. Thomson, of Iowa. Thomson was executed by their captors on Corregidor after Provoo, who was in favor with the prison camp commanders, reported him as uncooperative and anti-Japanese.

The jury of seven women and five men also found Provoo guilty of offering his services to the Japanese captors and of making two radio broadcasts from Tokyo during the war.

The charges on which the jury was unable to agree were that Provoo tried to persuade an American Colonel to give a U. S. Army code to the Japanese; that he seized a pair of boots from a fellow prisoner and gave them to the Japanese; and that he joined the Japanese in questioning a fellow prisoner for the purpose of discovering where the U. S. forces on the Philippines had hidden silver bullion.

During the trial, which started Oct. 27, the defense called Provoo and 34 other witnesses to back its contention he remained loyal to the United States after his capture but had courted the favor of the Japanese as to be in a position to get extra food and other benefits for his fellow prisoners.

The prosecution called 44 witnesses. The witnesses for the defense and prosecution were brought from various parts of the United States and Japan.

'53 Budget To Be Voted

Committees Hear Pleas for More Spending and More Saving

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—Republican-dominated fiscal committees today rolled Gov. Dewey's new billion-dollar budget toward certain legislative approval next week without any of the changes demanded by critics.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, by-passing pleas for stricter economy and heavier spending voiced at yesterday's public hearing, was to approve the budget bills without major change at a special meeting.

The Senate Finance Committee chairman, Republican Walter J. Mahoney, said his group planned to follow suit Monday night. The committee action cleared the way for final legislative approval next week.

The $1,072,500,000 spending program, with appropriations 36 million dollars under the current year's total, was peppered at a 5½-hour hearing yesterday. More than 100 speakers pleaded either for more money for pet projects or a slash in spending.

Other Developments

In other major developments:

1. The hotly contested Ostrander amendment to close the forest preserve to construction of flood-control dams was re-introduced for second approval by the Legislautre. The measure was cleared last year, but since then has run into heavy opposition. To become effective, it would have to be voted again by this Legislature or in 1954, and by the voters.

2. Two Erie county Republicans introduced bills to stymie Gov. Dewey's plan to have state-operated check stations handle twice-a-year inspections of all motor vehicles. Sen. John H. Cooke of Alden and Assemblyman Thomas Runfola of Buffalo sponsored a measure to have private garages

Peron Calls Off Hate-Yank War

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron extended an olive branch to the Eisenhower administration last night and hinted Argentina's anti-Yankee campaign was called off with the change of government in Washington.

In a radio chat to the nation, Peron criticized the previous U. S. Democratic regime and said: "We have lived in political tranquility from the moment of the defeat of the government that tried to attack us by all imaginable means."

Four Persons Hurt In 9W Accident

Mrs. Stephen Hasbrouck Is Cut Painfully About Face; in Hospital

Mrs. Stephen Hasbrouck, 42, of 15 York place was painfully cut about her face in a two-car collision on Route 9W at the foot of Cemetery Hill at Port Ewen this morning.

Three other persons were injured in the accident, which occurred at 7:10 a. m. after a two to five inch fall of wet snow blanketed the county overnight.

A passing motorist took Mrs. Hasbrouck to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment and observation. Her injuries as listed on the sheriff's office report included a severe laceration near the right eye, lacerations of the face, knees and chest, and possible internal injuries.

Ellender Is For Ouster

Would Have President Urge Chinese to Get Rid of Chiang

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) today urged the Eisenhower Administration to consider asking the Chinese Nationalists to get rid of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as their leader.

The Louisiana Senator said the answer to the search for peace may well lie in "weaning the Chinese on the mainland away from Russia" and in finding a Chinese leader "more popular than Chiang," now head of the Nationalist Government on Formosa.

Ellender deplored the idea of a blockade of the Red Chinese coast or other militant steps against the mainland lest they draw the Chinese "further away from us and closer to Russia."

Voices His Views

He voiced his views in an interview as chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) announced his Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Far Eastern Policy will meet tomorrow for further questioning of Secretary of State Dulles.

It will be Dulles' second appearance before senators this week. He assured the Foreign Relations Committee Monday, members said, that President Eisenhower's administration has no plan pending to blockade China, bomb Manchuria or use the atomic bomb in Korea.

These were some of the questions raised in the wake of Eisenhower's announcement, in his State of the Union message last week, that the United States 7th Fleet will no longer "shield" Red China from attack by Chiang's Formosa forces.

Check Is Proposed

In a speech prepared for House delivery today, Rep. Battle (D-Ala.) proposed a "very comprehensive check" by U. S. Navy forces, operating under United Nations authority, of present efforts to embargo supplies to Communist China.

Battle wrote the law which requires that countries receiving U. S. assistance must not send vital materials to China, unless exempted by the President.

A naval blockade, Battle said, would stop some shipments but

Lawyers to Ask New Trial In Mary Jean Parsons Case

Wichita Falls, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Attorneys for Mary Jean Parsons, 22, convicted slayer of her husband, planned today to ask a new trial for their blonde socialite client.

Attractive Mary Jean was assessed a 10-year prison term yesterday for the Feb. 16, 1951, slaying of army Lt. Richard O. Parsons.

The jury said in its verdict the former University of Oklahoma co-ed was "sane at the time of the shooting, sane now," and convicted her of "murder with malice aforethought."

As the verdict was read in Judge Arthur Tipps 30th District court, Mary Jean first sat frozen faced and then began to weep softly. Her mother, a defense witness in the trial, fainted.

Last night was the first the girl had spent in jail since shortly after her arrest. She had been free on $50,000 bond and her wealthy parents had kept her—for the most of the time—in a private hospital in Dallas.

Despite the fact an El Paso jury earlier had declared Mrs. Parsons sane, her trial defense was based almost entirely on the contention that she was insane and did not know right from wrong. Twenty-six defense witnesses — relatives, friends and psychiatrists—testified she was insane.

Then, last Friday as the 17-day-long trial neared its close, the

Moscow, Feb. 12 (AP) — The Soviet Union broke off diplomatic relations with Israel last night and the eight adults and one child at the Israeli legation here began packing at once to leave Moscow.

The Soviets acted, a government note to Israel said, because of the bomb explosion at the Soviet legation in Tel Aviv, Israel's capital, on Monday. The note, which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky handed to Israel's minister here, Samuel Eliashev, accused Israeli government leaders of inciting hostile action against the Soviet Union.

Also, the Soviet government, the note concluded, "recalls the envoy of the Soviet Union and personnel of the Soviet legation (at Tel Aviv)."

The Soviets said three Russians, including the wife of Soviet Minister Pavel I. Yershov, were injured in the Tel Aviv explosion. (The note made no mention of the legation cook, Sofia Vana, who was the only casualty still reported in a serious condition yesterday).

The note turned aside subsequent explanations and apologies by the Israeli government and accused it of falsehoods, double dealing, and a "systematic fanning of hatred and enmity toward the Soviet Union and an incitement to hostile actions against the Soviet Union."

Accuse Police Too

The Israeli police were accused of conniving in the bombing.

(In Tel Aviv, circles close to the Israeli foreign office speculated that all eastern-bloc states would follow the Soviet lead and break off relations with Israel, except perhaps Bulgaria. That satellite was viewed as a prospective custodian for Russian interests, which include large real estate holdings formerly belonging to the Russian Orthodox Church and recently transferred to Soviet jurisdiction. Tel Aviv sources also speculated that Switzerland or Argentina would be asked to take over Israel's interests in the Soviet Union.

(The unknown terrorists who set off the blast were denounced after the attack by Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion for a "dastardly act" which, he said, reflected on the honor of the state of Israel.

(The Israeli government began an immediate roundup of suspects, both Jews and Arabs, and said it would pay reparations to the Soviets. However, there has been no announcement that the case has been solved.

Soviet Press Critical

(The bombing apparently was in retaliation for the recent anti-Zionist campaign in Moscow in connection with charges against nine doctors—some of them Jewish—accused of plotting against top Soviet leaders. The Soviet press followed the charges with severe attacks on Zionism in general and Israeli officials in particular.)

The break-off ended almost five

Sudan Pact Is Signed

Cairo, Feb. 12 (AP)—Britain and Egypt today signed an agreement covering the future of Sudan, and Prime Minister Naguib's office said evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal has been agreed upon in principle.

These are the two issues that have been separating Britain and Egypt. Solution of both could go a long way toward enlisting Egypt in the proposed Middle East defense command being framed by the west.

The Sudan is a million square mile area which Britain and Egypt have been running jointly since 1899. The agreement gives the eight million Sudanese the right to decide their ultimate future within three years. They could decide to join Egypt, join the British Commonwealth or set up an independent nation. Early elections for a parliament are planned under supervision of an Indian, an American, a Briton and two Sudanese.

Grand Union Work On New Market Is To Be Started Soon

Will Demolish One House on Property—Architect Is Drafting Plans, Official Says

Charles G. Rodman, real estate manager of the Grand Union Co., stationed at Paterson, N. J., said today that plans were in progress for the new super market to be built in the Albany avenue-Roosevelt Park section.

"We expect to start demolition of one house on the property, as soon as possible, and the architect's plans are in progress," Rodman said.

Title to the property was acquired earlier this month, and "we are proceeding with details as fast as we can," he said. He was unable to say whether construction would start early in March.

The company is still undecided, he revealed, as to whether to continue as owner of the property and operate the market as such, or whether to "sell and lease."

Parcels Are Acquired

Several parcels of land were acquired for the site of the market and zoning changes were necessary to permit some of them to be included as part of a tract to be used for commercial purposes.

Residents of the Roosevelt Park section, at first, opposed the plan, but later yielded on the promise that a buffer zone would be maintained as a protection to residential areas.

The market will be a large one "with ample parking space," Rodman said.

Another source revealed today that the lease of the Wall Street Grand Union store is due to expire on July 1, and it is not known at this time whether that will be renewed or whether the store will be absorbed by the super market. The Broadway store, however, is expected to continue at its present location.

Skinner Resigns

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP) — The White House announced today the resignation of Carlton Skinner as Governor of Guam. No successor was announced.

Federal Jury Says Provoo Guilty of War Treason

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Former Army Sgt. John David Provoo today faced a sentence that could be anything from five years in prison to death for treason while a prisoner of the Japanese during World War 2.

A Federal Court jury found him guilty last night of four overt acts of treason. It was unable to agree on three other treason allegations.

The good-looking, tall and square-jawed veteran was pale and tense as the court clerk read the jury's findings in detail. Judge Gregory F. Noonan scheduled a hearing on defense motions and sentencing for next Tuesday. The 35-year-old defendant was taken to the Federal House of Detention.

One charge on which Provoo was convicted was that he was at least partly responsible for the death of a fellow prisoner of war, army Capt. Burton C. Thomson, of Iowa. Thomson was executed by their captors on Corregidor after Provoo, who was in favor with the prison camp commanders, reported him as uncooperative and anti-Japanese.

The jury of seven women and five men also found Provoo guilty of offering his services to the Japanese captors and of making two radio broadcasts from Tokyo during the war.

The charges on which the jury was unable to agree were that Provoo tried to persuade an American Colonel to give a U. S. Army code to the Japanese; that he seized a pair of boots from a fellow prisoner and gave them to the Japanese; and that he joined the Japanese in questioning a fellow prisoner for the purpose of discovering where the U. S. forces on the Philippines had hidden silver bullion.

During the trial, which started Oct. 27, the defense called Provoo and 34 other witnesses to back its contention he remained loyal to the United States after his capture but had courted the favor of the Japanese as to be in a position to get extra food and other benefits for his fellow prisoners.

The prosecution called 44 witnesses. The witnesses for the defense and prosecution were brought from various parts of the United States and Japan.

'53 Budget To Be Voted

Committees Hear Pleas for More Spending and More Saving

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—Republican-dominated fiscal committees today rolled Gov. Dewey's new billion-dollar budget toward certain legislative approval next week without any of the changes demanded by critics.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, by-passing pleas for stricter economy and heavier spending voiced at yesterday's public hearing, was to approve the budget bills without major change at a special meeting.

The Senate Finance Committee chairman, Republican Walter J. Mahoney, said his group planned to follow suit Monday night. The committee action cleared the way for final legislative approval next week.

The $1,072,500,000 spending program, with appropriations 36 million dollars under the current year's total, was peppered at a 5½-hour hearing yesterday. More than 100 speakers pleaded either for more money for pet projects or a slash in spending.

Other Developments

In other major developments:

1. The hotly contested Ostrander amendment to close the forest preserve to construction of flood-control dams was re-introduced for second approval by the Legislautre. The measure was cleared last year, but since then has run into heavy opposition. To become effective, it would have to be voted again by this Legislature or in 1954, and by the voters.

2. Two Erie county Republicans introduced bills to stymie Gov. Dewey's plan to have state-operated check stations handle twice-a-year inspections of all motor vehicles. Sen. John H. Cooke of Alden and Assemblyman Thomas Runfola of Buffalo sponsored a measure to have private garages

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron extended an olive branch to the Eisenhower administration last night and hinted Argentina's anti-Yankee campaign was called off with the change of government in Washington.

In a radio chat to the nation, Peron criticized the previous U. S. Democratic regime and said: "We have lived in political tranquility from the moment of the defeat of the government that tried to attack us by all imaginable means."

Four Persons Hurt In 9W Accident

Mrs. Stephen Hasbrouck Is Cut Painfully About Face; in Hospital

Mrs. Stephen Hasbrouck, 42, of 15 York place was painfully cut about her face in a two-car collision on Route 9W at the foot of Cemetery Hill at Port Ewen this morning.

Three other persons were injured in the accident, which occurred at 7:10 a. m. after a two to five inch fall of wet snow blanketed the county overnight.

A passing motorist took Mrs. Hasbrouck to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment and observation. Her injuries as listed on the sheriff's office report included a severe laceration near the right eye, lacerations of the face, knees and chest, and possible internal injuries.

Ellender Is For Ouster

Would Have President Urge Chinese to Get Rid of Chiang

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) today urged the Eisenhower Administration to consider asking the Chinese Nationalists to get rid of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as their leader.

The Louisiana Senator said the answer to the search for peace may well lie in "weaning the Chinese on the mainland away from Russia" and in finding a Chinese leader "more popular than Chiang," now head of the Nationalist Government on Formosa.

Ellender deplored the idea of a blockade of the Red Chinese coast or other militant steps against the mainland lest they draw the Chinese "further away from us and closer to Russia."

Voices His Views

He voiced his views in an interview as chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) announced his Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Far Eastern Policy will meet tomorrow for further questioning of Secretary of State Dulles.

It will be Dulles' second appearance before senators this week. He assured the Foreign Relations Committee Monday, members said, that President Eisenhower's administration has no plan pending to blockade China, bomb Manchuria or use the atomic bomb in Korea.

These were some of the questions raised in the wake of Eisenhower's announcement, in his State of the Union message last week, that the United States 7th Fleet will no longer "shield" Red China from attack by Chiang's Formosa forces.

Check Is Proposed

In a speech prepared for House delivery today, Rep. Battle (D-Ala.) proposed a "very comprehensive check" by U. S. Navy forces, operating under United Nations authority, of present efforts to embargo supplies to Communist China.

Battle wrote the law which requires that countries receiving U. S. assistance must not send vital materials to China, unless exempted by the President.

A naval blockade, Battle said, would stop some shipments but

Lawyers to Ask New Trial In Mary Jean Parsons Case

Wichita Falls, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Attorneys for Mary Jean Parsons, 22, convicted slayer of her husband, planned today to ask a new trial for their blonde socialite client.

Attractive Mary Jean was assessed a 10-year prison term yesterday for the Feb. 16, 1951, slaying of army Lt. Richard O. Parsons.

The jury said in its verdict the former University of Oklahoma co-ed was "sane at the time of the shooting, sane now," and convicted her of "murder with malice aforethought."

As the verdict was read in Judge Arthur Tipps 30th District court, Mary Jean first sat frozen faced and then began to weep softly. Her mother, a defense witness in the trial, fainted.

Last night was the first the girl had spent in jail since shortly after her arrest. She had been free on $50,000 bond and her wealthy parents had kept her—for the most of the time—in a private hospital in Dallas.

Despite the fact an El Paso jury earlier had declared Mrs. Parsons sane, her trial defense was based almost entirely on the contention that she was insane and did not know right from wrong. Twenty-six defense witnesses — relatives, friends and psychiatrists—testified she was insane.

Then, last Friday as the 17-day-long trial neared its close, the

Macduff Effects New Regulation in State Truck Law

Albany, Feb. 12—Motor Vehicle Commissioner James R. Macduff today put into effect the first new regulation supplementing the new truck registration law signed yesterday by Governor Dewey.

The regulation requires owners of trucks, agricultural trucks, light delivery cars and trailers to paint or otherwise display on the left side of every vehicle its unladen weight (NYUW), the maximum load to be carried (NYML) and the maximum gross weight (NYMGW).

The letters and numerals must be at least three inches high, according to the regulation, and the weight totals must correspond with those stated on registration applications under the new law.

Must Be on Vehicles

The signs must be put on vehicles "upon the registration" of them. Commissioner Macduff said that meant the signs should be displayed starting at the time 1953 registration plates are attached.

Truck and trailer registrations for 1952 were extended to March 2, pending agreement on the new law. They ordinarily expire January 31.

With the signing of new legislation by Governor Dewey, redefining maximum gross weight of a vehicle to mean the weight of the vehicle plus the weight of the heaviest load that is to be carried on it during the registration year, Commissioner Macduff yesterday signed orders repealing the Motor Vehicle Bureau regulations of last November 1 which established minimum carrying capacities for the registration of trucks and trailers.

(Under the law originally enacted last year and now amended, maximum gross weight was defined to mean the weight of the vehicle plus the weight of the maximum load "which such motor vehicle may carry." This was interpreted by the Department of Taxation and Finance to mean the heaviest load a vehicle is capable of carrying—an interpretation that led to the adoption of the minimum weight tables which are now discontinued.)

Should Be Stopped

In new instructions to all motor vehicle issuing offices, including those of county clerks, Commissioner Macduff said: "Use of all MV100 forms (the weight tables of the old regulations) should be discontinued immediately." He added that under the new law each applicant must now indicate the heaviest weight to be carried on each vehicle.

Commissioner Macduff sent each issuing office revised "schedules of registration fees," showing the fees for each weight bracket under the new law's requirement that fees are computed in 500-pound stages.

Under the old law, the truck registration fee was 50 cents per hundred pounds of maximum gross weight or major fraction thereof. The new rate is $2.50 per 500 pounds, or any fraction thereof. For agricultural truck registrations, the new rate is $1.75 per 500 pounds of maximum gross weight, or fraction thereof.

Extended to March 2

The Truck Mileage Tax Bureau, which administers the state's weight-distance tax on heavy trucks, announced today that validity of tax clearance certificates issued to truckers who are subject to the mileage tax has been extended to March 2.

In order to get registration plates from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles for their vehicles, owners of trucks subject to the mileage tax are required to submit tax clearance certificates when they apply for plates.

Tax clearance certificates issued to truckers for the 1953 registration period bore an expiration date of January 31. Because of the extension of the registration due date to March 2, the tax certificates previously issued will now be recognized as valid until the new deadline date.

Flat-Sided Pail

New York (AP)—After many centuries of use the ordinary pail has been redesigned by a British firm which now makes pails with one flat side, reports the British Information Service here. It is claimed that this feature makes it easier to carry the pail and makes it more suitable for use on steps or ladders. It can be used as a scoop or dustpan and the corners make convenient pourers, says the report.

The belief is common that it is possible to make an image of a person and by destroying the image, to destroy the person.

New York (AP)—After many centuries of use the ordinary pail has been redesigned by a British firm which now makes pails with one flat side, reports the British Information Service here. It is claimed that this feature makes it easier to carry the pail and makes it more suitable for use on steps or ladders. It can be used as a scoop or dustpan and the corners make convenient pourers, says the report.

The belief is common that it is possible to make an image of a person and by destroying the image, to destroy the person.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

After declining for about five weeks in a row, retail beef prices this week levelled off and turned irregular—and even advanced as much as 10 cents a pound in some places.

Pork was generally unchanged to a few cents a pound higher, lamb off slightly in many markets, veal and poultry about steady. Eggs and most fresh fruits cost a few cents more as a rule, and fresh vegetables showed little change.

Sales managers for several major store chains and independent markets said last week's decontrol of meat and fish prices had no observable effect on the price tags of those items.

Rises Foreseen in Beef

"The upturn in beef prices was about due in the natural course of events," said the meat buyer for a large eastern chain. "Beef prices dropped pretty spectacularly in the past few weeks and we've sold a tremendous amount of steaks and chops. A good part of the top-heavy supply seems to have been cleared from market channels. The beef market is beginning to show signs of strength again."

Another big-volume meat dealer said the chief effect decontrol had was to allow butchers to offer special cuts which had been prohibited under the old Office of Price Stabilization regulations but which are popular in many regions.

Beef cuts stayed high on the weekly specials lists of most stores, with top and bottom round roasts, rib roasts, chuck roasts and all types of steaks frequently mentioned.

Other meat favorites for special pricing this week included beef liver, fresh and smoked hams, stewing and frying chickens, hen turkeys and legs of lamb.

Rains Slow Harvesting

Lower quality cattle are expected to go up in the spring as demand for stock for pastures increases, while grain-fed cattle may fluctuate widely and decline again later. Sheep and lamb may go up but should continue below year-ago levels, the bureau said.

Rains in southern growing sections slowed harvesting and lowered the quality and conditions of several tender vegetables, notably snap beans, endive and escarole, and prices for the best advanced this week. Carrots, lettuce, peas and spinach were lower with supplies plentiful. Cabbage continued low.

Grapefruit, California and Florida oranges, tangerines and pears all worked a little higher. Apples and grapes were about unchanged, and fresh strawberries and rhubarb were described as reasonably priced for this time of year.

The Agriculture Department stressed lettuce and edible fats and oils as most plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week.

Form of Torture

"Breaking on the wheel" was an ancient form of torture in which the victim was stretched out on a wheel and all his bones broken with an iron bar.

LINCOLN'S INSPIRED LIFE

There are many miracles about Abraham Lincoln and his legend.

One is that he is beloved by all Americans of whatever political faith. Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, quoted Lincoln in his speech of concession to General Eisenhower. Earlier in the campaign he had sought communion with Lincoln among historic buildings at Salem, Ill., where Young Abe had lived and worked in a store.

Lincoln, too, is a symbol to all the world of the best in the American ideal, standing for high statesmanship, great human compassion, homely simplicity, devotion to a cause.

A never-ending marvel is the way Lincoln appears to enjoy a rebirth within each decade or less. Already there are more than 3800 separate works devoted to his life and his times. One would think there was nothing left to be discovered or written about him, or about the great Civil War through which he brought the nation.

And still, within the last few years, brilliant new studies have come onto the scene to illumine this man.

With all that has been said of him, it probably will surprise many to learn that until last fall there was no single comprehensive yet compact biography of Lincoln by an American. The most reliable one-volume work was a 38-year-old effort by Lord Charnwood of Britain.

But now that gap has been filled, admirably, by the new single-volume study by Benjamin Thomas, a long-time Lincoln scholar who lives in Springfield, Ill., in continuously close touch with the Lincoln materials.

The Thomas book takes advantage of much new information that had been locked up in various sources only recently made available. It is a balanced, seasoned, real portrait of Lincoln.

Another genuine contribution to the story is the fuller biography, still in progress, by J. G. Randall, who is giving several volumes to Lincoln's years as President. Randall is the first to tackle Lincoln on a broad plane since Carl Sandburg's famous and dramatic presentation.

Then, Kenneth Williams is engaged upon what will probably be ranked as the authoritative version of the Civil War from the Union side. In his work he is matching the fine scholarship of Douglas Southall Freeman's works on Robert E. Lee and the Confederate campaigns.

It is often said history must be rewritten for each generation. If this is so, we in America, and our friends abroad, could hardly be more fortunate in the quality now being given to the re-telling of the Lincoln legend. In these new works, the inspiration of his life and his cause is fresh and vibrant and compelling.

OPPORTUNITY OF GROWTH

We salute the Boy Scouts of America, observing its 43rd birthday this week, with its membership at an all-time high of 3,250,000 boys and adult leaders enrolled.

Our nation is all the richer for since 1910 more than 20,200,000 Americans have benefitted by the training, fellowship, handicraft skills and high adventure of Scouting, and have been strengthened by the high ideals of the Scout Oath and Laws.

Boy Scout Week this year places a major emphasis on "The Scout Family." This is a two-way recognition. It honors the many fathers of Scouts among the 850,000 adult volunteer leaders in the organization. It salutes the 127,209 mothers who give generously of their time as Den Mothers in the Cub Scout ranks. It is here that the enrichment of family life is a main objective. Through doing things together boys and parents learn to know each other better. This emphasis upon strong family ties helps to build a stronger America.

"The Scout Family" of Scouting programs meet the varying needs of boys. Cub Scouting is for boys 8, 9 and 10 years old. Boy Scouting is for those 11, 12 and 13. Exploring is for young men 14 and older.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THOMAS LINCOLN

The month of February gives us three birthdays to recall, those of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Edison.

Edison is inadequately understood in this generation when genius is lost in the lust for equality. All men are equal only in the mercy of God and they should be in the eyes of the law. Beyond that, everybody is unequal and different and such a genius as Edison appears upon this earth surprisingly and without explanation. He is largely responsible for our environment. His inventions altered many of our social institutions and habits, particularly home life. He freed our women from the bondage of motorless home labor.

Yet, he was not what we would today call an educated man. He held no degree from a university. He wore no Phi Beta Kappa key. He had not been chosen to perform experiments; he did what he chose and experimented with what he had or could borrow. The risks were his; the benefits are for mankind.

Abraham Lincoln came of as simple people as Thomas Edison did. His father, Thomas Lincoln, was a casual worker, a hired hand, who wandered about looking for a job. Orphaned when a small boy, he was put to work as a child. There is some record of him as a worker in Elizabethtown, Ky., digging a ditch and helping to construct a mill dam. It would appear that he earned as much as 75 cents a day.

He helped to build a flatboat and to take it down to New Orleans, navigating the Ohio and Mississippi rivers in 1806. He got enough money out of that trip to marry Nancy Hanks. Thomas Lincoln was a carpenter and a farmer.

During the whole of our history, men will debate whether Washington or Lincoln was the greater President, but few will ever question that Lincoln possessed a quality of genius that is outside the bounds of politics or economics or private success. It is the quality of goodness found in a few souls whom men worship as of a moral stature beyond the usual. Lincoln bore on his shoulders the woes of mankind and suffered for their sins.

One need only gaze upon his face, his lined, homely, magnetic face to recognize that here is the rarest of human qualities, goodness, the goodness that appears in a Christ, a Gotama, a Tolstoy, a Gandhi—the goodness of the inner man who loves mankind and God and who guides himself by natural law.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right. . . ." Somehow one thinks of Micah when he said: ". . . And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

The quality to think in universal, eternal terms, to reduce oneself to the smallness that man must be in the boundless universe, and yet to speak in the grandeur of a reverberating goodness that lifts the spirits of all men who hear the words and remember them—that quality comes to few. It came to Thomas Lincoln's son, Abraham, who grew up on a farm without the aids of wealth or mechanical devices or even a formal education. Yet he drank into his soul the teachings of centuries and prepared himself for the few years when he would face calamity, not at all for himself, but for a great nation whose chosen leader he had become.

Why Lincoln? Why Thomas Lincoln's son? Why the child of a hired hand, a carpenter, a farmer who raised pigs and cattle? Who knows God's wonders and how they come about?

In Lincoln's day, in the big cities were great families with long pedigrees, families of wealth and cultured living. Already the United States was rich in vast institutions of learning where one acquired not only learning but position and the mark of gentility.

Abraham Lincoln enjoyed none of these advantages. In fact, he had nothing but himself to depend upon and that faith in God which he applied as love for man. He understood the nature of sin and the glory of penitence and the righteousness of forgiving those who could not know the wrong they did, or they would not have done it. How few men have gone down in history with the appellation, good! Of them, Lincoln is among the truly great.

MEDICAL PROGRAM FOR BOXING

The sports world and others are greatly shocked when they see or hear of an athlete dying while engaged in sport. As a matter of fact, in my experience, there have been more deaths among spectators watching a boxing or wrestling bout or a football game than among those actually engaged in the sport. These spectators get so excited that their blood pressure rises to dangerous limits and an attack of heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) or head stroke (apoplexy) occurs. That there have been too many deaths among our boxers and wrestlers, many of them preventable should more supervision be given, is the statement of Dr. Frank R. Ferlaino, New York, in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Even when death does not occur, there is often considerable damage done to the brain and to hearing and eyesight.

Among other recommendations, Dr. Ferlaino says that a complete medical history be kept on file of all professional boxers and wrestlers and thus the record of any injury occurring in a bout would be in possession of the examining physician or physicians before his next match. He would not enter the ring with an unhealed cut, sprain or fracture which would further delay complete recovery or render further injury a possibility.

"All deaths in the ring are listed by the boxing authorities, commissions and sports writers as accidental but, as a matter of fact, as most deaths are caused by head injuries, some might be prevented by better padding in the gloves, better padding under the canvas, so that when the boxer's head hits the floor it will sustain the fall. And the mouthpiece could be made to give better protection to the point of the jaw. When a blow lands on the point of the jaw, it travels along the lower jaw to skull below ear which is so close to the brain, just a fraction of an inch, that death may occur."

Other suggestions to make boxing safer without affecting skill, speed, and ring experience are (a) to improve the taping of hands and so prevent sprains and fractures, (b) adopt measures to prevent cuts over eyes which may cause blindness, (c) adopt rules to require immediate stopping of a bout for medical reasons, and (d) to equip a center where conditions of the brain may be examined by the instruments now available so that a punch drunk boxer will become a rarity.

Finally, with television allowing parents and children to watch boxing and wrestling matches, in their own homes, the recommendations of Dr. Ferlaino, if followed, will popularize a dramatic spectacle.

There are 58,934 churches, synagogues, schools, civic and fraternal groups who sponsor the nation's 84,300 Scouting Units in their aims to strengthen family life and build a better future citizenship in the community.

Most of these groups sponsor one of the three programs. The need today is for more boys to have the advantages of Scout training. These groups can best meet this challenge by sponsoring additional programs. This would make it possible for a boy to enjoy Scouting over a ten-year span, from 8 to 18, under the same auspices.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The most impossible job in the world is to make a Russian Communist change his mind.

This simple fact of life is what underlies much of the criticism of the U. S. international information program — otherwise known as the Voice of America and its related propaganda services.

President Eisenhower, in his State-of-the-Union message to Congress, expressed the need for more effective action in this field. Even before the message was delivered, the President had named a new commission under William H. Jackson, to recommend something different in psychological cold warfare.

During the political campaign, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles got himself pretty well misunderstood by advocating a more aggressive overseas information program.

On top of this, a Senate committee headed by J. William Fulbright of Arkansas files a report saying that International Information Administration should be drastically overhauled. It is amateurish and overbelligerent, say the senators. Secretary Dulles implies that it isn't belligerent enough.

Everybody thus jumps on the program without anyone saying specifically how it should be different or better. What all the criticism seems to prove is that the job—which is to make the Russians change their minds and their policies — is impossible to begin with.

Russia Fears Voice of America

The people who work at it, though, keep on trying and seem to enjoy their work. Dr. Wilson Compton, former Washington State College president who heads IIA, recently came back from a trip around the world to inspect his far-flung, multi-million-dollar enterprise.

Dr. Compton has also filed a report with Congress showing what IIA has done. Since 1948, U. S. Information Service has spent $242 million on operations and $66 million for construction—mostly for radio stations. Today USIS has 194 missions in 85 foreign countries. It employs 3000 in the U. S. and 6000 overseas, of whom 5000 are foreigners, mostly natives of the lands the U. S. tries to reach with its propganda.

The Russians are supposed to be spending the equivalent of $1.5 billion a year on foreign propaganda, as compared to less than $100 million for the U. S. They run 1000 jamming operations to prevent the Voice of America from penetrating the Iron Curtain.

This last fact may give some indication that the Russians have some respect for U. S. propaganda, even if America don't. But there are other evidences of this.

Charles P. Arnot, former United Press war correspondent in the Pacific and Europe, who now heads the press and publications branch of the IIA program, also recently returned from an inspection trip around the world. He brought back several stories of what the Communists think of American overseas information work.

Wrecked USIS Offices

In Damascus, Commies put 40 pounds of TNT in the stairwell of the USIS building, wrecking it and killing a radio operator. In Bagdad the USIS plant was sacked and burned. Offices in Tripoli and Lebanon have been stoned several times.

In Montevideo, Uruguay, there was a Commie-led riot when 10 boys were hired to distribute 4,000 copies of two anti-Soviet leaflets. In Thailand the Communists try to buy up native journalists to prevent them from using USIS news reports.

In every country except the Philippines, where the U. S. has a printing and production plant for all Far East publications, the Commies spend 10 times what the Americans do for propaganda, says Arnot.

Nevertheless, with a $10 million budget for this year, the U. S. is publishing 34 magazines and 17 newspapers abroad. It distributes over a million photographs a year to foreign publications. It spreads 150 million leaflets and posters around the world. It is placing three million copies of an outline of American history in foreign schools.

This—plus the 194 information centers in 61 countries, films in 42 languages being shown over 3700 projectors in 87 countries, and 125 Voice-of-America radio programs running 49 hours a day in 46 languages over 375 stations—makes up the IIA program. Good or bad, it's something and it's all we've got.

"One of the difficulties," says Arnot, is that you can't package and sloganize 'democracy.' Communism, you can."

Cold War and Korean Campaign Not to Be Handled in Piecemeal Fashion

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 12—There is to be no piecemeal program to win the "cold war." Nor is there to be any isolated action taken to wind up the Korean situation. Whatever happens hereafter will be on an inter-allied basis after full consultation with America's allies.

This has been the plan from the very moment the Eisenhower-Dulles team began to formulate foreign policy for the new administration—in early December last.

The only problem in which the United States decided to act on its own, but to notify the Allies in advance, was the withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet from Formosa. The Allies were not a party to this when the restriction was imposed in the first instance—in fact, there was considerable criticism from London and other capitals when the United States presumably held the Communists back in June 1950 from a possible invasion of Formosa.

Technically and legally the United Nations has nothing to do with the American Navy's presence in and around Formosa, so a simple explanation to the Allies of America's purpose now in withdrawing the fleet was considered sufficient.

When, however, any blockade of the China coast or the bombing of bases in Manchuria or any other move designed to put pressure on the Chinese Communists is up for consideration so as to compel a truce in Korea, the decision will be made in unison with the Allies.

The Eisenhower Administration has determined that, as a necessary first step, the South Korean Army shall be built up to as many divisions as possible so that other Allied troops can be withdrawn from the front lines within the next year or so. Also there will be an uninterrupted build-up of the land, sea and air forces of the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. This step doesn't require any Allied sanction. It is a continuing policy begun long before the Korean War started.

It is not intended, on the other hand, by the administration here to rest solely on the idea of letting South Korean troops take over in Korea, nor is dependence to be placed solely on what the Chinese Nationalists may do to harass the Chinese Communists on the mainland. A broader and more comprehensive policy is in the making.

Whatever policies are adopted will be on a global basis. Europe is not to be regarded as a separate affair unrelated to what happens in Asia.

The first move will come when the United Nations Assembly meets again shortly. The American government will lay the facts before the UN and ask for concerted action to block off any trade with Communist China and North Korea.

The UN will have to decide whether it wants a blockade. If it is approved, units from the British and other navies will be asked to share the responsibility of blockade with the United States Navy.

Should European nations take the position that they do not want a naval blockade and should they take the position that this might "enlarge the war," the American government is likely to counter with the idea that the same risk prevails in Europe, where, at the very doorstep of Russia, the European defense army and the NATO army are being built up for the sole purpose of thwarting a Communist march across Europe. Had the Russians prepared to go to war, this threat would be sufficient to provoke them.

If the United States is to be asked to bear the brunt of the world police problem both in Asia and in Europe, then, it is being argued, there must be concerted action of an effective character. There must be an end to the prolonged stalemate in which American power is continuously drained, and, in the case of Korea, American boys are killed and wounded while the other nations maintain only token forces.

What may develop soon inside America is a drive to bring American boys home from both Asia and Europe. There are suggestions that a deadline of two years be set by Congress, within which time the American government should endeavor to bring all American troops home from foreign soil. If the allied nations which have the manpower available do not set up enough divisions to defend their own countries, the question will arise as to what the fate of American divisions might be in the event of the outbreak of war.

The trend is toward an effort to get a united allied policy, but, if this fails, then the American government will be faced with a demand at home to let the South Koreans take care of Korea and let the Europeans take care of their own defense. Certainly the allied governments cannot have it both ways—to prevent America from using its maximum military power in Asia and at the same time to expect American manpower to be bled indefinitely in Asia even as Europe expects more and more American troops to be sent to defend the continent. A showdown in global policy is inevitable if the allies do not make up their minds to present a united front in the "cold war."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The decision of the American Federation of Labor to intrude slightly and with delicacy in the "autonomy" of the Longshoremen's union in New York harbor is not a resounding change but it does represent a moral victory for virtue.

Fifteen years ago, William Green, then president of the AF of L, patiently and plaintively explained that the seeming indifference of the National Executive Council was not indifference but a fastidious respect for the principle of autonomy.

A big union gets a charter giving it jurisdiction over a trade, with economic powers over an important industry and the prices that the public must pay for goods or, say, apartments. Thereafter, even though that charter might criminals, the AF or L would not interfere. Indeed, the AF of L would not even deplore any criminal conduct by the custodians of the charter.

The rank and file workers admittedly could do nothing to put an end to the extortion and exploitation at the hands of their union.

Indeed, they were compelled by the AF of L itself to refrain from active or even covert opposition to such abuse. In a spectacular case in St. Louis, Green laid it down as law that a local satrap of the Browne-Bioff union, a fellow quite as evil as Browne and Bioff themselves, was worse in the eyes of the AF of L than the spectacular corruption of the Messrs. B and B. The AF of L condemned these rebels and upheld B and B. This was fair warning to all rank-and-file workers to submit to their oppressors.

It happened that Joseph Padway, the general counsel of the AF of L, a job corresponding roughly to that of the attorney general in our union of states, was also counsel for Browne and Bioff. It should have been possible to disbar Padway and send him to prison for this. He was a wily fellow making an enormous income out of a clientele of corrupt unioneers and he certainly knew that his clients were crooks and that the rank and file were victims of extortion, brutality and discrimination.

Many of them were sharecroppers in a sense. That is, they were not admitted to membership but were allowed to work under "permits" issued by the hoodlums. The actual jobs were owned by the criminals and these croppers did the actual work but had to surrender 25 per cent, more or less, of their wages to those who owned the jobs.

This fantastic condition was not merely protected but defended by the AF of L. Indeed, in the lack of any action to the contrary, that is still the principle of the AF of L.

Politico-intellectual swells outside the practical union movement angrily resented criticism of such evils as anti-laborism. The Roosevelt Supreme Court and many other courts have been guilty of the same moral wrong. This was no service to "labor". It was a service to the Democratic party and the unions but nobody ever made a serious effort to prove that the party was the party of the workers or that the unions fairly represented their interests. Political returns showed that the party could not command the votes of the workers. And the standard arguments in favor of the closed shop proved that the union bosses went in constant fear that the rank and file would run away if the bonds of this compulsion were loosed.

President Eisenhower made some remarks in France a year ago which raise a hope that he will use the great influence of his office to curtail the powers of the unions. With the death of Green and Phil Murray the two most obstinate opponents of reform have vanished. They were ignorant men and they both lacked moral courage and morality. But they did realize that they were defending much that was wrong. Their trouble was that they came of a school which regards all concessions as signs of weakness.

I argued that an honest man with a true interest in "labor," not as a political force but as millions of individual human beings, could not forbear to use the power of Green's office, or Murray's, to drive out criminals and Communists and to protect the workers from the developed ruthlessness of the union bosses. But they would not listen and they had to die before a glimmer of reason-

LINCOLN'S INSPIRED LIFE

There are many miracles about Abraham Lincoln and his legend.

One is that he is beloved by all Americans of whatever political faith. Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, quoted Lincoln in his speech of concession to General Eisenhower. Earlier in the campaign he had sought communion with Lincoln among historic buildings at Salem, Ill., where Young Abe had lived and worked in a store.

Lincoln, too, is a symbol to all the world of the best in the American ideal, standing for high statesmanship, great human compassion, homely simplicity, devotion to a cause.

A never-ending marvel is the way Lincoln appears to enjoy a rebirth within each decade or less. Already there are more than 3800 separate works devoted to his life and his times. One would think there was nothing left to be discovered or written about him, or about the great Civil War through which he brought the nation.

And still, within the last few years, brilliant new studies have come onto the scene to illumine this man.

With all that has been said of him, it probably will surprise many to learn that until last fall there was no single comprehensive yet compact biography of Lincoln by an American. The most reliable one-volume work was a 38-year-old effort by Lord Charnwood of Britain.

But now that gap has been filled, admirably, by the new single-volume study by Benjamin Thomas, a long-time Lincoln scholar who lives in Springfield, Ill., in continuously close touch with the Lincoln materials.

The Thomas book takes advantage of much new information that had been locked up in various sources only recently made available. It is a balanced, seasoned, real portrait of Lincoln.

Another genuine contribution to the story is the fuller biography, still in progress, by J. G. Randall, who is giving several volumes to Lincoln's years as President. Randall is the first to tackle Lincoln on a broad plane since Carl Sandburg's famous and dramatic presentation.

Then, Kenneth Williams is engaged upon what will probably be ranked as the authoritative version of the Civil War from the Union side. In his work he is matching the fine scholarship of Douglas Southall Freeman's works on Robert E. Lee and the Confederate campaigns.

It is often said history must be rewritten for each generation. If this is so, we in America, and our friends abroad, could hardly be more fortunate in the quality now being given to the re-telling of the Lincoln legend. In these new works, the inspiration of his life and his cause is fresh and vibrant and compelling.

OPPORTUNITY OF GROWTH

We salute the Boy Scouts of America, observing its 43rd birthday this week, with its membership at an all-time high of 3,250,000 boys and adult leaders enrolled.

Our nation is all the richer for since 1910 more than 20,200,000 Americans have benefitted by the training, fellowship, handicraft skills and high adventure of Scouting, and have been strengthened by the high ideals of the Scout Oath and Laws.

Boy Scout Week this year places a major emphasis on "The Scout Family." This is a two-way recognition. It honors the many fathers of Scouts among the 850,000 adult volunteer leaders in the organization. It salutes the 127,209 mothers who give generously of their time as Den Mothers in the Cub Scout ranks. It is here that the enrichment of family life is a main objective. Through doing things together boys and parents learn to know each other better. This emphasis upon strong family ties helps to build a stronger America.

"The Scout Family" of Scouting programs meet the varying needs of boys. Cub Scouting is for boys 8, 9 and 10 years old. Boy Scouting is for those 11, 12 and 13. Exploring is for young men 14 and older.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THOMAS LINCOLN

The month of February gives us three birthdays to recall, those of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Edison.

Edison is inadequately understood in this generation when genius is lost in the lust for equality. All men are equal only in the mercy of God and they should be in the eyes of the law. Beyond that, everybody is unequal and different and such a genius as Edison appears upon this earth surprisingly and without explanation. He is largely responsible for our environment. His inventions altered many of our social institutions and habits, particularly home life. He freed our women from the bondage of motorless home labor.

Yet, he was not what we would today call an educated man. He held no degree from a university. He wore no Phi Beta Kappa key. He had not been chosen to perform experiments; he did what he chose and experimented with what he had or could borrow. The risks were his; the benefits are for mankind.

Abraham Lincoln came of as simple people as Thomas Edison did. His father, Thomas Lincoln, was a casual worker, a hired hand, who wandered about looking for a job. Orphaned when a small boy, he was put to work as a child. There is some record of him as a worker in Elizabethtown, Ky., digging a ditch and helping to construct a mill dam. It would appear that he earned as much as 75 cents a day.

He helped to build a flatboat and to take it down to New Orleans, navigating the Ohio and Mississippi rivers in 1806. He got enough money out of that trip to marry Nancy Hanks. Thomas Lincoln was a carpenter and a farmer.

During the whole of our history, men will debate whether Washington or Lincoln was the greater President, but few will ever question that Lincoln possessed a quality of genius that is outside the bounds of politics or economics or private success. It is the quality of goodness found in a few souls whom men worship as of a moral stature beyond the usual. Lincoln bore on his shoulders the woes of mankind and suffered for their sins.

One need only gaze upon his face, his lined, homely, magnetic face to recognize that here is the rarest of human qualities, goodness, the goodness that appears in a Christ, a Gotama, a Tolstoy, a Gandhi—the goodness of the inner man who loves mankind and God and who guides himself by natural law.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right. . . ." Somehow one thinks of Micah when he said: ". . . And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

The quality to think in universal, eternal terms, to reduce oneself to the smallness that man must be in the boundless universe, and yet to speak in the grandeur of a reverberating goodness that lifts the spirits of all men who hear the words and remember them—that quality comes to few. It came to Thomas Lincoln's son, Abraham, who grew up on a farm without the aids of wealth or mechanical devices or even a formal education. Yet he drank into his soul the teachings of centuries and prepared himself for the few years when he would face calamity, not at all for himself, but for a great nation whose chosen leader he had become.

Why Lincoln? Why Thomas Lincoln's son? Why the child of a hired hand, a carpenter, a farmer who raised pigs and cattle? Who knows God's wonders and how they come about?

In Lincoln's day, in the big cities were great families with long pedigrees, families of wealth and cultured living. Already the United States was rich in vast institutions of learning where one acquired not only learning but position and the mark of gentility.

Abraham Lincoln enjoyed none of these advantages. In fact, he had nothing but himself to depend upon and that faith in God which he applied as love for man. He understood the nature of sin and the glory of penitence and the righteousness of forgiving those who could not know the wrong they did, or they would not have done it. How few men have gone down in history with the appellation, good! Of them, Lincoln is among the truly great.

MEDICAL PROGRAM FOR BOXING

The sports world and others are greatly shocked when they see or hear of an athlete dying while engaged in sport. As a matter of fact, in my experience, there have been more deaths among spectators watching a boxing or wrestling bout or a football game than among those actually engaged in the sport. These spectators get so excited that their blood pressure rises to dangerous limits and an attack of heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) or head stroke (apoplexy) occurs. That there have been too many deaths among our boxers and wrestlers, many of them preventable should more supervision be given, is the statement of Dr. Frank R. Ferlaino, New York, in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Even when death does not occur, there is often considerable damage done to the brain and to hearing and eyesight.

Among other recommendations, Dr. Ferlaino says that a complete medical history be kept on file of all professional boxers and wrestlers and thus the record of any injury occurring in a bout would be in possession of the examining physician or physicians before his next match. He would not enter the ring with an unhealed cut, sprain or fracture which would further delay complete recovery or render further injury a possibility.

"All deaths in the ring are listed by the boxing authorities, commissions and sports writers as accidental but, as a matter of fact, as most deaths are caused by head injuries, some might be prevented by better padding in the gloves, better padding under the canvas, so that when the boxer's head hits the floor it will sustain the fall. And the mouthpiece could be made to give better protection to the point of the jaw. When a blow lands on the point of the jaw, it travels along the lower jaw to skull below ear which is so close to the brain, just a fraction of an inch, that death may occur."

Other suggestions to make boxing safer without affecting skill, speed, and ring experience are (a) to improve the taping of hands and so prevent sprains and fractures, (b) adopt measures to prevent cuts over eyes which may cause blindness, (c) adopt rules to require immediate stopping of a bout for medical reasons, and (d) to equip a center where conditions of the brain may be examined by the instruments now available so that a punch drunk boxer will become a rarity.

Finally, with television allowing parents and children to watch boxing and wrestling matches, in their own homes, the recommendations of Dr. Ferlaino, if followed, will popularize a dramatic spectacle.

There are 58,934 churches, synagogues, schools, civic and fraternal groups who sponsor the nation's 84,300 Scouting Units in their aims to strengthen family life and build a better future citizenship in the community.

Most of these groups sponsor one of the three programs. The need today is for more boys to have the advantages of Scout training. These groups can best meet this challenge by sponsoring additional programs. This would make it possible for a boy to enjoy Scouting over a ten-year span, from 8 to 18, under the same auspices.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The most impossible job in the world is to make a Russian Communist change his mind.

This simple fact of life is what underlies much of the criticism of the U. S. international information program — otherwise known as the Voice of America and its related propaganda services.

President Eisenhower, in his State-of-the-Union message to Congress expressed the need for more effective action in this field. Even before the message was delivered, the President had named a new commission under William H. Jackson, to recommend something different in psychological cold warfare.

During the political campaign, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles got himself pretty well misunderstood by advocating a more aggressive overseas information program.

On top of this, a Senate committee headed by J. William Fulbright of Arkansas files a report saying that International Information Administration should be drastically overhauled. It is amateurish and overbelligerent, say the senators. Secretary Dulles implies that it isn't belligerent enough.

Everybody thus jumps on the program without anyone saying specifically how it should be different or better. What all the criticism seems to prove is that the job—which is to make the Russians change their minds and their policies — is impossible to begin with.

Russia Fears Voice of America

The people who work at it, though, keep on trying and seem to enjoy their work. Dr. Wilson Compton, former Washington State College president who heads IIA, recently came back from a trip around the world to inspect his far-flung, multi-million-dollar enterprise.

Dr. Compton has also filed a report with Congress showing what IIA has done. Since 1948, U. S. Information Service has spent $242 million on operations and $66 million for construction—mostly for radio stations. Today USIS has 194 missions in 85 foreign countries. It employs 3000 in the U. S. and 6000 overseas, of whom 5000 are foreigners, mostly natives of the lands the U. S. tries to reach with its propganda.

The Russians are supposed to be spending the equivalent of $1.5 billion a year on foreign propaganda, as compared to less than $100 million for the U. S. They run 1000 jamming operations to prevent the Voice of America from penetrating the Iron Curtain.

This last fact may give some indication that the Russians have some respect for U. S. propaganda, even if America don't. But there are other evidences of this.

Charles P. Arnot, former United Press war correspondent in the Pacific and Europe, who now heads the press and publications branch of the IIA program, also recently returned from an inspection trip around the world. He brought back several stories of what the Communists think of American overseas information work.

Wrecked USIS Offices

In Damascus, Commies put 40 pounds of TNT in the stairwell of the USIS building, wrecking it and killing a radio operator. In Bagdad the USIS plant was sacked and burned. Offices in Tripoli and Lebanon have been stoned several times.

In Montevideo, Uruguay, there was a Commie-led riot when 10 boys were hired to distribute 4,000 copies of two anti-Soviet leaflets. In Thailand the Communists try to buy up native journalists to prevent them from using USIS news reports.

In every country except the Philippines, where the U. S. has a printing and production plant for all Far East publications, the Commies spend 10 times what the Americans do for propaganda, says Arnot.

Nevertheless, with a $10 million budget for this year, the U. S. is publishing 34 magazines and 17 newspapers abroad. It distributes over a million photographs a year to foreign publications. It spreads 150 million leaflets and posters around the world. It is placing three million copies of an outline of American history in foreign schools.

This—plus the 194 information centers in 61 countries, films in 42 languages being shown over 3700 projectors in 87 countries, and 125 Voice-of-America radio programs running 49 hours a day in 46 languages over 375 stations—makes up the IIA program. Good or bad, it's something and it's all we've got.

"One of the difficulties," says Arnot, is that you can't package and sloganize 'democracy.' Communism, you can."

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 12—There is to be no piecemeal program to win the "cold war." Nor is there to be any isolated action taken to wind up the Korean situation. Whatever happens hereafter will be on an inter-allied basis after full consultation with America's allies.

This has been the plan from the very moment the Eisenhower-Dulles team began to formulate foreign policy for the new administration—in early December last.

The only problem in which the United States decided to act on its own, but to notify the Allies in advance, was the withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet from Formosa. The Allies were not a party to this when the restriction was imposed in the first instance—in fact, there was considerable criticism from London and other capitals when the United States presumably held the Communists back in June 1950 from a possible invasion of Formosa.

Technically and legally the United Nations has nothing to do with the American Navy's presence in and around Formosa, so a simple explanation to the Allies of America's purpose now in withdrawing the fleet was considered sufficient.

When, however, any blockade of the China coast or the bombing of bases in Manchuria or any other move designed to put pressure on the Chinese Communists is up for consideration so as to compel a truce in Korea, the decision will be made in unison with the Allies.

The Eisenhower Administration has determined that, as a necessary first step, the South Korean Army shall be built up to as many divisions as possible so that other Allied troops can be withdrawn from the front lines within the next year or so. Also there will be an uninterrupted build-up of the land, sea and air forces of the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. This step doesn't require any Allied sanction. It is a continuing policy begun long before the Korean War started.

It is not intended, on the other hand, by the administration here to rest solely on the idea of letting South Korean troops take over in Korea, nor is dependence to be placed solely on what the Chinese Nationalists may do to harass the Chinese Communists on the mainland. A broader and more comprehensive policy is in the making.

Whatever policies are adopted will be on a global basis. Europe is not to be regarded as a separate affair unrelated to what happens in Asia.

The first move will come when the United Nations Assembly meets again shortly. The American government will lay the facts before the UN and ask for concerted action to block off any trade with Communist China and North Korea.

The UN will have to decide whether it wants a blockade. If it is approved, units from the British and other navies will be asked to share the responsibility of blockade with the United States Navy.

Should European nations take the position that they do not want a naval blockade and should they take the position that this might "enlarge the war," the American government is likely to counter with the idea that the same risk prevails in Europe, where, at the very doorstep of Russia, the European defense army and the NATO army are being built up for the sole purpose of thwarting a Communist march across Europe. Had the Russians prepared to go to war, this threat would be sufficient to provoke them.

If the United States is to be asked to bear the brunt of the world police problem both in Asia and in Europe, then, it is being argued, there must be concerted action of an effective character. There must be an end to the prolonged stalemate in which American power is continuously drained, and, in the case of Korea, American boys are killed and wounded while the other nations maintain only token forces.

What may develop soon inside America is a drive to bring American boys home from both Asia and Europe. There are suggestions that a deadline of two years be set by Congress, within which time the American government should endeavor to bring all American troops home from foreign soil. If the allied nations which have the manpower available do not set up enough divisions to defend their own countries, the question will arise as to what the fate of American divisions might be in the event of the outbreak of war.

The trend is toward an effort to get a united allied policy, but, if this fails, then the American government will be faced with a demand at home to let the South Koreans take care of Korea and let the Europeans take care of their own defense. Certainly the allied governments cannot have it both ways—to prevent America from using its maximum military power in Asia and at the same time to expect American manpower to be bled indefinitely in Asia even as Europe expects more and more American troops to be sent to defend the continent. A showdown in global policy is inevitable if the allies do not make up their minds to present a united front in the "cold war."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The decision of the American Federation of Labor to intrude slightly and with delicacy in the "autonomy" of the Longshoremen's union in New York harbor is not a resounding change but it does represent a moral victory for virtue.

Fifteen years ago, William Green, then president of the AF of L, patiently and plaintively explained that the seeming indifference of the National Executive Council was not indifference but a fastidious respect for the principle of autonomy.

A big union gets a charter giving it jurisdiction over a trade, with economic powers over an important industry and the prices that the public must pay for goods or, say, apartments. Thereafter, even though that charter might criminals, the AF or L would not interfere. Indeed, the AF of L would not even deplore any criminal conduct by the custodians of the charter.

The rank and file workers admittedly could do nothing to put an end to the extortion and exploitation at the hands of their union.

Indeed, they were compelled by the AF of L itself to refrain from active or even covert opposition to such abuse. In a spectacular case in St. Louis, Green laid it down as law that a local satrap of the Browne-Bioff union, a fellow quite as evil as Browne and Bioff themselves, was worse in the eyes of the AF of L than the spectacular corruption of the Messrs. B and B. The AF of L condemned these rebels and upheld B and B. This was fair warning to all rank-and-file workers to submit to their oppressors.

It happened that Joseph Padway, the general counsel of the AF of L, a job corresponding roughly to that of the attorney general in our union of states, was also counsel for Browne and Bioff. It should have been possible to disbar Padway and send him to prison for this. He was a wily fellow making an enormous income out of a clientele of corrupt unioneers and he certainly knew that his clients were crooks and that the rank and file were victims of extortion, brutality and discrimination.

Many of them were sharecroppers in a sense. That is, they were not admitted to membership but were allowed to work under "permits" issued by the hoodlums. The actual jobs were owned by the criminals and these croppers did the actual work but had to surrender 25 per cent, more or less, of their wages to those who owned the jobs.

This fantastic condition was not merely protected but defended by the AF of L. Indeed, in the lack of any action to the contrary, that is still the principle of the AF of L.

Politico-intellectual swells outside the practical union movement angrily resented criticism of such evils as anti-laborism. The Roosevelt Supreme Court and many other courts have been guilty of the same moral wrong. This was no service to "labor". It was a service to the Democratic party and the unions but nobody ever made a serious effort to prove that the party was the party of the workers or that the unions fairly represented their interests. Political returns showed that the party could not command the votes of the workers. And the standard arguments in favor of the closed shop proved that the union bosses went in constant fear that the rank and file would run away if the bonds of this compulsion were loosed.

President Eisenhower made some remarks in France a year ago which raise a hope that he will use the great influence of his office to curtail the powers of the unions. With the death of Green and Phil Murray the two most obstinate opponents of reform have vanished. They were ignorant men and they both lacked moral courage and morality. But they did realize that they were defending much that was wrong. Their trouble was that they came of a school which regards all concessions as signs of weakness.

I argued that an honest man with a true interest in "labor," not as a political force but as millions of individual human beings, could not forbear to use the power of Green's office, or Murray's, to drive out criminals and Communists and to protect the workers from the developed ruthlessness of the union bosses. But they would not listen and they had to die before a glimmer of reasonableness and decency could be seen in this concession by the AF of L in the longshoremen's case.

The unions have developed as much strength as the old trusts had when Congress, the states and the press were fighting the greedy monopolists and the old Supreme Court was protecting them. They now barge into international politics in mysterious, dangerous conspiracies underwritten politically and financially by the State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency. President Eisenhower knows this, of course, and I see signs that when he has had a chance to study the case he will agree that the unions have grown too big, have too much power, have exceeded their legitimate purposes and should be cut down to size. This can be done by laws without the slightest harm to any rank and file toiler's individual interests.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time as one goes through their private library one runs across sets of books or single books and wonders, "Now how did this come here." I know my father bought various encyclopedias with subscriptions. They were all small sets but still all useful if you compare information you find each set is just a little different. For my work, the handiest is the one book, new concise illustrated type, then if I want to go deeper in a subject I look elsewhere. Some 65 years ago The Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal had a $1 book free with each paid up yearly subscription in advance. They were the Franklin Editions of popular books of the 1890s bound in cloth, black and gold, with large clear type.

Perhaps today you value one of those books such as Robinson Crusoe, with 350 illustrations. Hans Christian Anderson's Fairy Tales, illustrated with more than 200 engravings by Harrison Weir and others. Gulliver's Travels with 250 engravings. There were some 200 such books listed. It seems if the subscriber was in good standing he could buy other books on the list for only 35 cents. I remember in my early teens I loved to read those "Sink or Swim" books where the poor boy always won out. We would exchange books like youngsters do comic books. The only thing those books had a plot which to us was plausible, it could happen to us, we hoped, but comic book adventures are usually way beyond the imagination of even the cartoonist.

This issue covers the Board of Supervisors meeting. The official family of Kingston may be interested in the following of 1889 in Kingston: "A communication was received from the state comptroller, stating that the Board of Equalization of State Taxes had fixed the aggregated valuation of property in the County of Ulster at $25,264,732, upon which the state tax is $88,931.86, being 3 52/100 mills on the dollar."

Following also is interesting: "Another communication was received from the state comptroller, stating that in addition to the state tax, the Board of Supervisors of Ulster county are required to raise $599.84 for compensation of the stenographers of the Supreme Court for the Third Judicial District from Oct. 1, 1889, to Sept. 30, 1890."

The following communication was received from J. G. Van Etten, captain of the 14th Separate Co., transmitting copy of Order No. 1, which said that under Section 64 M. C., the pay of the armorer and janitor of the New York State Armory at Kingston shall be $2.50 per day, to date from Jan. 1889."

Strange as it may seem to me right now, but in 1889 the city government was presided over by Mayor Newkirk. (According to my records, he was John Newkirk, an undertaker). A few items from the Common Council meeting, one being "a petition from Rescue Hook and Ladder Co. asking that gas fixtures be provided for their rooms." Various aldermen were asking that their particular streets be "curbed, guttered and flagged." It seems that property owners had to relay their curbs and gutters and flag at their own expense according to grade" within 20 days of "being notified or the city to do it at their expense." That was carried. The poor property owner, no matter what the age he always pays.

Extreme Cruelty Cited For Bagley Divorce

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—Suit for divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty was filed yesterday by Mildred Gubelmann Bagley against William A. P. Bagley.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Gubelmann of Palm Beach, Oyster Bay, L. I., N. Y., and Convent, N. J., and a sister of Walter S. Gubelmann, Palm Beach and Voncent.

Mrs. Bagley formerly was married to Edwin L. Munzert, from whom she was divorced some years ago in West Palm Beach.

The complaint said she married Bagley in Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5, 1951, just before the defendant, as a member of the U. S. Naval Reserve, was departing for service in Japan.

She charges he refused to take her there and the final break came last Dec. 18 in Seattle. She seeks no alimony and said a property settlement had been agreed upon.

As Pegler Sees It

ableness and decency could be seen in this concession by the AF of L in the longshoremen's case.

The unions have developed as much strength as the old trusts had when Congress, the states and the press were fighting the greedy monopolists and the old Supreme Court was protecting them. They now barge into international politics in mysterious, dangerous conspiracies underwritten politically and financially by the State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency. President Eisenhower knows this, of course, and I see signs that when he has had a chance to study the case he will agree that the unions have grown too big, have too much power, have exceeded their legitimate purposes and should be cut down to size. This can be done by laws without the slightest harm to any rank and file toiler's individual interests.

Newton, Mass., Feb. 12 (AP)—Two marine sergeants and their dates were injured early today when their car crashed into a tree on the Worcester Turnpike.

All four were knocked unconscious and the car was so badly smashed police and firefighters had to pry open the doors with crowbars.

The four and their injuries are:

Sgt. Robert White, 22, of Natick, laceration of the mouth and cuts and bruises on the body.

Sgt. James J. McCabe, 22, of (4774 Court avenue) Cedarhurst, N. Y., cuts and bruises.

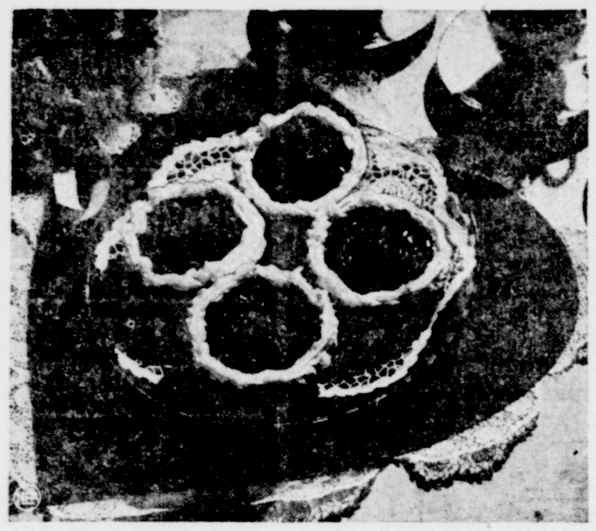
Tarts Are Valentine Special



VALENTINE FRUIT TARTS are made with cream cheese spread into tart shells, followed by rose-colored pineapple chunks.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

You'll be delighted with these rosy pineapple valentine tarts, and so will all your friends and family.

Rosy Pineapple Tarts

One can No. 2½ pineapple chunks, ½ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel, ½ teaspoon red food coloring, 1 package (3-ounce) cream cheese, 6 tart shells.

Drain pineapple chunks and measure syrup, add enough water to make 1½ cups. Mix sugar and cornstarch, stir into pineapple syrup and water and add lemon peel. Bring to a boil and cook over low heat until thickened and clear. Stir in red food coloring and pineapple chunks and cool. Spread a thin layer of cream cheese in the bottom of tart shells and spoon in pineapple chunks and glaze. Chill about 2 hours.

With so many oranges and nuts on the market, it's time for an orange and nut pie. Could be a Valentine's Day dinner dessert.

Orange Nut Pie

Two cups milk, ½ to 2/3 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs (separated), 1 orange (grated rind and juice), ½ cup chopped walnut or pecan nut meats, pastry, 4 tablespoons sugar.

Scald the milk in double boiler. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together thoroughly. Add hot milk. Stir until thickened. Cover and cook for 15 minutes. Add some of this mixture to the well-beaten egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook a few minutes. Remove from heat and add the orange and nuts. Pour this mixture into a baked crust, and let stand for a few minutes.

Make a meringue from the well-beaten whites, 4 tablespoons sugar, a few grains of salt and a little vanilla. Spread over the top of the filling to the edge of the crust. Bake in a very moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes, or until lightly browned.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched toast, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomato juice with lemon slice, cream cheese and chopped olive sandwiches, bologna sandwiches on rye bread, carrot sticks, rosy pineapple tarts, tea, milk.

DINNER: Pan-broiled round steak patties, mashed potatoes, creamed spinach, avacado and watercress salad, French dressing, enriched rolls, butter or margarine, orange nut pie, coffee, milk.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time as one goes through their private library one runs across sets of books or single books and wonders, "Now how did this come here." I know my father bought various encyclopedias with subscriptions. They were all small sets but still all useful if you compare information you find each set is just a little different. For my work, the handiest is the one book, new concise illustrated type, then if I want to go deeper in a subject I look elsewhere. Some 65 years ago The Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal had a $1 book free with each paid up yearly subscription in advance. They were the Franklin Editions of popular books of the 1890s bound in cloth, black and gold, with large clear type.

Perhaps today you value one of those books such as Robinson Crusoe, with 350 illustrations; Hans Christian Anderson's Fairy Tales, illustrated with more than 200 engravings by Harrison Weir and others. Gulliver's Travels with 250 engravings. There were some 200 such books listed. It seems if the subscriber was in good standing he could buy other books on the list for only 35 cents. I remember in my early teens I loved to read those "Sink or Swim" books where the poor boy always won out. We would exchange books like youngsters do comic books. The only thing those books had a plot which to us was plausible, it could happen to us, we hoped, but comic book adventures are usually way beyond the imagination of even the cartoonist.

This issue covers the Board of Supervisors meeting. 82nd Division 'Chutes Into Snow Area at Drum

Camp Drum, Feb 12 (AP)—The 82nd Airborne Division, abandoning parachute jumping onto bare, frozen ground here, has turned to a snow-covered area nearby and dropped 457 paratroopers without a casualty.

Thirty-three of 574 jumpers were injured Tuesday in drops on snowless terrain near this northern New York post.

The 437 chutists who jumped yesterday landed in about 18 inches of snow at Snow Ridge, a ski resort near Turin, about 25 miles southeast of here.

The division attributed the absence of injuries to the cushioning effect of the snow blanket.

Annulment Asked

The archbishop's announcement yesterday that the annulment petition "continues its course" through the proper channels was the first official confirmation that the annulment process was underway. O'Dwyer indicated yesterday he has acquired a permanent resident status in Mexico since his recent resignation as U. S. ambassador but did not say what business he is pursuing here.

82nd Division 'Chutes Into Snow Area at Drum

Camp Drum, Feb 12 (AP)—The 82nd Airborne Division, abandoning parachute jumping onto bare, frozen ground here, has turned to a snow-covered area nearby and dropped 457 paratroopers without a casualty.

Thirty-three of 574 jumpers were injured Tuesday in drops on snowless terrain near this northern New York post.

The 437 chutists who jumped yesterday landed in about 18 inches of snow at Snow Ridge, a ski resort near Turin, about 25 miles southeast of here.

The division attributed the absence of injuries to the cushioning effect of the snow blanket.

The troops were flown to Snow Ridge in transports from Wheeler-Sack Air Field here, as part of the winter warfare nanuevers in Exercise Snow Storm.

Paper Sellers Would Be 14 Under New Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP)—Legislation was introduced today to increase from 12 to 14 years the minimum age for boys selling newspapers on streets.

The minimum age of 12 for home delivery carriers would remain the same.

The bill was introduced by Sen. George R. Metcalf, Auburn Republican, who is a newspaperman.

Gov. Dewey vetoed a similar Metcalf bill last year because there was objection to a provision that specified a newsboy was an "independent contractor" and thus not eligible for workmen's compensation benefits.

The new bill makes no mention of "independent contractors" but stipulates that "the picking up of newspapers at a newspaper plant by a newspaper carrier boy shall not be construed to be employment in or in connection with the factory, if there is provided a place for the picking up of such newspapers, which place does not contain dangerous machinery or equipment, or does not afford access to space in which any such dangerous machinery or equipment is located."

Metcalf's bill would exclude home delivery carriers from the legal definition of "street trade" and provide for annual physical examinations of carriers before they are given permits. Permits already are required for boys engaged in street trade.

The regulation and issuance of permits for carrier boys would be handled by municipal school authorities and the physical examinations would be given by school physicians or those designated by local boards of health.

Enforcement would be left to local police.

Vanderbilt's Wife, 32, Locks Self in House

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Patricia W. Vanderbilt, 32, who is seeking separate maintenance from her husband, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., locked herself in a room of the Vanderbilt Fifth avenue mansion last night and remained there today.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, fifth wife of the millionaire grandson of the railroad builder, recently brought suit here asking $1,500 a week week maintenance and $15,000 counsel fees. However, a referee held that neither of the Vanderbilts is a resident of New York state and that the suit could not be brought here. The finding must be confirmed by Supreme Court Justice Henry C. Greenberg.

Last night Mrs. Vanderbilt arrived at a basement door of the mansion, where Vanderbilt's mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, long a society leader, died last month.

Charles Roden, of the law firm of Sol A. Rosenblatt, counsel for Vanderbilt, said the footman of the mansion, gave this account of last night's events:

Mrs. Vanderbilt, with a dog in one arm and leading a child by a previous marriage, pushed her way past a footman who answered the bell. She went to a fourth floor room where she locked herself in.

She made several telephone calls, including one to police who tried to persuade her to leave because of the child. Attorneys for the estate also tried to make her leave, but she refused and finally it was decided to take no immediate action.

Vanderbilt is not in town.

Says Reds Build Force

Washington, Feb. 11 (AP)—American Aviation Magazine said today Russia is building an East German air force and has reopened every former Luftwaffe air base. S.-owned Aleutian Islands and are starting to produce "in every category of combat aircraft, models comparable or superior to American and British types."

Are Freed in Bail

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Two more of the 13 Communists recently convicted of conspiracy were freed in bail today pending appeal. This raised the number to six. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, 62, and Alexander Trachtenberg, 67, each posted a $25,000 bail bond. Each had been sentenced to three years and fined $6,000. Miss Flynn is a member of the party's national committee and Trachtenberg a member of its national education commission.

Dwindles to Raids

Seoul, Feb. 12 (AP)—Fighting dwindled to small raids and patrol clashes on the Korean battle front today as the warmest weather of the year carried into a second day. The mercury climbed well into the 40s across the 155-mile battleline. Rain swept the western sector. Allied warplanes roared into clearing skies in the afternoon for fighter-bomber strikes and air battles with Communist MIG-15s.

Germans Returning

Bonn, Germany, Feb. 12 (AP)—The West German delegation which has been negotiating with the Egyptians in an attempt to stave off an Arab League boycott is flying back from Cairo because the talks "have been terminated, at least temporarily" on account of exorbitant Egyptian demands, a foreign office spokesman said today.

Purcell Sentenced To Prison Term

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gerard W. Purcell was sentenced yesterday to two and one-half to five years in prison for the theft of more than $200,000 from the Uniformed Firemen's Association, of which he was an officer.

He interrupted his trial last June to plead guilty to pocketing money from raffles and the sale of dance tickets while he was recording secretary of the 10,000-man Rank and File New York City Firemen's Organization.

Out of uniform, Purcell, 39, was a handsome, free-spending Broadway figure. He reportedly managed night club figures as a sideline. He has been dismissed from the fire department.

Purcell pleaded guilty to three counts of grand larceny of a 20-count indictment. General Sessions Judge Goldstein imposed the two and one-half to five-year sentence on each, but directed that the sentences be served concurrently. He could have sentenced him to a maximum of 15 to 30 years.

'Worst' Counterfeiter

Okinawa (AP)—The world's worst counterfeiter is still in business, the Army admits ruefully. The chief provost marshal on Okinawa, said recently that bills with glaring misspellings and other errors are turning up with "annoying regularity." Lt. Col. William E. Walkup, said all occupation personnel in Okinawa and local businessmen have been warned to look out for $10 counterfeit military payment certificates. The certificates are military money equal in value to U. S. dollars. The Army said that among other discrepancies the more obvious were: misspelling the words "regulations," "certificate" and "establishments." In "E Pluribus Unum" the "E" is backwards, the "P" is omitted and the first two words are joined together into one word.

(By the Associated Press)

Seven Civil War veterans, a few of them "spry" despite their 100-plus years, today (Thursday) proudly showed their colors—five Confederate Gray and two Union Blue — on Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

Last soldier survivals of the war between the states, the aged gentlemen still delight kids and adults alike with their recitals of "I was there" anecdotes about epic battles otherwise consigned to the history books.

The second oldest of the dwindling group is 110-year-old Walter L. Williams who lives near Franklin, Tex. Williams was a forage master with Hood's brigade. The Confederate veteran resides with his wife and one of his sons on a small farm. Frail but still quite active, Williams collects costume jewelry as a hobby and yearns to see television.

Albert Woolson, 106 years old yesterday, joined the union army as a drummer boy. He still tells the story of how he became top drummer of his company of the Minnesota Artillery—back in 1864—by "knocking the block off" another drummer.

Woolson lives with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kobus, in Duluth, Minn. The daughter says her father needs no special diet and rarely is visited by a physician.

The only other surviving Union Army veteran is James A. Hard, of Rochester, N. Y. Hard, born July 15, 1841, and oldest of the survivors, was reported "not feeling well" today.

Can Affect Teeth

Rochester, N. Y. (AP)—The instrument that junior wants to play in the school band may not be the one that's best for his teeth, says Dr. Barnett Frank, chairman of the dental health education committee of the Rochester Dental Society. Dr. Frank, who has made a study of instrument playing as related to teeth, says a child with protruding upper teeth should play an instrument with a cup mouthpiece. If it is the lower teeth that protrude, the clarinet or saxaphone might be the instrument to take up. In all cases an orthodontist should make the final decision as to what instrument should be prescribed, Dr. Frank says.

Would Put Up Supply Contracts

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—New York city's Board of Transportation would be required to put up for competitive bidding all supply and labor contracts over $2,500, under terms of a bill introduced in the Legislature today.

Sen. Francis J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan of New York city, Democratic minority leaders, introduced the measure to carry out a recommendation made last Dec. 1 by a New York county grand jury.

The bill would require the city's Rapid Transit System to follow the competitive bidding procedure prescribed by the city charter for city departments.

Is Making Loan

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—The World Bank announced today it is making a loan equal to 30 million dollars to the Communist but anti-Moscow government of Yugoslavia. The loan, in 10 European currencies, will be used to complete 27 projects in seven sectors of the Yugoslav economy during the next two years, the bank announcement said. Completion of these projects, it added, will help Marshall Tito in his plan to boost Yugoslavia's over-all industrial production 30 per cent by 1955.

Paper Sellers Would Be 14 Under New Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP)—Legislation was introduced today to increase from 12 to 14 years the minimum age for boys selling newspapers on streets.

The minimum age of 12 for home delivery carriers would remain the same.

The bill was introduced by Sen. George R. Metcalf, Auburn Republican, who is a newspaperman.

Gov. Dewey vetoed a similar Metcalf bill last year because there was objection to a provision that specified a newsboy was an "independent contractor" and thus not eligible for workmen's compensation benefits.

The new bill makes no mention of "independent contractors" but stipulates that "the picking up of newspapers at a newspaper plant by a newspaper carrier boy shall not be construed to be employment in or in connection with the factory, if there is provided a place for the picking up of such newspapers, which place does not contain dangerous machinery or equipment, or does not afford access to space in which any such dangerous machinery or equipment is located."

Metcalf's bill would exclude home delivery carriers from the legal definition of "street trade" and provide for annual physical examinations of carriers before they are given permits. Permits already are required for boys engaged in street trade.

The regulation and issuance of permits for carrier boys would be handled by municipal school authorities and the physical examinations would be given by school physicians or those designated by local boards of health.

Enforcement would be left to local police.

Vanderbilt's Wife, 32, Locks Self in House

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Patricia W. Vanderbilt, 32, who is seeking separate maintenance from her husband, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., locked herself in a room of the Vanderbilt Fifth avenue mansion last night and remained there today.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, fifth wife of the millionaire grandson of the railroad builder, recently brought suit here asking $1,500 a week week maintenance and $15,000 counsel fees. However, a referee held that neither of the Vanderbilts is a resident of New York state and that the suit could not be brought here. The finding must be confirmed by Supreme Court Justice Henry C. Greenberg.

Last night Mrs. Vanderbilt arrived at a basement door of the mansion, where Vanderbilt's mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, long a society leader, died last month.

Charles Roden, of the law firm of Sol A. Rosenblatt, counsel for Vanderbilt, said the footman of the mansion, gave this account of last night's events:

Mrs. Vanderbilt, with a dog in one arm and leading a child by a previous marriage, pushed her way past a footman who answered the bell. She went to a fourth floor room where she locked herself in.

She made several telephone calls, including one to police who tried to persuade her to leave because of the child. Attorneys for the estate also tried to make her leave, but she refused and finally it was decided to take no immediate action.

Vanderbilt is not in town.

Says Reds Build Force

Washington, Feb. 11 (AP)—American Aviation Magazine said today Russia is building an East German air force and has reopened every former Luftwaffe air base. S.-owned Aleutian Islands and are starting to produce "in every category of combat aircraft, models comparable or superior to American and British types."

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Two more of the 13 Communists recently convicted of conspiracy were freed in bail today pending appeal. This raised the number to six. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, 62, and Alexander Trachtenberg, 67, each posted a $25,000 bail bond. Each had been sentenced to three years and fined $6,000. Miss Flynn is a member of the party's national committee and Trachtenberg a member of its national education commission.

Dwindles to Raids

Seoul, Feb. 12 (AP)—Fighting dwindled to small raids and patrol clashes on the Korean battle front today as the warmest weather of the year carried into a second day. The mercury climbed well into the 40s across the 155-mile battleline. Rain swept the western sector. Allied warplanes roared into clearing skies in the afternoon for fighter-bomber strikes and air battles with Communist MIG-15s.

Germans Returning

Bonn, Germany, Feb. 12 (AP)—The West German delegation which has been negotiating with the Egyptians in an attempt to stave off an Arab League boycott is flying back from Cairo because the talks "have been terminated, at least temporarily" on account of exorbitant Egyptian demands, a foreign office spokesman said today.

Purcell Sentenced To Prison Term

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gerard W. Purcell was sentenced yesterday to two and one-half to five years in prison for the theft of more than $200,000 from the Uniformed Firemen's Association, of which he was an officer.

He interrupted his trial last June to plead guilty to pocketing money from raffles and the sale of dance tickets while he was recording secretary of the 10,000-man Rank and File New York City Firemen's Organization.

Out of uniform, Purcell, 39, was a handsome, free-spending Broadway figure. He reportedly managed night club figures as a sideline. He has been dismissed from the fire department.

Purcell pleaded guilty to three counts of grand larceny of a 20-count indictment. General Sessions Judge Goldstein imposed the two and one-half to five-year sentence on each, but directed that the sentences be served concurrently. He could have sentenced him to a maximum of 15 to 30 years.

'Worst' Counterfeiter

Okinawa (AP)—The world's worst counterfeiter is still in business, the Army admits ruefully. The chief provost marshal on Okinawa, said recently that bills with glaring misspellings and other errors are turning up with "annoying regularity." Lt. Col. William E. Walkup, said all occupation personnel in Okinawa and local businessmen have been warned to look out for $10 counterfeit military payment certificates. The certificates are military money equal in value to U. S. dollars. The Army said that among other discrepancies the more obvious were: misspelling the words "regulations," "certificate" and "establishments." In "E Pluribus Unum" the "E" is backwards, the "P" is omitted and the first two words are joined together into one word.

Civil War Veterans Honor Abe Lincoln

(By the Associated Press)

Seven Civil War veterans, a few of them "spry" despite their 100-plus years, today (Thursday) proudly showed their colors—five Confederate Gray and two Union Blue — on Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

Last soldier survivals of the war between the states, the aged gentlemen still delight kids and adults alike with their recitals of "I was there" anecdotes about epic battles otherwise consigned to the history books.

Albert Woolson, 106 years old yesterday, joined the union army as a drummer boy. He still tells the story of how he became top drummer of his company of the Minnesota Artillery—back in 1864—by "knocking the block off" another drummer.

Woolson lives with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kobus, in Duluth, Minn. The daughter says her father needs no special diet and rarely is visited by a physician.

The only other surviving Union Army veteran is James A. Hard, of Rochester, N. Y. Hard, born July 15, 1841, and oldest of the survivors, was reported "not feeling well" today.

Dr. Frank, who has made a study of instrument playing as related to teeth, says a child with protruding upper teeth should play an instrument with a cup mouthpiece. In all cases an orthodontist should make the final decision as to what instrument should be prescribed, Dr. Frank says.

Would Put Up Supply Contracts

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—New York city's Board of Transportation would be required to put up for competitive bidding all supply and labor contracts over $2,500, under terms of a bill introduced in the Legislature today.

The bill would require the city's Rapid Transit System to follow the competitive bidding procedure prescribed by the city charter for city departments.

Is Making Loan

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—The World Bank announced today it is making a loan equal to 30 million dollars to the Communist but anti-Moscow government of Yugoslavia. The loan, in 10 European currencies, will be used to complete 27 projects in seven sectors of the Yugoslav economy during the next two years, the bank announcement said. Completion of these projects, it added, will help Marshall Tito in his plan to boost Yugoslavia's over-all industrial production 30 per cent by 1955.

Must Show Weights

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—Owners of trucks, light delivery cars and trailers are required by a new state regulation to display weight totals on their vehicles when they attach 1953 license plates. The order, put into effect yesterday by the State Motor Vehicle Bureau, is the first to supplement the new truck registration law signed Tuesday by Gov. Dewey. The regulation requires owners to "paint or otherwise display," on the left side of each vehicle, its unladen weight, the maximum load to be carried, and the maximum gross weight, a combination of the first two. The numerals must be at least three inches high. Totals must correspond to those given on registration applications, which are used to determine the license fee.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Using Bad Play Ruins Any Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand was a rather sad experience for one of the players, but it illustrates the kind of reasoning that is necessary for good bridge playing. East thought that he had made an unfortunate guess, but he had actually made a very bad play.

West opened a trump, and therefore deserved whatever happened to him. As I mentioned in yesterday's article, a trump opening lead against a small slam is almost invariably a horrible defensive maneuver.

South won the first trick with the jack of spades and immediately finessed dummy's jack of diamonds. This was not a bad idea, since the diamond finesse would have to be risked sooner or later. Declarer wanted to take the finesse immediately in order to give East as little information as possible if the finesse happened to lose.

As it turned out the finesse did lose to East's queen of diamonds. East now had to decide whether his partner had the ace of hearts or the ace of clubs. It seemed like a sheer guess, and a heart return seemed "safer" to East.

This, of course, was duck soup for declarer. He could draw the trumps and discard a heart and a club on dummy's long diamonds.

East was guilty of very poor reasoning. The danger was that South had only a singleton or doubleton in either hearts or clubs. East had to lead that short suit in order to find his partner's ace. East should have worked out this problem correctly.

If South had only one or two small clubs, West would have three or four clubs headed by the ace. This was entirely possible, and actually happened to be the case.

Now let's make the same assumption about the hearts. If South had only one or two small hearts, West would have seven or eight hearts headed by the ace! If West had such a freakish holding, he would either bid the hearts at some time or at least would lead the ace of hearts to begin the defense.

Since West had failed to bid hearts or to lead the suit, it was clear that he did not have this freakish holding. Hence it was impossible for South to have only one or two small hearts. On the basis of this reasoning, East should have returned a club after winning his queen of diamonds. This would have defeated the slam contract.

Distinctive Car Plates Will Run High as $25 in '54

By BILL DAVIDSON

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—It's going to cost you from $5 to $25 next year if you want to have your automobile carry a "distinctive" license plate.

Gov. Dewey and the Republican legislative leaders have decided that the initialled and low-numbered plates are worth something extra to the motoring public.

It was learned today that Dewey administration bills would be sponsored before the current 1953 session adjourns to fix a "progressive" set of annual fees for the distinction of owning the special plates.

Final agreement on the new system was reached last Sunday at Dewey's regular weekly conference with legislative leaders in the executive mansion.

$5 for Initials

Under terms of the agreement, the state will charge you a progressive rate for the degree of distinction your plate conveys.

For instance, if you just want your initials on the plate, and aren't too fussy about the number, it will cost you $5.

If you think you should have your initials plus, say two numbers, such as HE-11, the extra fee probably will be $10. The rate will progress upward, so far as dollars are concerned, until a plain initial without numbers—if someone else hasn't already bought it—would cost $25 extra.

The lucky motorists probably will be those who drive official cars. They may not be charged anything extra.

Headache to Bureau

The distinctive plates have been creating a super headache for the State Motor Vehicle Bureau for several years. The bureau has been trying to fill all requests for initialled and low-numbered plates.

But, this year, the demand overpowered the patience of the bureau officials. There were almost 200,000 requests for special plates.

The flood of requests stymied the bureau's efforts to process the registration applications. The mailing of many of the special requests just beat the deadline for 1953 registrations.

Some Were Democrats

The heavy demand this year influenced the Motor Vehicle Bureau to look into the situation. They found that many organizations and political groups were obtaining the distinctive plates because of long-standing understandings.

It was discovered that certain political organizations, especially in New York city, had been able many years ago to "reserve" certain initial and numbered series for their members. Some of the lucky folk turned out to be Democrats.

Some other states levy extra fees for the special plates.

New York had decided to do the same.

R. H. Cameron Dies at Capital

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Ralph Henry Cameron, who guided Arizona to statehood and later became its senator, died today.

The 89-year-old Phoenix mining man, who obtained statehood for Arizona while serving as the territory's delegate in Congress, was taken to Doctors Hospital here after he suffered a heart attack Feb. 7 while on a business trip. He contracted bronchial pneumonia later.

His wife was at his bedside. A daughter, Catherine Cameron of Washington, D. C., also survives.

Cameron was the last territorial delegate to Congress from the last territory to join the union. He was elected for a term from 1909 to 1911 but it was extended a year by the presidential proclamation granting statehood to Arizona in 1912. He returned to Congress for a six-year term as senator in 1921-27.

After leaving Congress, Cameron engaged in mining operations in Arizona, Georgia, North Carolina and California. He lived in Los Angeles for a time, but returned to Arizona several years ago. His latest venture was development of a Hot Springs project at Yuma.

HEADED FOR "INTERIOR"—Ralph A. Tudor, above, has been appointed Undersecretary of the Interior by President Eisenhower. The 50-year-old San Francisco engineer is a graduate of West Point.

A Mohammedan may divorce any of his wives after three pronouncements and a waiting period according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Pravda Discloses How Fire Trucks Were Stolen

Moscow, Feb. 12 (AP)—Pravda disclosed today the theft of two shiny new fire engines from a Moscow factory. The newspaper said that one of the bright-red vehicles was kept in a Moscow suburb for several months before the thief sold it for 22,000 rubles ($5,500).

The Communist party organ gave this account of the stealings:

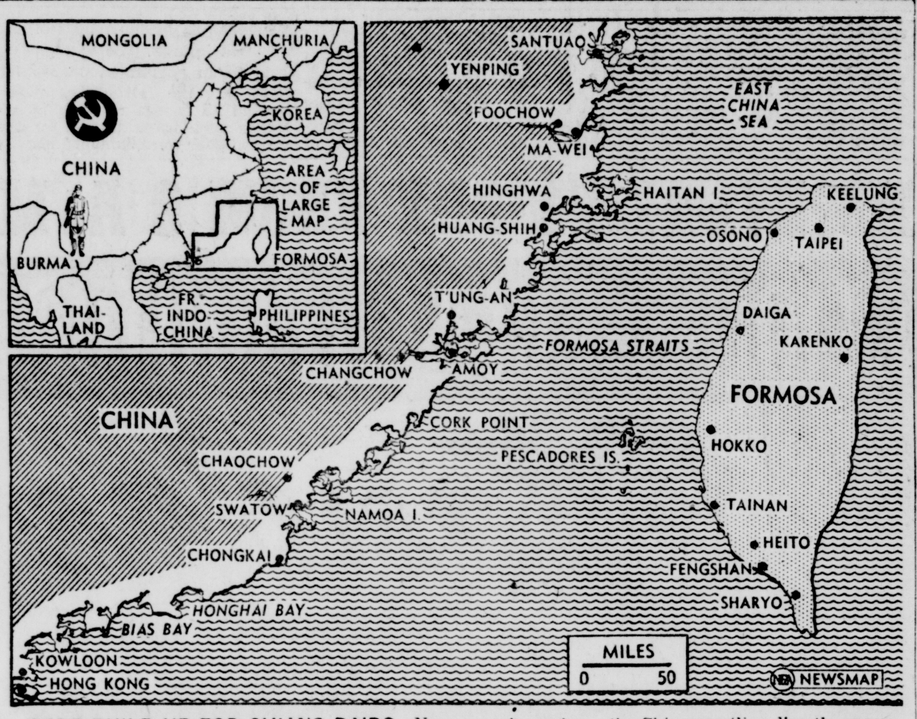
A chauffeur named Kortnev entered the factory in broad daylight and drove the engine away. He presented no documents and no questions were asked. He kept his prize at his Moscow suburban farm until he sold it to a collective farm in the Izhevsk region of the Udmurt Republic, more than 625 miles from Moscow. It was found there.

The theft of the other machine was similiar. It, however, was sold to a collective farm in the Moscow region.

Pravda, demanded punishment not only of the thieves, but of the farmers who purchased the machines.

Important Cereal Crops

"Corn" usually refers to the important cereal crop of the nation; wheat in England, oats in Scotland and Ireland and maize in the United States, says the National Geographic Society.



REDS BUILD UP FOR CHIANG RAIDS—Newsmap above shows the China coastline directly opposite Formosa, which the Nationalist forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek may now attack. The extremely irregular contour of the coastline contains innumerable coves and bays which would be difficult to defend against surprise attack. White area on the map indicates the 15- to 20-mile-deep security zone set up by the Communists. Residents considered likely to help landing forces have been removed from the area. Reports say that defense preparations have been stepped up since President Eisenhower lifted the blockade which prevented Nationalist attacks. Inset shows the relationship of the area to China and Burma, where a Nationalist army of 10,000 is camped just over the border, and also shows Red rail lines which would be likely targets for Nationalist planes.

Christine Is Back To Visit Parents

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Christine Jorgensen, who underwent medical treatment which changed her from man to woman, returned home today from Denmark.

The 26-year-old Christine, who once served the U. S. Army as George Jorgensen Jr., stepped from an airliner at Idlewild Airport while an excited crowd stared curiously.

She was smartly dressed in a loose-fitting nutria coat and a close-fitting hat of nutria with a Chartreuse center.

At the shouted demands of more than 50 newsreel, television and still photographers, she turned and went back up the steps of the Trans-World airliner.

Gesturing impatiently, she cried in a feminine, alto voice:

"Come on, hurry up, let's go."

Then she hurried on to clear immigration and customs, at the moment unable to talk with reporters.

She returned after two years of medical treatment in Denmark to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgensen in the Bronx.

Pravda Discloses How Fire Trucks Were Stolen

Moscow, Feb. 12 (AP)—Pravda disclosed today the theft of two shiny new fire engines from a Moscow factory. The newspaper said that one of the bright-red vehicles was kept in a Moscow suburb for several months before the thief sold it for 22,000 rubles ($5,500).

The Communist party organ gave this account of the stealings:

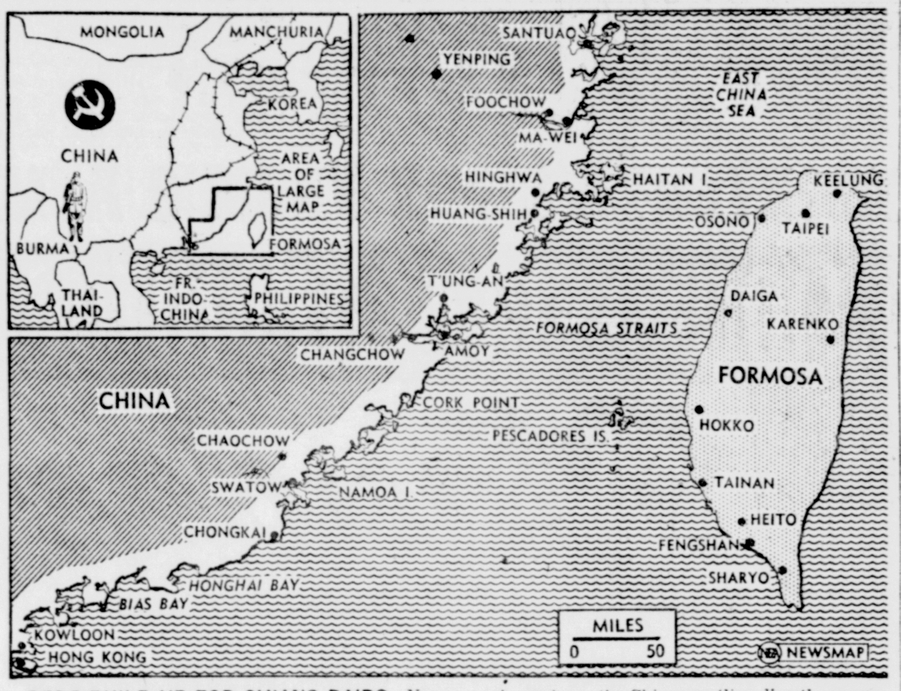
A chauffeur named Kortnev entered the factory in broad daylight and drove the engine away. He presented no documents and no questions were asked. He kept his prize at his Moscow suburban farm until he sold it to a collective farm in the Izhevsk region of the Udmurt Republic, more than 625 miles from Moscow. It was found there.

The theft of the other machine was similiar. It, however, was sold to a collective farm in the Moscow region.

Pravda, demanded punishment not only of the thieves, but of the farmers who purchased the machines.

Important Cereal Crops

"Corn" usually refers to the important cereal crop of the nation; wheat in England, oats in Scotland and Ireland and maize in the United States, says the National Geographic Society.



REDS BUILD UP FOR CHIANG RAIDS—Newsmap above shows the China coastline directly opposite Formosa, which the Nationalist forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek may now attack. The extremely irregular contour of the coastline contains innumerable coves and bays which would be difficult to defend against surprise attack. White area on the map indicates the 15- to 20-mile-deep security zone set up by the Communists. Residents considered likely to help landing forces have been removed from the area. Reports say that defense preparations have been stepped up since President Eisenhower lifted the blockade which prevented Nationalist attacks. Inset shows the relationship of the area to China and Burma, where a Nationalist army of 10,000 is camped just over the border, and also shows Red rail lines which would be likely targets for Nationalist planes.

Christine Is Back To Visit Parents

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Christine Jorgensen, who underwent medical treatment which changed her from man to woman, returned home today from Denmark.

The 26-year-old Christine, who once served the U. S. Army as George Jorgensen Jr., stepped from an airliner at Idlewild Airport while an excited crowd stared curiously.

She was smartly dressed in a loose-fitting nutria coat and a close-fitting hat of nutria with a Chartreuse center.

At the shouted demands of more than 50 newsreel, television and still photographers, she turned and went back up the steps of the Trans-World airliner.

Gesturing impatiently, she cried in a feminine, alto voice:

"Come on, hurry up, let's go."

Then she hurried on to clear immigration and customs, at the moment unable to talk with reporters.

She returned after two years of medical treatment in Denmark to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgensen in the Bronx.

Asks Advance Notice

Albany, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sen. Seymour Halper today proposed a bill to prevent what he called "sneak assessments" against New York city property owners, by requiring advance warning of special levies for public improvements. The Queens Republican's measure would require that residents of New York city be given advance notice of improvement contemplated. Halpern said the present system was a "mockery" that resulted in "thousands of property owners being soaked for a sewer or some other project which could very well be miles away and about which they knew nothing."

30 Routed by Fire

Watertown, Feb. 12 (AP)—About 30 persons were driven to the street last night when flames swept an apartment in a four-story building near the heart of Watertown's business district. No one was injured. The flames were held to an apartment on the top floor of the structure, which housed 15 families. Other apartments and three stores on the ground floor were damaged heavily by smoke and water, firemen said. Cause of the blaze was not determined. There was no estimate of the loss.

Marilyn Has Answer

Hollywood, Feb. 12 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe has an answer to criticism of her realistic movie role as a brazen babe: "I just did the best I could. The part called for a tramp. I couldn't play it like an ingenue." Her studio, 20th Century-Fox, said there have been complaints, "but not any unusual number and absolutely none from organizations." This replied to the trade paper Variety report yesterday that complaints from women and women's organizations were "pouring in" to the studio, deploring the effect of the Monroe character in the film "Niagara" on children, husbands and sweethearts.

Red Skelton in Bed With Virus, Neuralgia

Hollywood, Feb. 12 (AP) — Red Skleton is hospitalized again, probably until the end of this week.

His physician said he is suffering from a virus infection and a severe case of neuralgia.

The doctor said these troubles had no connection with the operation Skelton underwent in December, for a diaphragmatic hernia.

The comedian hasn't returned to his movie or television work since that time. April is the tentative time for his return to his TV show.

Agar Has Court Date

Santa Monica, Calif., Feb. 12 (AP) —Actor John Agar, 31, has a court date May 9 for settlement of tipsy episodes. Currently he is serving four months in county jail for violation of probation granted in 1951 after two drunk driving convictions. This term was imposed after he was arrested here last Jan. 22 in a similar case. Yesterday he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and innocent to charges of driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's license. His attorneys said he would waive a jury trial on these charges.

Effects of Great Flood Linger On --

It will be many weeks before the stricken countries can total the effects of Europe's great storm and flood. In England's 300-mile danger zone, thousands of English troops are engaged in repairing damage and evacuating livestock, preparing for the advent of further winter storms. In The Netherlands, where thousands are still homeless, the Dutch have yet to total their dead, who so far number nearly 1400, for hundreds are missing. These photos show aftermath scenes in the two countries.

Find Out Why They're Calling Names and Names Will Cease

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Bobby's older brother, Joe, recently acquired a new friend whom he deeply admires. As a consequence, he has been very off-handed with Bobby.

At first when Joe rushed out of the house at Hal's summons to come help bathe his new puppy, Bobby rushed, too. At Joe's terrific roar, "Scram home you!" he wept tears of rage. But after a while he didn't any more and just seemed kind of discouraged.

So his mother took steps.

At lunch, serving her children their soup, she said, "Joe, Bobby says that you're a 'mean stinker' not to take him over to Hal's house with you. Are you one?"

"He's nuts," her son said comfortably. "Who wants a kid of seven tagging along wherever you go? I'm no baby-sitter."

"You don't mind him tagging along when Hal's not around," his parent said gently. "Why do you feel different when you're with Hal?"

Bobby came to sudden, inspired life. Swallowing the piece of turkey he'd found in his soup, he waved his spoon accusingly at his brother. "Yah, he's scared," he announced. "He doesn't want me hanging around because he's scared big-shot Hal will think he's a sissy!"

This time, Joe's denial was not so comfortable. He looked at his mother uneasily. She smiled at him as she asked: "Are you scared? Because if you are, Bobby and I could understand that quite easily. We don't want to think you're a mean stinker if you're just scared Hal will make fun of you if Bobby hangs around. Are you, Joe?"

There was the briefest litle pause before Joe drank some of the milk that had been poured for him. Then he said, "Yeah, I guess I am a little scared, mother."

He said it awkwardly—but he said it. And at once everyone felt that the world was a nicer place to be in.

Joe felt better because his mother and brother no longer regarded him as a "mean stinker" but understood the difficult "sissy" business. His mother felt better because tension had left her boys. As to Bobby, he felt wonderful.

What had been maddening and discouraging was his big brother's insufferable air of superiority. Now he felt warm and loving toward the "big shot" who had been cut down to size by the truth.

If we want to, I suppose they'd let us call it "psychology." It makes more sense to me to call it training in truthfulness.

We might try it next time our children start throwing bad names and adjectives at each other.

Report South China Reds Fear Invasion

Taipeh, Formosa, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Central Daily News today asserted leading Communists in South China are secretly investing money at Hong Kong and Macao because they fear a Nationalist invasion of the mainland.

The Nationalist government's official newspaper said investors included Gen. Yeh Chien-ying, former chief of staff of the Communist armies and now Red boss of South China. Most of the Communist investments, made through private contacts, were in real estate, the paper said.

It attributed the Red scare to the decision to deneutralize the Formosa strait.

Marilyn Has Answer

Hollywood, Feb. 12 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe has an answer to criticism of her realistic movie role as a brazen babe: "I just did the best I could. The part called for a tramp. I couldn't play it like an ingenue." Her studio, 20th Century-Fox, said there have been complaints, "but not any unusual number and absolutely none from organizations." This replied to the trade paper Variety report yesterday that complaints from women and women's organizations were "pouring in" to the studio, deploring the effect of the Monroe character in the film "Niagara" on children, husbands and sweethearts.

Hollywood, Feb. 12 (AP)—Red Skleton is hospitalized again, probably until the end of this week.

His physician said he is suffering from a virus infection and a severe case of neuralgia.

The doctor said these troubles had no connection with the operation Skelton underwent in December, for a diaphragmatic hernia.

The comedian hasn't returned to his movie or television work since that time. April is the tentative time for his return to his TV show.

Effects of Great Flood Linger On--

It will be many weeks before the stricken countries can total the effects of Europe's great storm and flood. In England's 300-mile danger zone, thousands of English troops are engaged in repairing damage and evacuating livestock, preparing for the advent of further winter storms. In The Netherlands, where thousands are still homeless, the Dutch have yet to total their dead, who so far number nearly 1400, for hundreds are missing. These photos show aftermath scenes in the two countries.

Miss Bates Honored At Surprise Shower

New Paltz, Feb. 11—Miss Shirley Bates was honored at a surprise shower Friday, Feb. 6, by the WSCS of the New Paltz Methodist Church, the Lloyd Ladies' Aid and ladies of the Plutarch Church. Guests were invited for 7 p. m. Gifts were arranged on the stage in the social hall which had been decorated with white, silver and Valentine red trim.

Miss Bates was brought to the party at 8:15 by the Rev. Porter supposedly to attend a congregational meeting. As Miss Bates entered the curtains were opened and she was invited by Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, president of the WSCS, to come up and occupy the white and red chair prepared for her. As Miss Bates opened the gifts, Mr. Porter read the gift cards and ladies of the committee placed the gifts on a table in front of the platform for display. Among some of the gifts were a crystal and silver cut glass table lamp from the Lloyd Ladies' Aid, made by the late Joseph Hinsberger, an electric percolator from the WSCS, an end table from the Grove street neighbors, a set of China dinnerware, floor lamps, trays, candlesticks, bed linen, steam iron, metal ironing board, electric grill and many other beautiful gifts.

Mr. Vicoli sang two solos, At Dawning and Somewhere a Voice Is Calling. Mr. Wicks sang Because of You and the trio sang A Penny a Kiss A Penny a Hug, as the closing piece.

Some one delivered a mysterious gift left without a card and thought to be from the SPCA. It was a large wood rolling pin. After the gifts were all opened Raymond Hasbrouck gave a humorous talk and what some little birds had been telling him about changes to be made in a certain parsonage. He introduced two ladies who had something for Mr. Porter. Mrs. DeGraff of Plutarch and Mrs. Betty Poucher of New Paltz presented wedding purses from the two congregations.

Refreshments were served by women of all three churches. The committee included Mrs. A. Beatty, Mrs. E. Trautwein, Mrs. W. Dyer, Mrs. R. Sullivan, Mrs. J. Marks of New Paltz, Mrs. Daniel DeGraff and Miss Nellie Lillberg of Plutarch and Mrs. Walter Roe, Jr., of Lloyd.

Miss Bates Honored At Surprise Shower

New Paltz, Feb. 11—Miss Shirley Bates was honored at a surprise shower Friday, Feb. 6, by the WSCS of the New Paltz Methodist Church, the Lloyd Ladies' Aid and ladies of the Plutarch Church. Guests were invited for 7 p. m. Gifts were arranged on the stage in the social hall which had been decorated with white, silver and Valentine red trim.

Miss Bates was brought to the party at 8:15 by the Rev. Porter supposedly to attend a congregational meeting. As Miss Bates entered the curtains were opened and she was invited by Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, president of the WSCS, to come up and occupy the white and red chair prepared for her. As Miss Bates opened the gifts, Mr. Porter read the gift cards and ladies of the committee placed the gifts on a table in front of the platform for display. Among some of the gifts were a crystal and silver cut glass table lamp from the Lloyd Ladies' Aid, made by the late Joseph Hinsberger, an electric percolator from the WSCS, an end table from the Grove street neighbors, a set of China dinnerware, floor lamps, trays, candlesticks, bed linen, steam iron, metal ironing board, electric grill and many other beautiful gifts.

The Youth Fellowship of the Lloyd Church presented a corsage of red and white carnations to Miss Bates. Mrs. Walter Roe, Jr., presented her with a bouquet of red and white carnations.

A short entertainment was offered by John Vicoli, Barbara Slater and George Wicks in song. Mrs. Schneider of Plutarch gave a humorous reading of A Wedding Invitation of Fifty Years Ago. Mr. Vicoli sang two solos, At Dawning and Somewhere a Voice Is Calling. Mr. Wicks sang Because of You and the trio sang A Penny a Kiss A Penny a Hug, as the closing piece.

Some one delivered a mysterious gift left without a card and thought to be from the SPCA. It was a large wood rolling pin. After the gifts were all opened Raymond Hasbrouck gave a humorous talk and what some little birds had been telling him about changes to be made in a certain parsonage. He introduced two ladies who had something for Mr. Porter. Mrs. DeGraff of Plutarch and Mrs. Betty Poucher of New Paltz presented wedding purses from the two congregations.

Refreshments were served by women of all three churches. The committee included Mrs. A. Beatty, Mrs. E. Trautwein, Mrs. W. Dyer, Mrs. R. Sullivan, Mrs. J. Marks of New Paltz, Mrs. Daniel DeGraff and Miss Nellie Lillberg of Plutarch and Mrs. Walter Roe, Jr., of Lloyd.

The decoration committee was Mrs. W. Jay, Mrs. C. Koenig, Mrs. S. Haas, and Mrs. W. Burke. The stage featured a red and white shower umbrella with white streamers and silver sprinklers. A huge red heart with lace ruffle held Shirley and Willet crossed. The tables were white with a red border and silver trim. The table decorations was a bridal doll and white tapers about 120 guests attended the shower.

Lincoln's Life Topic at Rotary

County Attorney Frederick H. Stang reviewed the life of Abraham Lincoln, who was born in a log cabin and ended his days in the White House, before the Rotary Club at its luncheon-meeting Wednesday.

As related by Attorney Stang, the story of Lincoln is as American as the vast frontier which bore him and shaped his character.

"Government of the people, by the people and for the people," which Lincoln had said, summed up in a few simple words the glory and the majesty of our creed and our Constitution, the speaker said.

"With malice toward none, with charity for all," Lincoln's brief words had set a formula by which men of good will could live and work together.

Lincoln's devotion to his mother was emphasized by the speaker, who described his early life, when he learned to write and read by candlelight, and his first trip to New Orleans, where he saw his first slave market and was so impressed that he resolved that one day he would help do away with slavery.

He also discussed Lincoln's ability as a student, politician, lawyer and business man.

It was also brought out in the very interesting description of the martyred President, that although Lincoln lived all his life in the search for peace, he never knew much except turmoil and strife.

With the passing of time, he said, Lincoln seems to belong to the people more than he did in his lifetime.

Likes to Drive

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 11 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy, who somehow learned to operate a car, has been giving police here quite a time with his driving escapades. The youngster, who takes a six-year-old pal along with him on his jaunts, borrowed a truck yesterday and drove a half-mile before he piled into a parked car. Police said the owner of the truck, Karle Bohnhorst, a painter, said he left the key in the ignition when he parked it while working on a house near Front and East Jersey streets. The youngsters, whose names were withheld, drove off with a Diesel truck Jan. 7 and rammed into a building. On Feb. 4 they stole a jeep which they eventually smashed into a parked car.

Lincoln's Life Topic at Rotary

County Attorney Frederick H. Stang reviewed the life of Abraham Lincoln, who was born in a log cabin and ended his days in the White House, before the Rotary Club at its luncheon-meeting Wednesday.

As related by Attorney Stang, the story of Lincoln is as American as the vast frontier which bore him and shaped his character.

"Government of the people, by the people and for the people," which Lincoln had said, summed up in a few simple words the glory and the majesty of our creed and our Constitution, the speaker said.

"With malice toward none, with charity for all," Lincoln's brief words had set a formula by which men of good will could live and work together.

Lincoln's devotion to his mother was emphasized by the speaker, who described his early life, when he learned to write and read by candlelight, and his first trip to New Orleans, where he saw his first slave market and was so impressed that he resolved that one day he would help do away with slavery.

He also discussed Lincoln's ability as a student, politician, lawyer and business man.

It was also brought out in the very interesting description of the martyred President, that although Lincoln lived all his life in the search for peace, he never knew much except turmoil and strife.

With the passing of time, he said, Lincoln seems to belong to the people more than he did in his lifetime.

Likes to Drive

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 11 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy, who somehow learned to operate a car, has been giving police here quite a time with his driving escapades. The youngster, who takes a six-year-old pal along with him on his jaunts, borrowed a truck yesterday and drove a half-mile before he piled into a parked car. Police said the owner of the truck, Karle Bohnhorst, a painter, said he left the key in the ignition when he parked it while working on a house near Front and East Jersey streets. The youngsters, whose names were withheld, drove off with a Diesel truck Jan. 7 and rammed into a building. On Feb. 4 they stole a jeep which they eventually smashed into a parked car.

The radio said part of the new deposits can be worked by open-face methods.

SOLID FOUNDATION!

Each year at this time, we honor our founder, George Huntington Hartford, who started our business based on this guiding policy:

"Always do what is honest, fair and sincere and in the best interests of our customers."

During his lifetime, George Huntington Hartford faithfully followed that policy. It was the basis on which he opened and operated, in downtown New York, the modest little store which was the forerunner of your A&P. Today, serving over six million valued customers daily, your A&P continues to operate on that same policy. And we'll strive to maintain it as long as there's an A&P!

Stevenson Can't See Dulles' Way in Europe

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson returned last night from a vacation in the Barbados.

Interviewed by newsmen at Idlewild Airport, he had this comment on Secretary of State Dulles' tour of Western European nations:

"I am all for unification of European defenses but if this is an indication of the commencement of dollar diplomacy, then it is the surest way how not to make friends and influence people." He did not elaborate.

The defeated Democratic presidential nominee and former Illinois governor will deliver a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner address at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Saturday night. Stevenson said he will leave March 1 on a "self-education" round-the-world trip.

Africa is largely plateau, but it has little land that is very high or very low and hence its average elevation is lower than that of Asia.

Van Fleet on Way To Express Belief In Korea Offensive

Tokyo, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, smiling but misty-eyed as he neared the end of a glorious military career, left Tokyo for home and retirement today.

Immediately behind him was a record of 22 months as commander of the multi-nation U. S. Eighth Army in Korea. Directly ahead is an appearance before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Washington, to explain his belief that an allied offensive in Korea could be successful.

"Big Jim" had a one-word answer—"certainly"—when AP correspondent John Randolph asked him Tuesday: "Do you think a general offensive in Korea can be successful at this time?"

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) told a Lincoln Day dinner at Paterson, N. J., last night, "as chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I want you to know that I am planning to have Gen. Van Fleet come before our committee on his return to this country to spell out to us in detail just how he feels this might be done and what its expected results would be."

"It has been a great privilege," the old soldier said huskily to military and diplomatic officials who saw him off at Tokyo's international airport. "God bless."

Then he boarded the personal plane of Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far Eastern commander, for Honolulu, first stop on his homeward journey.

Gets Decorations

Earlier today Clark pinned two decorations on Van Fleet's big chest during a stirring honor guard ceremony at Far East command headquarters.

Van Fleet, who turned over command of his Eighth Army Wednesday to Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, was awarded the air medal and a cluster—the equivalent of two air medals. The awards were for dangerous, low-level flights over enemy territory in unarmed light planes. Both flights were made during emergency situations in the spring of of 1951.

At Honolulu, Van Fleet will meet Mrs. Van Fleet and spend a few days resting. Then they will travel to San Francisco aboard the ship President Jackson.

Four Persons Hurt

stated. A passenger, John B. Anderson, Rt. 1, Kingston, received bruises of the left leg, but was able to continue to Poughkeepsie, where all three were employed.

The other automobile involved was driven by Egbert E. Freer, 53, of RFD 1, Ulster Park, who told sheriff's men he would consult his own physician for treatment of a lacerated forehead.

Driving on 9W

Freer told Deputy Sheriffs Albert E. Eisele and Benjamin Newkirk that he was driving north on Route 9W and near the foot of the hill approaching Port Ewen his automobile skidded sideways and was in collision with the southbound Hasbrouck vehicle.

Traffic was delayed for a short time until the badly damaged vehicles were pushed to the side and then towed away.

Another accident attributed to slippery road conditions was reported to the sheriff's office by Peter LoBello, 45, of Rosendale. Lo Bello said his automobile and another skidded into each other at 7:52 a. m. on the Connelly road near the shipyard where LoBello is employed. LoBello told Identification Officer Earl Conro that the other vehicle was driven by William Steigerwald of Clay road, Port Ewen. The fronts of both vehicles were damaged, but no personal injuries were reported, LoBello said.

The snow, which began falling at 11 p. m. in the city, ranged in depth from about two and a half inches here to four to five inches in the mountain areas. The wet snow packed quickly on highways, leaving them slippery.

The state Department of Public Works county office began calling its sanding crew members to work at 11:15 p. m. About midnight, the Kingston BPW sanding crews were working, and at 7:30 a. m. today the county highway department sent out its plows.

Auto Union Director Is Killed in Crash

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—George Cranmore, 36, assistant regional director of the CIO Auto Workers Union, was killed early today in an automobile accident near his home in Elmhurst, Queens.

Police said his automobile skidded on the wet pavement on Queens Boulevard and crashed into the rear of a truck. The body was taken to the Queens General Hospital morgue, where it was identified later by a brother.

Cranmore was a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, Queens, in 1951 on the Liberal party ticket and was defeated. He is survived by his widow, Ann, and two children, Susan, 13, and Georgia, nine.

Four Persons Killed

Gaithersburg, Md., Feb. 12 (AP)—A train-auto collision in near-freezing rain and fog here last night killed the car's four occupants, derailed the train and injured about a dozen crewmen and passengers. The train, the Baltimore and Ohio's West Virginian, was on its way to Parkersburg, W. Va., from Washington, D. C., some 25 miles to the southeast. A railroad spokesman said the locomotive and tender and seven of its eight cars jumped the rails when the auto jammed a switch. Police Lt. Paul W. Watkins identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, their son Pete, about 30, and Upton Harding, about 35. Fox worked on a dairy farm near here.

Big Jim Says Goodbye

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retiring commander of the 8th Army in Korea, waves from the ramp as he prepares to board a plane at Seoul on the first leg of his trip homeward to the United States. Bay Rescue

Policeman Paul Hayes keeps afloat a woman tentatively identified as Mrs. May Homer, 56, of San Diego. Police say she apparently jumped off the embarcadero into San Diego harbor. A Coast Guard boat crew took her aboard a few minutes after this picture was taken by Art C. Toth, an amateur photographer, who was nearby. (AP Wirephoto).

Nine Americans in Blast

Tokyo, Feb. 12 (AP)—Nine American passengers, including seven women, and two injured crewmen were taken off the burning freighter President Pierce today after an explosion rocked the vessel about 100 miles southeast of Yokohama. Late reports said the crippled ship of the American President Lines was limping toward Yokohama, escorted by two U. S. Navy ships. A raging fire that gutted three of its holds was extinguished after a battle that lasted several hours.

The balance scale for weighing may be more than 7,000 years old.

12 Men Are Indicted

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Twelve men were indicted here today by a federal grand jury for alleged shipment of arms to Mexico. The 25-page, 11 count indictment charged conspiracy to violate the Neutrality Act. Two of those indicted were Thomas D. Park and Thurman Randle, partners in the Thurman Randle & Company of Dallas, a firm which deals in arms. They are charged with having conspired to violate the arms export provisions of the Neutrality Act, relating to the export in commercial quantities of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

Food Items Are To Be Decontrolled

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Market basket items like milk, butter and eggs were marked for price decontrol this week, amid signs that emergency power to restore economic curbs might be kept.

A top official said a final decision will be made today on a long list of goods tentatively tabbed for removal from price ceilings by Friday or Saturday.

The list makes up 15 per cent of consumer goods in the cost of living index package, he said, and would leave less than that percentage still under control. It includes such things as:

Milk, butter, cheese, poultry, eggs, oleomargarine, cleansers, soap, lard and other shortening; rubber and rubber products; lead, tin, zinc and scrap; pet foods; paper and paper products.

Controls would remain, at least for the time being, on such important items as machinery, most automobiles and scarce metals. But many of these do not have a direct bearing on the consumer.

The exemption of paper products would cover waxed and treated papers, plates and newsprint.

Meeting Is Held

Work on the list began after price officials met with James F. Brownlee, New York investment broker named to help Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming end controls and, at the same time, continue the program to produce scarce materials for defense.

In an interview, Brownlee lent weight to the idea that the Eisenhower administration will stick to a step-by-step erasure of price controls. A one-stroke sudden death had been urged in some quarters.

He spoke of a fast but gradual wiping out of ceilings. He said the job should be finished by mid-April, if not earlier. The controls law expires April 30.

Brownlee, who was deputy price administrator in World War 2, said he favors keeping a standby authority to re-impose controls should an emergency arise. He indicated his job will include helping plan such a program.

"It is virtually impossible to unscramble distorted price situations after they occur," he commented.

The population of Iceland averages about three people per square mile, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Winstons Hit End Of Ice Cream Trail

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—The three Winston brothers, who got in some pretty good licks in assorted flavors over the past 12 months, have reached the end of the free ice cream cone trail.

With the final scoop of vanilla Monday came the expiration of an agreement with their neighborhood ice cream store operator, James R. Gregory. The arrangement was Gregory's way of saying thanks to the boys' father, Cabell G. Winston, who helped catch a gunman who robbed the store a year ago.

By Gregory's official count the boys polished off 3,552 cones during the 52 weeks, Cabell, Jr., 9, said the figure seemed high to him. Stephen, 7, and Kenneth, 6, said it couldn't have been that many.

At that, the 3,552 cones didn't represent the Winston boys' total ice cream take. Gregory also gave the family a free half gallon each week for home consumption. He figured the whole operation cost him about $177, not including a $50 bond he also gave Winston.

Cabell Jr. said he was beginning to miss the free ice cream. In fact, he added, he thought he'd drop by after school today and buy one for a change.

Van Fleet on Way To Express Belief In Korea Offensive

Tokyo, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, smiling but misty-eyed as he neared the end of a glorious military career, left Tokyo for home and retirement today.

Immediately behind him was a record of 22 months as commander of the multi-nation U. S. Eighth Army in Korea. Directly ahead is an appearance before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Washington, to explain his belief that an allied offensive in Korea could be successful.

"Big Jim" had a one-word answer—"certainly"—when AP correspondent John Randolph asked him Tuesday: "Do you think a general offensive in Korea can be successful at this time?"

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) told a Lincoln Day dinner at Paterson, N. J., last night, "as chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I want you to know that I am planning to have Gen. Van Fleet come before our committee on his return to this country to spell out to us in detail just how he feels this might be done and what its expected results would be."

"It has been a great privilege," the old soldier said huskily to military and diplomatic officials who saw him off at Tokyo's international airport. "God bless."

Then he boarded the personal plane of Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far Eastern commander, for Honolulu, first stop on his homeward journey.

Gets Decorations

Earlier today Clark pinned two decorations on Van Fleet's big chest during a stirring honor guard ceremony at Far East command headquarters.

Van Fleet, who turned over command of his Eighth Army Wednesday to Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, was awarded the air medal and a cluster—the equivalent of two air medals. The awards were for dangerous, low-level flights over enemy territory in unarmed light planes. Both flights were made during emergency situations in the spring of 1951.

At Honolulu, Van Fleet will meet Mrs. Van Fleet and spend a few days resting. Then they will travel to San Francisco aboard the ship President Jackson.

Four Persons Hurt

stated. A passenger, John B. Anderson, Rt. 1, Kingston, received bruises of the left leg, but was able to continue to Poughkeepsie, where all three were employed.

The other automobile involved was driven by Egbert E. Freer, 53, of RFD 1, Ulster Park, who told sheriff's men he would consult his own physician for treatment of a lacerated forehead.

Driving on 9W

Freer told Deputy Sheriffs Albert E. Eisele and Benjamin Newkirk that he was driving north on Route 9W and near the foot of the hill approaching Port Ewen his automobile skidded sideways and was in collision with the southbound Hasbrouck vehicle.

Traffic was delayed for a short time until the badly damaged vehicles were pushed to the side and then towed away.

Another accident attributed to slippery road conditions was reported to the sheriff's office by Peter LoBello, 45, of Rosendale. Lo Bello said his automobile and another skidded into each other at 7:52 a. m. on the Connelly road near the shipyard where LoBello is employed. LoBello told Identification Officer Earl Conro that the other vehicle was driven by William Steigerwald of Clay road, Port Ewen. The fronts of both vehicles were damaged, but no personal injuries were reported, LoBello said.

The snow, which began falling at 11 p. m. in the city, ranged in depth from about two and a half inches here to four to five inches in the mountain areas. The wet snow packed quickly on highways, leaving them slippery.

The state Department of Public Works county office began calling its sanding crew members to work at 11:15 p. m. About midnight, the Kingston BPW sanding crews were working, and at 7:30 a. m. today the county highway department sent out its plows.

Auto Union Director Is Killed in Crash

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—George Cranmore, 36, assistant regional director of the CIO Auto Workers Union, was killed early today in an automobile accident near his home in Elmhurst, Queens.

Police said his automobile skidded on the wet pavement on Queens Boulevard and crashed into the rear of a truck. The body was taken to the Queens General Hospital morgue, where it was identified later by a brother.

Cranmore was a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, Queens, in 1951 on the Liberal party ticket and was defeated. He is survived by his widow, Ann, and two children, Susan, 13, and Georgia, nine.

Four Persons Killed

Gaithersburg, Md., Feb. 12 (AP)—A train-auto collision in near-freezing rain and fog here last night killed the car's four occupants, derailed the train and injured about a dozen crewmen and passengers. The train, the Baltimore and Ohio's West Virginian, was on its way to Parkersburg, W. Va., from Washington, D. C., some 25 miles to the southeast. A railroad spokesman said the locomotive and tender and seven of its eight cars jumped the rails when the auto jammed a switch. Police Lt. Paul W. Watkins identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, their son Pete, about 30, and Upton Harding, about 35. Fox worked on a dairy farm near here.

Policeman Paul Hayes keeps afloat a woman tentatively identified as Mrs. May Homer, 56, of San Diego. Police say she apparently jumped off the embarcadero into San Diego harbor. A Coast Guard boat crew took her aboard a few minutes after this picture was taken by Art C. Toth, an amateur photographer, who was nearby. (AP Wirephoto).

Nine Americans in Blast

Tokyo, Feb. 12 (AP)—Nine American passengers, including seven women, and two injured crewmen were taken off the burning freighter President Pierce today after an explosion rocked the vessel about 100 miles southeast of Yokohama. Late reports said the crippled ship of the American President Lines was limping toward Yokohama, escorted by two U. S. Navy ships. A raging fire that gutted three of its holds was extinguished after a battle that lasted several hours.

The balance scale for weighing may be more than 7,000 years old.

12 Men Are Indicted

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Twelve men were indicted here today by a federal grand jury for alleged shipment of arms to Mexico. The 25-page, 11 count indictment charged conspiracy to violate the Neutrality Act. Two of those indicted were Thomas D. Park and Thurman Randle, partners in the Thurman Randle & Company of Dallas, a firm which deals in arms. They are charged with having conspired to violate the arms export provisions of the Neutrality Act, relating to the export in commercial quantities of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

Food Items Are To Be Decontrolled

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Market basket items like milk, butter and eggs were marked for price decontrol this week, amid signs that emergency power to restore economic curbs might be kept.

A top official said a final decision will be made today on a long list of goods tentatively tabbed for removal from price ceilings by Friday or Saturday.

The list makes up 15 per cent of consumer goods in the cost of living index package, he said, and would leave less than that percentage still under control. It includes such things as:

Milk, butter, cheese, poultry, eggs, oleomargarine, cleansers, soap, lard and other shortening; rubber and rubber products; lead, tin, zinc and scrap; pet foods; paper and paper products.

Controls would remain, at least for the time being, on such important items as machinery, most automobiles and scarce metals. But many of these do not have a direct bearing on the consumer.

The exemption of paper products would cover waxed and treated papers, plates and newsprint.

Meeting Is Held

Work on the list began after price officials met with James F. Brownlee, New York investment broker named to help Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming end controls and, at the same time, continue the program to produce scarce materials for defense.

In an interview, Brownlee lent weight to the idea that the Eisenhower administration will stick to a step-by-step erasure of price controls. A one-stroke sudden death had been urged in some quarters.

He spoke of a fast but gradual wiping out of ceilings. He said the job should be finished by mid-April, if not earlier. The controls law expires April 30.

Brownlee, who was deputy price administrator in World War 2, said he favors keeping a standby authority to re-impose controls should an emergency arise. He indicated his job will include helping plan such a program.

"It is virtually impossible to unscramble distorted price situations after they occur," he commented.

Winstons Hit End Of Ice Cream Trail

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—The three Winston brothers, who got in some pretty good licks in assorted flavors over the past 12 months, have reached the end of the free ice cream cone trail.

With the final scoop of vanilla Monday came the expiration of an agreement with their neighborhood ice cream store operator, James R. Gregory. The arrangement was Gregory's way of saying thanks to the boys' father, Cabell G. Winston, who helped catch a gunman who robbed the store a year ago.

By Gregory's official count the boys polished off 3,552 cones during the 52 weeks, Cabell, Jr., 9, said the figure seemed high to him. Stephen, 7, and Kenneth, 6, said it couldn't have been that many.

At that, the 3,552 cones didn't represent the Winston boys' total ice cream take. Gregory also gave the family a free half gallon each week for home consumption. He figured the whole operation cost him about $177, not including a $50 bond he also gave Winston.

Cabell Jr. said he was beginning to miss the free ice cream. In fact, he added, he thought he'd drop by after school today and buy one for a change.

Too Windy for Hoover

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—Cool, windy weather kept former President Herbert Hoover in the hospital overnight but he planned to leave today for a fishing trip in the Florida Keys. The former President went to the hospital Saturday with a mild case of flu but recovered and was reported "up and around" yesterday.

Sioux Indians Want Chief's Skull Back

Portland, Ore., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Sioux Indians want the skull of their renowned chief, Sitting Bull, returned by the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

A Portland attorney said today he had been commissioned to help the Sioux get the skull back so they could properly inter it. That, he quoted the Indians as saying, would permit the chief's "valiant spirit to gain rest in the happy hunting grounds, rather than wander aimlessly."

The Sious want the skull returned to the Standing Rock Agency in North Dakota.

Flood Hits Americans

Esslingen, Germany, Feb. 12 (AP)—The cost of rehabilitating American families stricken by last week's floods in Britain has been estimated at $50,000, the American Red Cross headquarters here reported today. The estimate was made by Robert X. Lewis, the organization's director of operations, who is in England investigating the relief needs of Americans. He said at least 16 Americans were killed and 75 families were left homeless. All were members of the U. S. Air Force or of air force families. Lewis said that funds contributed by American servicemen, the Air Force Aid Society and the Red Cross met the immediate emergency.

Women Marines 10 Years Old

The Women Marines will celebrate their tenth anniversary on February 13, 1953. They will mark the first enlistment of women in the United States Marine Corps which came into being on February 13, 1943. On that date, women answered the leathernecks' appeal to "free a marine to fight," and some of them have been in uniform since. The peak strength of the Women Marines came on July 1, 1945, when 831 officers and 17,578 enlisted women were on duty.

The first director of Women Marines was Major Ruth C. Streeter, who eventually was promoted to colonel. By 1945, Women Marines were assigned to almost every type of non-combatant duty, including motor transport, maintenance, supply and photographic duties. About 40 per cent were assigned to some phase of aviation. The first overseas contingent of five officers and 160 enlisted women reached Hawaii in January, 1945.

After the outbreak of Korean fighting in June, 1950, women again answered the call to active duty with the Women Marines. Presently, 2600 Women Marines, regular and reserve, are on active duty.

Women Marines are serving on all major leatherneck posts and stations. In October, 1951, they returned to Hawaiian scenes and in September, 1952, the first Women Marines went to Europe and are serving at Naples and at Frankfort.

On this 13th day of February, Women Marines throughout the world invite the American people to join in the observance of their tenth anniversary.

Rosenberg Case

of many, many thousands of innocent citizens.

"By their act these two individuals have in fact betrayed the cause of freedom for which free men are fighting and dying at this very hour."

Given Jury Trial

The statement went on: The Rosenbergs were given a jury trial and duly convicted; the conviction was upheld in four appeals; the two "have been accorded their full measure of justice;" there is no new evidence and there are no mitigating circumstances which would justify changing the sentence.

"I have determined that it my duty," Eisenhower said, "in the interest of the people of the United States, not to set aside the verdict of their representatives."

The Rosenbergs were sentenced on April 5, 1951. Morton Sobell, 35, who was tried with them, was sentenced to 30 years in prison. David Greenglass, Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, also got 15 years after furnishing key testimony.

Greengiass testified the Rosenbergs persuaded him to turn over wartime atomic bomb secrets, for relay to a Russian official in New York, which he learned while stationed at the Los Alamos, N. M., A-bomb center in 1944.

Rosenberg is an electrical engineer. He and his wife, the mother of two small sons, were both born in New York.

The gist of the campaign to save their lives was that the death penalty was unduly severe and that they had been convicted largely on the unsupported testimony of Greenglass.

Four Steps Urged

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Daily Worker, Communist party newspaper, today urged four steps to try to stop the execution of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, condemned atom spies whose appeal for executive clemency was rejected yesterday by President Eisenhower.

They are:

"1. Rush wires to President Eisenhower protesting the refusal to commute the death penalty and asking him to reconsider.

"2. Distribute leaflets in all neighborhoods telling the people the truth about the case, urging them to wire President Eisenhower.

"3. To send wires to Judge Irving Kauffman, Federal Court Building, Foley Square, New York City, urging a stay of execution pending new appeals to the supreme court and Eisenhower.

"4. Organize mass meetings, prayer meetings, vigils, picket lines urging clemency."

Lawyers to Ask

prosecution showed the ace up its sleeve.

Mary Jean's father, Burtner Fleeger of Tulsa, Okla., was called to the stand by the prosecution. Dist. Atty. Will Clayton asked Fleeger if he had not taken his daughter on a vacation trip to Hawaii during the time she was supposedly in the Dallas sanitarium.

Visibly flustered, Fleeger said "yes."

That, court room attaches and Clayton thought, was the turning point in the trial, and certainly the most sensational development.

Lt. Parsons, former Pleasantville, N. Y., youth, was found dead in the couple's fashionable El Paso, Tex., apartment after Mary Jean, flanked by attorneys, gave herself up to police.

In a signed statement, introduced as evidence, Mrs. Parsons told of events leading to the killing of her husband of six weeks. There was a quarrel over aid given by the wealthy parents, a sleepy husband telling her to go to hell, and how she placed the gun to his head and pulled the trigger twice.

Before the trial began Jan. 26, two other attempts to try the young woman had failed because of illegal technicalities in the selection of prospective jurors.

Israel Acts Hostile

years of diplomatic relations between the two countries. The Soviets, on May 17, 1948, were the third nation to recognize the then two-day-old Jewish state.

(Twenty-five Israelis were injured yesterday in a new flurry of violence in Tel Aviv. Using stones and their fists, a mob of anti-Communists charged a pro-Soviet rally which had been called to protest the Monday terrorist bombing. Police finally halted the clash.

(The bombing of the Soviet legation followed two partially successful attempts to burn a Russian bookshop in Jerusalem. The terrorist tactics against the Reds were condemned by the Israeli press.)

Witch Law Changed

Dover, Del., Feb. 12 (AP)—It is no longer against the law to practice witchcraft in Delaware. The State Assembly voted yesterday to abolish Delaware's ancient witchcraft law which read in part: "Whoever shall pretend to exercise the art of witchcraft, conjuration, fortune telling or dealing with spirits, shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned not exceeding one year." The colonial law, one of several obsolete statutes discovered by the state's revised code commission, could not be stricken from the books without express approval of the Assembly. Its exact year of origin has been lost in the mists of legislative antiquity.

Killed at Crossing

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—A woman identified from a license in her purse as Mrs. Emery Nelson, 36, of 111-44 179th street, Jamaica, Queens, was killed today when a Jamaica-bound Long Island Rail Road express train struck her car at the Cedar Manor crossing in Queens. The automobile was dragged three blocks. The woman, who was alone, was dead when taken from the wreckage.

Too Windy for Hoover

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—Cool, windy weather kept former President Herbert Hoover in the hospital overnight but he planned to leave today for a fishing trip in the Florida Keys. The former President went to the hospital Saturday with a mild case of flu but recovered and was reported "up and around" yesterday.

Blizzard Hits Europe

London, Feb. 12 (AP)—A blizzard swept northern Europe today, snarling road and rail traffic and isolating many villages. Along the East coast of England and the coasts of Holland and Belgium the weather added to the discomfort of refugees driven from their homes 12 days ago by disastrous floods.

GAY DOGS—Joan Marshman, above, acts as manicurist to the gay dogs who show off their poodle cuts at Cruft's Dog Show, in London. Asked what condition his nails were in, the sad-eyed dog at the head of the line said, —"Rrruff."

Sioux Indians Want Chief's Skull Back

Portland, Ore., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Sioux Indians want the skull of their renowned chief, Sitting Bull, returned by the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

A Portland attorney said today he had been commissioned to help the Sioux get the skull back so they could properly inter it. That, he quoted the Indians as saying, would permit the chief's "valiant spirit to gain rest in the happy hunting grounds, rather than wander aimlessly."

The Sious want the skull returned to the Standing Rock Agency in North Dakota.

Flood Hits Americans

Esslingen, Germany, Feb. 12 (AP)—The cost of rehabilitating American families stricken by last week's floods in Britain has been estimated at $50,000, the American Red Cross headquarters here reported today. The estimate was made by Robert X. Lewis, the organization's director of operations, who is in England investigating the relief needs of Americans. He said at least 16 Americans were killed and 75 families were left homeless. All were members of the U. S. Air Force or of air force families. Lewis said that funds contributed by American servicemen, the Air Force Aid Society and the Red Cross met the immediate emergency.

Women Marines 10 Years Old

The Women Marines will celebrate their tenth anniversary on February 13, 1953. They will mark the first enlistment of women in the United States Marine Corps which came into being on February 13, 1943. On that date, women answered the leathernecks' appeal to "free a marine to fight," and some of them have been in uniform since. The peak strength of the Women Marines came on July 1, 1945, when 831 officers and 17,578 enlisted women were on duty.

The first director of Women Marines was Major Ruth C. Streeter, who eventually was promoted to colonel. By 1945, Women Marines were assigned to almost every type of non-combatant duty, including motor transport, maintenance, supply and photographic duties. About 40 per cent were assigned to some phase of aviation. The first overseas contingent of five officers and 160 enlisted women reached Hawaii in January, 1945.

After the outbreak of Korean fighting in June, 1950, women again answered the call to active duty with the Women Marines. Presently, 2600 Women Marines, regular and reserve, are on active duty.

Women Marines are serving on all major leatherneck posts and stations. In October, 1951, they returned to Hawaiian scenes and in September, 1952, the first Women Marines went to Europe and are serving at Naples and at Frankfort.

On this 13th day of February, Women Marines throughout the world invite the American people to join in the observance of their tenth anniversary.

Rosenberg Case

of many, many thousands of innocent citizens.

"By their act these two individuals have in fact betrayed the cause of freedom for which free men are fighting and dying at this very hour."

Given Jury Trial

The statement went on: The Rosenbergs were given a jury trial and duly convicted; the conviction was upheld in four appeals; the two "have been accorded their full measure of justice;" there is no new evidence and there are no mitigating circumstances which would justify changing the sentence.

"I have determined that it my duty," Eisenhower said, "in the interest of the people of the United States, not to set aside the verdict of their representatives."

The Rosenbergs were sentenced on April 5, 1951. Morton Sobell, 35, who was tried with them, was sentenced to 30 years in prison. David Greenglass, Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, also got 15 years after furnishing key testimony.

Greenglass testified the Rosenbergs persuaded him to turn over wartime atomic bomb secrets, for relay to a Russian official in New York, which he learned while stationed at the Los Alamos, N. M., A-bomb center in 1944.

Rosenberg is an electrical engineer. He and his wife, the mother of two small sons, were both born in New York.

The gist of the campaign to save their lives was that the death penalty was unduly severe and that they had been convicted largely on the unsupported testimony of Greenglass.

Four Steps Urged

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Daily Worker, Communist party newspaper, today urged four steps to try to stop the execution of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, condemned atom spies whose appeal for executive clemency was rejected yesterday by President Eisenhower.

They are:

"1. Rush wires to President Eisenhower protesting the refusal to commute the death penalty and asking him to reconsider.

"2. Distribute leaflets in all neighborhoods telling the people the truth about the case, urging them to wire President Eisenhower.

"3. To send wires to Judge Irving Kauffman, Federal Court Building, Foley Square, New York City, urging a stay of execution pending new appeals to the supreme court and Eisenhower.

"4. Organize mass meetings, prayer meetings, vigils, picket lines urging clemency."

Israel Acts Hostile

years of diplomatic relations between the two countries. The Soviets, on May 17, 1948, were the third nation to recognize the then two-day-old Jewish state.

(Twenty-five Israelis were injured yesterday in a new flurry of violence in Tel Aviv. Using stones and their fists, a mob of anti-Communists charged a pro-Soviet rally which had been called to protest the Monday terrorist bombing. Police finally halted the clash.

(The bombing of the Soviet legation followed two partially successful attempts to burn a Russian bookshop in Jerusalem. The terrorist tactics against the Reds were condemned by the Israeli press.)

Within New Hampshire's 9341-square-mile area are 1300 ponds and lakes, four major river systems, and hundreds of minor rivers and brooks.

Witch Law Changed

Dover, Del., Feb. 12 (AP)—It is no longer against the law to practice witchcraft in Delaware. The State Assembly voted yesterday to abolish Delaware's ancient witchcraft law which read in part: "Whoever shall pretend to exercise the art of witchcraft, conjuration, fortune telling or dealing with spirits, shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned not exceeding one year." The colonial law, one of several obsolete statutes discovered by the state's revised code commission, could not be stricken from the books without express approval of the Assembly. Its exact year of origin has been lost in the mists of legislative antiquity.

Killed at Crossing

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—A woman identified from a license in her purse as Mrs. Emery Nelson, 36, of 111-44 179th street, Jamaica, Queens, was killed today when a Jamaica-bound Long Island Rail Road express train struck her car at the Cedar Manor crossing in Queens. The automobile was dragged three blocks. The woman, who was alone, was dead when taken from the wreckage.

Licenses Ready For Truck Owners

Instructions have been received at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office for issuance of commercial vehicle licenses under the new truck license regulations and truckmen may now obtain their 1953 tags. Owners of trucks and trailers have until March 2 to obtain the new license plates.

Under the new arrangement the owner may put in his own maximum load figures rather than the load limits which were formerly contained in the truck formula schedule. The fee is $2.50 for each 500 pounds of load or any fraction thereof. Trailer fees are also based on the $2.50 per 500 pounds or fraction thereof regulation but the fee for "agriculture" or farm truck and trailers is based on a fee of $1.75 for each 500 pounds of carrying capacity or fraction thereof.

Under the old formula a specific load schedule was used and the fee was figured from that schedule. Many truckmen who never carried capacity loads objected to paying for a license based on a maximum carrying capacity which they never used. Under the new regulation the owner of a large truck will not be required to pay for the maximum carrying capacity but rather for the maximum load which he intends to carry on that particular vehicle.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Col. Smith Story Is Told in Times

Woodstock, Feb. 12—In a recent release through the U. S. Army in Korea, the experiences in Korea of Col. Ridgway P. Smith, Jr., nephew of Miss Anita Smith and Mrs. Fredrica Milne, both of this village, were related in the New York Times and in the Herald Statesman, Yonkers, written to his father, Col. Ridgway Smith, Sr., of 1 Amberson avenue, Yonkers.

Col. Smith, Jr., before his departure for Korea, was the guest last summer of Miss Smith and Mrs. Milne at their respective homes here. He has been serving in Korea as senior adviser to one of the two corps of Republic of Korea troops.

"Col. Smith, Jr.," the Herald Statesman reported, "while unable to describe most of his work because of security regulations, has told of dealing with the top ROK military leaders and of meeting President Syngman Rhee of Korea. He served directly under Gen. James A. Van Fleet." Col. Smith was pictured in an informal conference with the Eighth Army Commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

Col. Smith, Jr., was awarded his third Silver Star decoration for action on the Korean front while in service with a Korean unit. No further details, however, were available.

"According to the Army," the Herald Statesman said, "Col. Smith, Jr., is engaging in a program 'that is supervising a training and revitalization program for the entire Republic of Korea Army.'

"Col. Smith, Jr., was graduated from West Point in 1936 and served in the Philippines until 1939, when he was recalled to the United States to attend courses at the Infantry and Armored Schools at Fort Benning, Ga.

"He served under another leading American general when he was assigned as a company commander in the 67th Armored Regiment, commanded by the then Col. George Patton. Col. Smith later became commander of that same regiment.

"As head of the 67th, Col. Smith led an assault in rubber boats across the Inn River in Austria to capture Hitler's birthplace.

After V-E day Col. Smith was a military attache in Brussels and in 1948 was made head of the tactics department at the Armored School, Fort Knox, Ky. He volunteered for Korean duty in 1951."

Sluizers Fly Today To Stricken Holland

Woodstock, Feb. 12—As the result of a short-notice trip to Holland and France, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Sluizer, who left this village today to fly directly to Holland, are the bearers of works by well-known Woodstock artists to be sold for the benefit of the flood-stricken victims in the Netherlands.

When Konrad Cramer and his wife Florence Ballin Cramer heard that the Sluizers had received a call from his family in Holland and would leave by air on Friday, Mrs. Cramer suggested that Woodstock artists might help in the flood relief. Most of Wednesday was spent by the Cramers and the Sluizers asking their artist friends for contributions. By late Wednesday night an impressive list of Woodstock artists had contributed drawings and works which will be taken to Holland by the Sluizers.

Edward Chavez, one of last years' Fulbright award winners, has contributed not only work by himself but a drawing by his late wife Jenne Magafan. Other Woodstock artists whose work was hurriedly packed for shipment were Ethel Magafan, Mark Vukovic, Rosella Hartman, Brock, Andree Ruellan, John Taylor, Fletcher Martin, Marianne Appel, the late Austin Mecklem, Emmet Edwards and Kurt Sluizer.

The Sluizers, who will be in Europe for the next six weeks, visiting first in Holland and later in Nice, France, regret only that there was such short notice in rounding up the work of the Woodstock artists, and wish that there had been more time to include many more who would also have contributed if they had been available.

He also directed the Repertory Theatre of the Air over CFRB and the productions of the Shakespeare Society of Toronto. During the war he produced and directed United Services Plays at the Rudolph Steiner Theatre, London, England. Betts is the author of several plays and articles on the theatre.

Wait Pays Off

Salt Lake City (AP)—A boy has been declared the legal owner of $4.26 he found. Nine-year-old Donald Anderson found the money in a purse while playing near his home here. His mother, Mrs. Sherwood M. Anderson, turned it over to the police department. For seven months the money remained at police headquarters — unclaimed. Then the City Commission, in formal action, declared Donald the legal owner of the money.

European Swallows

For many centuries it was believed that European swallows, which spend the winter in Africa, buried themselves in river mud for the winter.

Why We Say--

. . . Over water

This word was used by sailors to mean "above the water line." Under the water things were hidden, but above the water everything could be plainly seen. The term came to be applied to things and persons who were frank and honest.

Happy End to 'Wild East' Drama

Donald Reed, 13, hugs his pinto Apache after adventures at East Bridgewater, Mass., that make cowboy thrillers seem tame. Here's the real-life drama in six acts: (1) Horse, startled by rabbit, throws Donald. (2) Horse runs out on railroad trestle and catches legs between ties. (3) Donald halts approaching freight. (4) Has railroad notified to stop train coming from opposite direction. (5) Tries to free horse, which struggles and falls 25 feet into river, plunging out of sight. (6) Horse rises to surface as Donald runs down bank, plunges in to shoulders and helps horse ashore. Curtain. (AP Wirephoto).

He Emptied Bottle

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Jack Kilpatrick became alarmed when she found son Kevin, 2½, with an empty cough medicine bottle in his hand and the odor of medicine on his breath. She rushed the child to a hospital where little Kevin, bawling mightily, had his stomach pumped. Then Mrs. Kilpatrick called her husband, editor of the Richmond News-Leader, to tell him what happened. "Darling," he answered in a strained voice, "I finished taking the whole bottle of medicine during the night. It was empty when I left the house this morning before anybody else was out of bed."

A tennis court built in 1529 by King Henry VIII, of England, at Hampton Castle, still is in use today.

"What's up, Mac? What're they doing?"

It happens to everybody. You. You walk down the street, see a crowd, join it, and watch some strange goings-on. Then you tap somebody on the shoulder and ask what's up—even though you can see what's up with your own eyes.

Chances are that he doesn't know what's going on any more than you do. Chances are he'll have to get a newspaper to find out —just as you will.

Then, for the first time, you'll discover that the firemen on the ladder were trying to reach a young man who had escaped from the police and climbed a pole.

It's great to be on the spot at a football game . . . or political gathering . . . or hear and see any burst of excitement. It stimulates your appetite for the whole story.

But being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

• This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air . . . or brief headlines here or there . . . may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ads themselves have the same important local quality. No other medium can match this quality.

Add to all this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, not just fractions of audiences, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

By RICHARD E THIBAUT, Jr.

Col. Smith Story Is Told in Times

Woodstock, Feb. 12—In a recent release through the U. S. Army in Korea, the experiences in Korea of Col. Ridgway P. Smith, Jr., nephew of Miss Anita Smith and Mrs. Fredrica Milne, both of this village, were related in the New York Times and in the Herald Statesman, Yonkers, written to his father, Col. Ridgway Smith, Sr., of 1 Amberson avenue, Yonkers.

Col. Smith, Jr., before his departure for Korea, was the guest last summer of Miss Smith and Mrs. Milne at their respective homes here. He has been serving in Korea as senior adviser to one of the two corps of Republic of Korea troops.

"Col. Smith, Jr.," the Herald Statesman reported, "while unable to describe most of his work because of security regulations, has told of dealing with the top ROK military leaders and of meeting President Syngman Rhee of Korea. He served directly under Gen. James A. Van Fleet." Col. Smith was pictured in an informal conference with the Eighth Army Commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

Col. Smith, Jr., was awarded his third Silver Star decoration for action on the Korean front while in service with a Korean unit. No further details, however, were available.

"According to the Army," the Herald Statesman said, "Col. Smith, Jr., is engaging in a program 'that is supervising a training and revitalization program for the entire Republic of Korea Army.'

Cancer Society Delegates Attend Training Institute

Three delegates from the Ulster county branch of the American Cancer Society attended the fifth annual training institute which that organization held for its field army volunteers at Syracuse on February 2-3. Participating with representatives from 53 other upstate counties were: Mrs. Edwin Shumate of Lomontville, Ulster county field army director, Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen of Kingston, executive secretary of the county branch, and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds of Kingston, deputy chairman of the local dressings program.

Keynoted by the topic The Cancer Crusade in Action, the two-day session featured speakers and forums designed to present to the volunteer workers the latest findings both in the scientific and lay fields of action in the fight against cancer.

One high point of interest was a talk given by Dr. Ivan Smith, director of the Victoria Hospital Cancer Clinic in London, Ontario, Canada, on the Cobalt Bomb, the new radio-active weapon which has been developed by a group of physicists and engineers in conjunction with the National Research Council, the Atomic Energy Commission of Canada and the University of Saskatchewan.

In the field of therapeutics, Miss Doris Berryman, director of recreational therapy at Memorial City in New York city, gave an illustrated talk on the progress being made in the rehabilitation of cancer patients at that institution.

The puppet show, created by Betty Lou Bryant of Lomontville, was featured on the program and has been designated as a regular feature in the educational program on a statewide level.

BAD MANNERS INDICATE IGNORANCE

The following letter speaks for itself: "I am a boy in my early teens, and mother is forever criticizing my manners. She says that when she was a young girl, boys always stood up whenever a lady came into a room, etc. If I followed these practices I'd be the laughing-stock of my friends and be called a sissy. I have tried to tell her that these courtesies are outmoded and that one follows what everyone else is doing at the present time. She insists that what was good manners in her day is still good manners. Your comments will be appreciated."

I am sorry for your sake that I have to agree with your mother. To stand up when a lady comes into the room in which you are sitting does not make you a sissy, but not to stand up makes you a lout! Bad manners show ignorance and ignorance is never a credit.

Too Eager for Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to my boy friend's house to dinner for the first time on Valentine's day. I thought it would be nice to take his mother a heart-shaped box of candy, the day being what it is. My mother thinks it would be wrong to do this. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: In spite of the day, I do not think you should take his mother anything. If the boy were to take a present to your mother, that would be very courteous.

Rule Altered

Dear Mrs. Post: We're moving to another city where we do have some friends. Through our visits with them we have met other people who, upon learning that we were moving to their town, asked us to let them know when we were settled. We wondered if we may give them first invitations. Ordinarily I would have hesitated to do this.

Answer: You certainly may let them know through your friends that you would like very much to have them come see you.

Cancer Society Delegates Attend Training Institute

Three delegates from the Ulster county branch of the American Cancer Society attended the fifth annual training institute which that organization held for its field army volunteers at Syracuse on February 2-3. Participating with representatives from 53 other upstate counties were: Mrs. Edwin Shumate of Lomontville, Ulster county field army director, Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen of Kingston, executive secretary of the county branch, and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds of Kingston, deputy chairman of the local dressings program.

Keynoted by the topic The Cancer Crusade in Action, the two-day session featured speakers and forums designed to present to the volunteer workers the latest findings both in the scientific and lay fields of action in the fight against cancer.

One high point of interest was a talk given by Dr. Ivan Smith, director of the Victoria Hospital Cancer Clinic in London, Ontario, Canada, on the Cobalt Bomb, the new radio-active weapon which has been developed by a group of physicists and engineers in conjunction with the National Research Council, the Atomic Energy Commission of Canada and the University of Saskatchewan.

In the field of therapeutics, Miss Doris Berryman, director of recreational therapy at Memorial City in New York city, gave an illustrated talk on the progress being made in the rehabilitation of cancer patients at that institution.

The puppet show, created by Betty Lou Bryant of Lomontville, was featured on the program and has been designated as a regular feature in the educational program on a statewide level.

BAD MANNERS INDICATE IGNORANCE

The following letter speaks for itself: "I am a boy in my early teens, and mother is forever criticizing my manners. She says that when she was a young girl, boys always stood up whenever a lady came into a room, etc. If I followed these practices I'd be the laughing-stock of my friends and be called a sissy. I have tried to tell her that these courtesies are outmoded and that one follows what everyone else is doing at the present time. She insists that what was good manners in her day is still good manners. Your comments will be appreciated."

I am sorry for your sake that I have to agree with your mother. To stand up when a lady comes into the room in which you are sitting does not make you a sissy, but not to stand up makes you a lout! Bad manners show ignorance and ignorance is never a credit.

Too Eager for Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to my boy friend's house to dinner for the first time on Valentine's day. I thought it would be nice to take his mother a heart-shaped box of candy, the day being what it is. My mother thinks it would be wrong to do this. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: In spite of the day, I do not think you should take his mother anything. If the boy were to take a present to your mother, that would be very courteous.

Faculty-City Hall Basketball Game Is Scheduled for Tonight

Polio Benefit Likely to Draw Jampacked House

Rival Coaches Reveal 'Strategy'

If life is sad and dreary for you and you cannot muster a smile, come to the municipal auditorium around 8 o'clock tonight.

You'd be surprised how your outlook on life will be changed after watching Coach G. Warren Kias' KHS Faculty cagers battle Andy Murphy's City Hall All Stars.

If you're a basketball purist you will be intrigued by the ingenious methods by which baskets can be scored. And it's all for a worthy cause—the March of Dimes.

If you're looking for laughs, this is the place.

High school students will be on hand several hundred strong to cheer and jeer the Faculty. If the Faculty is subjected to a sound thumping there will be much levity and little work accomplished Friday at the high school. If the Faculty wins, the students had better stay home.

Both managers oozed confidence in the final pre-game statements.

Count on Culver

Coach G. Warren Kias said he would start three athletic coaches —John Gilligan, Al Gruner and Bill Hurley, along with Dick Whiston and Guido Zambernardi.

And what about "Long Shot" Culver?

"He'll come in later and anytime the going gets rough," Kias countered. "We know what he can do under pressure. The city hall outfit will think Theron is using trolley wires when he starts bombarding the baskets," Kias added.

The Maroon coach thought for a moment and then said:

'I notice they have some cops in that city hall lineup, but I hope they don't start blowing the whistle on us when traffic gets congested around our basket."

Andy Murphy, the City Hall mentor, revealed that the swivel-chair experts are banking heavily on Mayor Newkirk.

"Newkirk's hook shots should carry us through," Andy pointed out. "I plan to use Hizzoner only until we build up a good lead and then send him off to the fish and game meeting at the court house.

Strategy Mapped

The rival mentors have mapped diversified styles of attack. Coach G. Warren Kias said he would employ the fast break "at least on the first play, if nobody fumbles the ball or stumbles." "After that," he added, "we may have to operate from the set position.

"I plan no particular style of defense," said the coach, "except that we figure they'll fumble every so often and we'll be there to pick up the ball."

Murphy declined to reveal all the City Hall secrets (they never do, you know) but hinted at a sliding zone defense and the four-hand dribble.

"Then again, we may scrap the zone," he added. "If we start our biggest team, I doubt if the Faculty can get around, through or between them.

"The four-hand dribble is something else," he pointed out. "Of course, the ideal situation is to have one man dribble the ball, but we may have to improvise and assign two men to the job tonight."

English Team Wins Ice Dance Title

Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 12 (AP)—Lawrence Demmy and Jean Westwood of Manchester, England, won the world's ice dancing championship today, foxtrotting their way on skates to their second successive world title.

Demmy, a 21-year-old serviceman, and his blonde partner easily outskated and outdanced the field of 12 couples from five nations. They were awarded first place by four of the five judges and finished with a placement total of six and 37.05 points.

Joan Dewhirst and John Slater, another British couple from Manchester, finished second with ten placement and 36.61 total points.

Carol Ann Peters and Daniel Ryan, of Washington, D. C. finished third with a placement of 14 and 35.05 points. Miss Peters is a student at St. Lawrence University and Ryan is an army corporal.

Another U. S. couple, Virginia Hoyns of New York and Donaly Jacoby of Philadelphia finished fifth with a placement total of 23 and 33.69 points.

Fourth place went to Nesta Davies and Paul Thomas, a British couple from London, with placement total of 22 and 34.12 points.

Houston AAU Team Topped Pro Offer To Land Texas Ace

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
(NEA Sports Writer)
(4th of a Series)

Eddie Gottlieb, a professional basketball promoter over 30 years can't fathom him—a pro—being outbid by amateurs.

Eddie owns the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association, and last summer he lined up 6-foot-8 Walt Davis of Texas A & M. Davis was the 1952 Olympic high jump champion.

"Walt," recounts Gottlieb, "was in the bag before the went over to Helsinki—till AAU officials began talking to him. When he got back he said the Ada Oilers of Houston, Texas, topped my first offer by $1,000. That meant they offered him a $7,500 job right out of college."

$8000 Counter Offer

Gottleib countered with an offer of $8,000 annually on a two-year non-release contract (almost unheard of for an untested rookie) plus a $1000 bonus for signing and a $800 gift for his wife "to go out and buy a fur coat."

"He turned me down," shrugs Gottleib. "So I asked, 'What would it take to get you?' He answers, '$19,000 for two years and $500 for the fur coat.'

"That's when I threw up my hands."

Ada Got Him Okay

Davis went to work playing basketball and high-jumping for Ada and was nominated, along with Phillips' Bob Kurland, for the Sullivan Award, given annually to the man or woman who has contributed most to the advancement of amateur sport.

The Ada Oilers, new to the industrial league this year, were created by K. S. (Buddy) Adams, Jr., president of the company, a distributor of Phillips products. His father, K. S. (Boots) Adams, Sr., is chairman of the board of Phillips, and the man who created the Phillips Oilers.

Howard Schmidt, the coach, is a Phillips employe in Houston, as is 6-10 Bill Klein. Around the industrial circuit Ada is ribbed as the Phillips "farm team."

Also on the roster are Johnny Stanich, who used to play with the Phillips Oilers, quit to join the Denver Chevrolets and now shows up at Houston in its venture into basketball. With him came J. L. Parks from Denver. Six-foot-eight Paul Sullivan trekked in from the University of Alabama.

Like Phillips, Ada carts the team in its own plane, piloted by Freddie Walcott, the old Rice hurdler who doubles as Davis' track trainer. Walt also made all the major track meets until shelved by an ankle injury.

All of which prompts old pro entrepeneur Gottleib to claim, "Why they're bigger pros than us."

Defending Champion Wins Nassau Sail Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 12 (AP)—Defending champion Caribbee led a fleet of 20 yachts into Nassau harbor today and apparently won the 184-mile Miami to Nassau sailing race for the second successive year.

Caribbee reached Nassau harbor at 11:32 p. m. (EST) Wednesday night to make her elapsed time 35 hours, 32 minutes and 43 seconds and a correct time of 32:52:18.

Caribbee, 57-foot yawl owned by Carleton Mitchell of Annapolis, Md., was far ahead of her rivals and the race committee saw little chance of any other craft winning on corrected time, despite their handicaps.

Baxter Still's 68-foot cutter, Doris III, representing the Miami Yacht Club, was a distant second and the Caribbee held a two-hour handicap on Still's yacht.

Jacobo Cabassa's Larry, winner of the Lipton Cup race last week, was in third place.

Gavilan Seeks Turpin-Olson Winner After Stopping Davey

Last night's blasting of the Davey invincibility myth by the killer from Cuba was exploded before an announced Chicago Stadium crowd of 17,450 which paid a record welter bout gross gate of $275,454. Gavilan weighed 146½, Davey 147.

"It's now middleweight for me," said the jaunty Gavilan, unmarked after his 10th round TKO triumph. "I want take on Turpin or Olson. Either one after this tournament business."

He was referring to the elimination tourney proposed to screen some 11 contenders for Sugar Ray Robinson's vacated 160-pound title.

"Let Turpin or Olson find out who is champion and then I fight that guy," said Gavilan, who already has licked five of the middleweights trying to elbow into the title picture.

At the end of the fight Davey was gasping desperately for breath on his stool. Unable to come out for the 10th round, Gavilan had knocked him down four times in the battle—once in the third and three times in the brutal ninth.

This match—or mis-match—as ring experts contended since it first was announced—was a cruel awakening to the legions of TV fans mesmerized by Davey's cute southpaw style which had riddled two washed-up ex-champions, Ike Williams and Rocky Graziano, to vault him against Gavilan.

And yet, on points, Davey was making a battle of it. This was because Gavilan let Chuck get off the hook in the third round and then fooled around by switching southpaw himself in the fifth and part of the sixth round.

Gavilan said after the fight that he knew he could put Davey away any time after the third. Even fighting as a left-hander, Gavilan was accorded no worse than a draw in the fifth and sixth and one official even gave him both rounds. But the maneuver underscored the fact that the Kid was not rushing a knockout.

It was Davey's trainer, Issy Kline, who prevented Chuck from staggering out for the 10th round, as Davey wanted to do.

"I had the doctor (Irving Slott of the Illinois Athletic Commission) look at Chuck," said Kline. "He was gasping for breath from a punch to the Adam's apple. He suggested we call it quits. I'd have done it anyway. If Davey went out for that 10th, he'd have been killed."

The beginning of the end came in the eighth when Gavilan opened a gash on Davey's right cheekbone. Davey came out fighting in the ninth apparently determined to exchange punch for punch with the Kid.

A jolting right floored Davey in the middle of the ring. The birdies still were singing when Chuck arose at a nine count. Gavilan smashed a left hook that floored Davey again for nine.

Gavilan moved in for the kill. His right hand punches blurred in a tattoo on the groggy Davey's head and sent him reeling through the ropes and nearly completely out of the ring. He sprawled on the ring apron and might have slipped off except surprised photographers held up their arms for protection and steadied Davey for the instant he needed to regain balance.

Davey staggered to his feet at the count of nine just before the bell ended the round. It was obvious that between-rounds ministrations would be of little or no help.

It was a good pay day for Gavilan. He collected approximately $85,000 for his 40 per cent slice of the announced net gate of $211,415. Davey got 20 per cent, or about $42,500.

Manhattan Ready For Track Defense

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Manhattan College's powerful track team has served notice that it's ready for a successful defense of its indoor IC4-A title on Feb. 21.

The Jaspers won seven of the 13 events in the Metropolitan Intercollegiate championships yesterday to record their fourth straight victory in the "MET" meet. The Jaspers set one meet record and tied another while piling up 78 points, more than the combined total of the second and third teams.

St. John's was a distant second with 40½ points, while Columbia had 30½ and the rest of the field was Fordham 20, NYU 14, Brooklyn College 5 and City College 1.

Almost Ties Record

Steve Dillion supplied the new meet mark for Manhattan when he tossed the 35-pound weight 60 feet 6⅛ inches. This was far over the meet figure and within five inches of the world record for the event.

The tieing mark was achieved by Charley Pratt, who has been running in the shadow of Harrison Dillard during the indoor season. Pratt skimmed over the 60-yard high hurdles in 0:07.7.

Columbia supplied two meet record breakers as Al Thompson threw the 16-pound shot 52 feet 5½ inches and George Shaw leaped 24 feet 2¾ inches in the broad jump.

The winner of the $100,000 Widener race at Hialeah will receive a silver gilt cup 136 years old.

Eddie Gottleib, a professional basketball promoter over 30 years can't fathom him—a pro—being outbid by amateurs.

Eddie owns the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association, and last summer he lined up 6-foot-8 Walt Davis of Texas A & M. Davis was the 1952 Olympic high jump champion.

"Walt," recounts Gottleib, "was in the bag before the went over to Helsinki—till AAU officials began talking to him. When he got back he said the Ada Oilers of Houston, Texas, topped my first offer by $1,000. That meant they offered him a $7,500 job right out of college."

$8000 Counter Offer

Gottleib countered with an offer of $8,000 annually on a two-year non-release contract (almost unheard of for an untested rookie) plus a $1000 bonus for signing and a $800 gift for his wife "to go out and buy a fur coat."

"He turned me down," shrugs Gottleib. "So I asked, 'What would it take to get you?' He answers, '$19,000 for two years and $500 for the fur coat.'

"That's when I threw up my hands."

Ada Got Him Okay

Davis went to work playing basketball and high-jumping for Ada and was nominated, along with Phillips' Bob Kurland, for the Sullivan Award, given annually to the man or woman who has contributed most to the advancement of amateur sport.

The Ada Oilers, new to the industrial league this year, were created by K. S. (Buddy) Adams, Jr., president of the company, a distributor of Phillips products. His father, K. S. (Boots) Adams, Sr., is chairman of the board of Phillips, and the man who created the Phillips Oilers.

Howard Schmidt, the coach, is a Phillips employe in Houston, as is 6-10 Bill Klein. Around the industrial circuit Ada is ribbed as the Phillips "farm team."

Also on the roster are Johnny Stanich, who used to play with the Phillips Oilers, quit to join the Denver Chevrolets and now shows up at Houston in its venture into basketball. With him came J. L. Parks from Denver. Six-foot-eight Paul Sullivan trekked in from the University of Alabama.

Like Phillips, Ada carts the team in its own plane, piloted by Freddie Walcott, the old Rice hurdler who doubles as Davis' track trainer. Walt also made all the major track meets until shelved by an ankle injury.

All of which prompts old pro entrepeneur Gottleib to claim, "Why they're bigger pros than us."

Defending Champion Wins Nassau Sail Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 12 (AP)—Defending champion Caribbee led a fleet of 20 yachts into Nassau harbor today and apparently won the 184-mile Miami to Nassau sailing race for the second successive year.

Caribbee reached Nassau harbor at 11:32 p. m. (EST) Wednesday night to make her elapsed time 35 hours, 32 minutes and 43 seconds and a correct time of 32:52:18.

Caribbee, 57-foot yawl owned by Carleton Mitchell of Annapolis, Md., was far ahead of her rivals and the race committee saw little chance of any other craft winning on corrected time, despite their handicaps.

Baxter Still's 68-foot cutter, Doris III, representing the Miami Yacht Club, was a distant second and the Caribbee held a two-hour handicap on Still's yacht.

Jacobo Cabassa's Larry, winner of the Lipton Cup race last week, was in third place.

Last night's blasting of the Davey invincibility myth by the killer from Cuba was exploded before an announced Chicago Stadium crowd of 17,450 which paid a record welter bout gross gate of $275,454. Gavilan weighed 146½, Davey 147.

"It's now middleweight for me," said the jaunty Gavilan, unmarked after his 10th round TKO triumph. "I want take on Turpin or Olson. Either one after this tournament business."

He was referring to the elimination tourney proposed to screen some 11 contenders for Sugar Ray Robinson's vacated 160-pound title.

"Let Turpin or Olson find out who is champion and then I fight that guy," said Gavilan, who already has licked five of the middleweights trying to elbow into the title picture.

At the end of the fight Davey was gasping desperately for breath on his stool. Unable to come out for the 10th round, Gavilan had knocked him down four times in the battle—once in the third and three times in the brutal ninth.

This match—or mis-match—as ring experts contended since it first was announced—was a cruel awakening to the legions of TV fans mesmerized by Davey's cute southpaw style which had riddled two washed-up ex-champions, Ike Williams and Rocky Graziano, to vault him against Gavilan.

And yet, on points, Davey was making a battle of it. This was because Gavilan let Chuck get off the hook in the third round and then fooled around by switching southpaw himself in the fifth and part of the sixth round.

Gavilan said after the fight that he knew he could put Davey away any time after the third. Even fighting as a left-hander, Gavilan was accorded no worse than a draw in the fifth and sixth and one official even gave him both rounds. But the maneuver underscored the fact that the Kid was not rushing a knockout.

It was Davey's trainer, Issy Kline, who prevented Chuck from staggering out for the 10th round, as Davey wanted to do.

"I had the doctor (Irving Slott of the Illinois Athletic Commission) look at Chuck," said Kline. "He was gasping for breath from a punch to the Adam's apple. He suggested we call it quits. I'd have done it anyway. If Davey went out for that 10th, he'd have been killed."

The beginning of the end came in the eighth when Gavilan opened a gash on Davey's right cheekbone. Davey came out fighting in the ninth apparently determined to exchange punch for punch with the Kid.

A jolting right floored Davey in the middle of the ring. The birdies still were singing when Chuck arose at a nine count. Gavilan smashed a left hook that floored Davey again for nine.

Gavilan moved in for the kill. His right hand punches blurred in a tattoo on the groggy Davey's head and sent him reeling through the ropes and nearly completely out of the ring. He sprawled on the ring apron and might have slipped off except surprised photographers held up their arms for protection and steadied Davey for the instant he needed to regain balance.

Davey staggered to his feet at the count of nine just before the bell ended the round. It was obvious that between-rounds ministrations would be of little or no help.

It was a good pay day for Gavilan. He collected approximately $85,000 for his 40 per cent slice of the announced net gate of $211,415. Davey got 20 per cent, or about $42,500.

Manhattan Ready For Track Defense

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Manhattan College's powerful track team has served notice that it's ready for a successful defense of its indoor IC4-A title on Feb. 21.

The Jaspers won seven of the 13 events in the Metropolitan Intercollegiate championships yesterday to record their fourth straight victory in the "MET" meet. The Jaspers set one meet record and tied another while piling up 78 points, more than the combined total of the second and third teams.

St. John's was a distant second with 40½ points, while Columbia had 30½ and the rest of the field was Fordham 20, NYU 14, Brooklyn College 5 and City College 1.

Almost Ties Record

Steve Dillion supplied the new meet mark for Manhattan when he tossed the 35-pound weight 60 feet 6⅛ inches. This was far over the meet figure and within five inches of the world record for the event.

The tieing mark was achieved by Charley Pratt, who has been running in the shadow of Harrison Dillard during the indoor season. Pratt skimmed over the 60-yard high hurdles in 0:07.7.

Columbia supplied two meet record breakers as Al Thompson threw the 16-pound shot 52 feet 5½ inches and George Shaw leaped 24 feet 2¾ inches in the broad jump.

The winner of the $100,000 Widener race at Hialeah will receive a silver gilt cup 136 years old.

High School Skiers Enter Placid's Winter Carnival

Four-Man Squad In Class A Meet

Kingston High School's four-man ski squad, one a legendary name in the sport, leave for Lake Placid today where they will compete in the annual King Winter Carnival sponsored by Lake Placid High School on Friday and Saturday.

Class B champions in 1952, the Maroon squad has been elevated to Class A competition and will compete against the best high school skiers in the northeastern area of the country.

Selected by Dot Hoyt Nebel of the Belleayre Mt. Ski School, the team includes holdovers Louis Kuntz, Jack Effner and Roger Billings, the football quarterback.

The fourth member is Kenny Tokle, who is a nephew of the late, famous Torger Tokle and Art Tokle.

Three Davenports

Three members of the Davenport family were selected for the distaff representation, who will compete as individuals only, there being no team competition for girls.

In Class A, the high school skiers must compete in the Downhill, Slalom and Cross country events. The competition will be stiffer, of course, and the Downhill and Slalom courses are longer and more difficult.

Lack of snow has limited the practice sessions but the varsity squad has been working on Downhill and Slalom with untiring enthusiasm whenever conditions permitted.

Section Nine Meet

The KHS skiers will also defend their Section 9 championship on Saturday, Feb. 28, at the Highmount Ski Center.

Leighton Cree, of the Pearl River High School, will be in charge of the event. This competition is open to larger groups and Miss Pat Nolton, the KHS faculty adviser to the ski team, plans to line up a large Kingston entry.

Presbyterians rallied with 23 points in the final period to shade Redeemer Lutheran, 63-61, in the finest exhibition in the Protestant Church League this season, last night on the Y boards.

In the companion piece, Trinity Lutheran overwhelmed Progressive Baptist, 66-23.

Three straight 16-point periods enabled the Redeemer Lutherans to lead the Presbyterians, 48-40, at the end of three periods. Then came a red hot streak by Bob Alward, Guy Crosby and Paul Stang to wrap up the Presby triumph as the Redeemers were outdistanced, 23-13.

Crosby was top scorer with 21 points for the winners. Alward hit 14 and Stang rimmed 17. Individual honors went to Earl Schoonmaker of the Lutherans with 24. Paul Steinmiller racked up 19 and John Smith had 10.

Dobler-Hilltop Quintet Beaten After Five Wins

A new Kingston basketball combination known as the Dobler-Hilltoppers had a five-game winning streak shattered by the Lincoln Center team of Poughkeepsie, 72-69, last night at Poughkeepsie.

Manager William Mahoney, who pilots the new combine, reveals that the D-H quintet had defeated such teams as the Pittsfield Eagles and Darby, Conn. Comets before yielding to a fourth quarter rally by the speedy Lincoln cagers.

In their only game against local competition, the D-H squad easily defeated the 50 Club of the YMCA "A" League.

The locals had a good halftime edge over the Lincolns but folded in the stretch.

Walt Madajeski led the Kingston combine with 15 points. Peck McConnell rimmed 13 and Glaser holed 12. Oakley of the Lincolns bucketed 22 and the high scoring Willie Thomas settled for 17.

Manager Mahoney says the Dobler-Hilltop quintet is anxious to book dates with all teams in the area. Teams interested in booking the D-H are asked to write William Mahoney, 19 Derdenbacher street, Kingston, phone-3958.

Van Bramer's 46 Sparks Romp Over Accord, 150-61

Ferraro Aids With 40; Cerasaro's Nip Aces

Village Rest set an all-time YMCA "B" League scoring record last night by pulverizing the Accord Chevies, 150 to 61.

En route to the all-time mark, the Villagers had Vince Van Bramer establish a new individual seasonal record of 46 points.

Although the Village performance was slightly tarnished because Accord had only five players and three of them drew three fouls in the first period, it was nonetheless quite an exhibition of shooting.

Lou Schafer points out that the "Chevies were afraid of being fouled out of the game. They only hurried the Village players on their shots and kept quite a distance from them, but still they (the Villagers) hit with a phenomenal percentage of tries."

Ferraro Has 40

While Van Bramer was clocking 46 points on 20 fields and 6 fouls, Don Ferraro proved that he was no piker with 40 points of his own. He rimmed 19 fields and had two conversions.

Accord shook John Gilleran loose for 32 points but could keep the game close only in the first quarter. As soon as the three players collected three fouls, the complexion of the game changed in a hurry.

The Rest never did rest. They piled up with a steady crescendo that resulted in their biggest harvest (46 points) in the fourth quarter. They hit for quarter totals of 35-33-36-46.

With Van Bramer and Ferraro hitting 86 points, Vince Ward contributed 20; Jim Amato hit 20; Bob Bondar 15; Ed Van Loan 12 and Froggy Johnson slipped in four. Bernie Smith and Milford Ebert shared 21 for the Chevies.

Aces Nip Cerasaros

Paul Johnson's foul shot in the last three seconds gave Cerasaro Bros. a thrilling 67-66 squeaker over the Newkirk Aces in another "B" contest.

It was nip and tuck all the way, with two ties in the last minute of play (64-64 at the 45-second mark and 66-66 with 12 seconds left). Johnson was fouled on the last play from scrimmage and calmly converted with the game hanging in the balance.

Paul Houghtaling and Bill Martini gave it a hard try for the Aces but bowed to the superior team balance and power of the Cerasaro's. Martini's 28 points and Houghtaling finished with 26.

Top Cerasaro scorer was Bob Cahill with 17 points, but Johnson, Jack Schrader, Jack Hickey and Joe Gardinier all hit in double figures.

High School Skiers Enter Placid's Winter Carnival

Four-Man Squad In Class A Meet

Kingston High School's four-man ski squad, one a legendary name in the sport, leave for Lake Placid today where they will compete in the annual King Winter Carnival sponsored by Lake Placid High School on Friday and Saturday.

Class B champions in 1952, the Maroon squad has been elevated to Class A competition and will compete against the best high school skiers in the northeastern area of the country.

Selected by Dot Hoyt Nebel of the Belleayre Mt. Ski School, the team includes holdovers Louis Kuntz, Jack Effner and Roger Billings, the football quarterback.

The fourth member is Kenny Tokle, who is a nephew of the late, famous Torger Tokle and Art Tokle.

Three Davenports

Three members of the Davenport family were selected for the distaff representation, who will compete as individuals only, there being no team competition for girls.

In Class A, the high school skiers must compete in the Downhill, Slalom and Cross country events. The competition will be stiffer, of course, and the Downhill and Slalom courses are longer and more difficult.

Lack of snow has limited the practice sessions but the varsity squad has been working on Downhill and Slalom with untiring enthusiasm whenever conditions permitted.

Section Nine Meet

The KHS skiers will also defend their Section 9 championship on Saturday, Feb. 28, at the Highmount Ski Center.

Leighton Cree, of the Pearl River High School, will be in charge of the event. This competition is open to larger groups and Miss Pat Nolton, the KHS faculty adviser to the ski team, plans to line up a large Kingston entry.

Presbyterians rallied with 23 points in the final period to shade Redeemer Lutheran, 63-61, in the finest exhibition in the Protestant Church League this season, last night on the Y boards.

In the companion piece, Trinity Lutheran overwhelmed Progressive Baptist, 66-23.

Three straight 16-point periods enabled the Redeemer Lutherans to lead the Presbyterians, 48-40, at the end of three periods. Then came a red hot streak by Bob Alward, Guy Crosby and Paul Stang to wrap up the Presby triumph as the Redeemers were outdistanced, 23-13.

Crosby was top scorer with 21 points for the winners. Alward hit 14 and Stang rimmed 17. Individual honors went to Earl Schoonmaker of the Lutherans with 24. Paul Steinmiller racked up 19 and John Smith had 10.

Dobler-Hilltop Quintet Beaten After Five Wins

A new Kingston basketball combination known as the Dobler-Hilltoppers had a five-game winning streak shattered by the Lincoln Center team of Poughkeepsie, 72-69, last night at Poughkeepsie.

Manager William Mahoney, who pilots the new combine, reveals that the D-H quintet had defeated such teams as the Pittsfield Eagles and Darby, Conn. Comets before yielding to a fourth quarter rally by the speedy Lincoln cagers.

In their only game against local competition, the D-H squad easily defeated the 50 Club of the YMCA "A" League.

The locals had a good halftime edge over the Lincolns but folded in the stretch.

Walt Madajeski led the Kingston combine with 15 points. Peck McConnell rimmed 13 and Glaser holed 12. Oakley of the Lincolns bucketed 22 and the high scoring Willie Thomas settled for 17.

Manager Mahoney says the Dobler-Hilltop quintet is anxious to book dates with all teams in the area. Teams interested in booking the D-H are asked to write William Mahoney, 19 Derdenbacher street, Kingston, phone-3958.

Van Bramer's 46 Sparks Romp Over Accord, 150-61

Ferraro Aids With 40; Cerasaro's Nip Aces

Village Rest set an all-time YMCA "B" League scoring record last night by pulverizing the Accord Chevies, 150 to 61.

En route to the all-time mark, the Villagers had Vince Van Bramer establish a new individual seasonal record of 46 points.

Although the Village performance was slightly tarnished because Accord had only five players and three of them drew three fouls in the first period, it was nonetheless quite an exhibition of shooting.

Lou Schafer points out that the "Chevies were afraid of being fouled out of the game. They only hurried the Village players on their shots and kept quite a distance from them, but still they (the Villagers) hit with a phenomenal percentage of tries."

Ferraro Has 40

While Van Bramer was clocking 46 points on 20 fields and 6 fouls, Don Ferraro proved that he was no piker with 40 points of his own. He rimmed 19 fields and had two conversions.

Accord shook John Gilleran loose for 32 points but could keep the game close only in the first quarter. As soon as the three players collected three fouls, the complexion of the game changed in a hurry.

The Rest never did rest. They piled up with a steady crescendo that resulted in their biggest harvest (46 points) in the fourth quarter. They hit for quarter totals of 35-33-36-46.

With Van Bramer and Ferraro hitting 86 points, Vince Ward contributed 20; Jim Amato hit 20; Bob Bondar 15; Ed Van Loan 12 and Froggy Johnson slipped in four. Bernie Smith and Milford Ebert shared 21 for the Chevies.

Aces Nip Cerasaros

Paul Johnson's foul shot in the last three seconds gave Cerasaro Bros. a thrilling 67-66 squeaker over the Newkirk Aces in another "B" contest.

It was nip and tuck all the way, with two ties in the last minute of play (64-64 at the 45-second mark and 66-66 with 12 seconds left). Johnson was fouled on the last play from scrimmage and calmly converted with the game hanging in the balance.

Build Up Your Bowling By
Knockin' 'Em Down
With STEVE NAGY, Bowler of the Year

By STEVE NAGY
Bowler-of-the-Year

How many times have you released a bowling ball, seen it roll right over your target on the alley, wait expectantly for the ball to hook into the pocket—but nothing happens?

The ball generally continues straight ahead, striking the 3-pin and leaving you a clothesline leave on the left—usually the 1-2-4 pins.

This is the result of releasing the thumb and fingers from the ball at the same time. It is the same as putting the ball on a shovel and simply pushing it on the alley.

The lack of a hook on the ball can come from poor finger action.

In releasing the ball, remember the thumb comes out of the ball first at the foul line, then the fingers take over.

This finger action is extremely important in developing a good hook.

The four fingers impart stuff to the ball with a lifting motion as the ball is sent out over the foul line. Don't twist your wrist. That will not add anything but spin.

The bowler should be relaxed and balanced even though the action is very fast and strenuous.

This ultimate relaxation is the result of being comfortable in performing each of the earlier steps in approaching the foul line.

ACTION—The thumb comes out of the ball at the foul line, the fingers taking over. (NEA)

Pontiacs Crash 2830

Pontiac Broadway Garage of the Central Rec League opened with a salvo of 1050 on alleys 7 and 8 last night in the city tourney.

Subsequent counts of 944 on 1 and 2 and an 836-finisher on 3 and 4 enabled them to take over the scratch division lead in the KBA championships with 2830.

George "Curley" Flemings and Hod Spaulding contributed 616 and 580 respectively. Flemings shot 256 and 201 before splits in the last three frames hobbled him to 159 and 616. Spaulding had a high of 213.

Welch's Grocers hold the gross single score of 1085.

Blinders Take 2nd

The Pontiacs' 2962 enabled them to take over fifth place in the gross division.

Jack Blinder's Apparel trundlers moved into second place with a 2994 blast as three men grossed "600" or better. Murray Greene had 605, Ben Orkoff 601 and Mike Levy 602.

Alpine's rolled into 7th with 2947 gross as Frank Leskie contributed 224; Herm Seelbach 203-622 gross and Jim Amendola grossed 626.

Esopus LL Appoints Four Managers for '53

The Town of Esopus Little League reappointed one manager and selected three new ones for the 1953 season at a public meeting held Monday night at the American Legion Hall.

Chester Barth was renamed manager of the Indians, while Charlie Bock will head the Dodgers; Bill Clark takes over for the Yankees; and Cliff Davis switches jobs with his son, Bruce, for the Giants.

The assistant coaches named were:
Indians—Darrel Myers, Bud Potter.
Dodgers—Art Shelightner, Ed Doyle.
Yankees—Bill Ferguson, Jack Short.
Giants—Bruce Davis, John Vitarius.

The three umpires for the 1953 schedule will be Frank Sass, Ernie Best and Eugene Brown of the Wiltwyck School athletic staff.

Wings, Rangers Play Fourth Tie

(By The Associated Press)

The National Hockey League's pace-setting Detroit Red Wings are 28 points ahead of the last-place New York Rangers today. But you wouldn't know it from the 11 games they have played each other this season.

The Red Wings and Rangers battled to a 2-2 tie last night before a crowd of 8,469. It was their fourth deadlock this year, with Detroit having won four and the Rangers three of their other seven games.

It took a goal by rookie Johnny Wilson at 6:25 of the third period to give Detroit the one point it needed to increase its first place margin over idle Montreal to five points.

Wilson's tally came on a 25-foot screened shot which slipped between the pads of Lorne Worsley in the Ranger nets. The goal came just after Detroit finally went to the attack after being outplayed during most of the first two periods.

How Score Went

Nick Mickoski put New York ahead early in the first period but Ted Lindsay tied the score at 14:13 of the second stanza by converting a Gordie Howe rebound.

The Rangers regained the lead less than two minutes later when Wally Hergesheimer climaxed a three-man breakaway by drilling a 25-foot drive past Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuck.

Howe's assist gave him 72 points for the 1952-1953 campaign and put him only 14 points behind the National Hockey League's all-time mark. Gordie set the record during the 1950-1951 season and tied it again last year.

Dates With His Wife's Mother Break Family

Attorney Charles C. Cooley said Mundorf, 34, dated his mother-in-law, Mrs. Frances Albrecht, 52, each Saturday night in 1951. He told the court Mrs. Albrecht, a stenographer and a widow, "frequently told Mundorf she loved him."

Mundorf, a factory foreman, and his wife, Marion, 27, separated last October. She has filed suit for divorce on charges of cruelty. They have two children. Cooley told Judge Miner Mrs. Albrecht had prevented reconciliation and had urged her daughter to take divorce action.

Judge Miner ordered Mrs. Albrecht to appear for a hearing but no date was set.

Fred Dwyer Looks Like Prime Miler

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Is Fred Dwyer, Villanova's tiny killer of the boards, destined to become America's greatest miler of all time?

"It's quite possible if he doesn't reach his peak too soon," said Dan Ferris today. "He is wonderful and getting better all the time. It's just a matter of when he'll hit his prime."

Ferris is the white-haired father of the National Amateur Athletic Union whose stop-watch eyes have clocked the strides of the country's best—from Joie Ray back in the twenties, to Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke in the thirties and right down to the still active Don Gehrmann and Fred Wilt.

"Fred is still very young, just 21," said the long-time secretary of the AAU. "A miler shouldn't hit his peak until he's 25 or 26. If that's true in Dwyer's case, he conceivably could be America's best bet for the four-minute mile."

Shooting at Double

The unbeaten Dwyer, winner of five straight indoor mile tests this winter, takes a shot Saturday night at the first half of a double that eluded such great runners as Venzke, Bill Bonthron and Les MacMitchell.

This week it's the AAU indoor championships at Madison Square Garden. On Feb. 21 he is scheduled to go in the IC4A. Several milers won both of these events but none on successive weekends.

Dwyer opened the winter season with a 4:19.4 mile victory in the Washington Star meet. Then he won the Philadelphia Inquirer in 4:09.7, the Wanamaker in 4:08.2, the Hunter in 4:09.2 and the Baxter in 4:09.8.

Swinging to Freedom

Three hours after she was discovered trapped in a pit silo on the farm of H. F. Massoni, near Liberal, Kas., this five-year-old Hereford cow, dubbed "Lucky Lady" by her owner, swings to freedom in a makeshift sling used to hoist her out of her trap. Massoni believes a curious cow opened the door to the silage shed, letting a dozen of her mates inside. In the crush "Lucky Lady" was toppled into the 35-foot pit.

The weight of an inch of rainfall per acre is about 113 short tons of water.

The Bonefish Maneuver

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

Plug casting hasn't always been a particularly good method of taking bonefish and most people chalk that up to the supersonic senses of the world's smartest fish. Personally, I never did find bonefish especially hard to catch with a fly when they are "mudding" on the flats, but with a plug it's another matter.

Even when the plug is cast some distance ahead of them, telltale waves spread out and Mr. Bonefish takes off like a bat. Funny thing is, if we forget all the rules about crafty presentation and toss our plugs right smack on him, the money apparently thinks the splashing plug is something he kicked off the bottom, because he'll hit fast. This is probably the most fantastic exception to angling lore, but it can be explained in the way bonefish feed.

As a rule you'll find sharks and rays feeding with the bonefish. Actually, our silver ghost is the uninvited guest, because the great wings of the ray and the leathery bodies of grabbing sharks are disturbing the sand, turning up crabs, shrimps, and all those little tidbits that Mr. Bonefish relishes. Instead of being a timid soul, our cagey chow hound is filching pies off the back porch.

Being fast on his find, the bonefish watches for sudden disturbances nearby — like the splashy entry of your plug 10 or 20 feet away. But drop the lure right on him when he's feeding and he'll think it's something that popped out of the sand.

The sportiest contest in the entire fishing world will be staged on Panama Bay from July 4th to August 4th of this year. This international bill-fish derby is based on a high and unique standard: angling achievement.

Competing anglers are going to tangle with black and striped marlin as well as Pacific sailfish in a big-game free-for-all that promises to be the liveliest tournament in the history of fishing. Anything from a 9-foot sailfish to a 15-foot black marlin can come to bait in these waters.

Long known as a highly productive big-game arena, Panama Bay was only recently developed for large scale tourist angling. A fleet of American type fishing craft will be readied to close with the bill-fish.

Anglers from every corner of the globe are being invited to attend, and judging from past records, all hands will have an equal chance at the major tournament trophies. Every bill-fish is eligible for entry; and the name "Panama" means abundance of fish. This year's talent might well see a record fall—the 1006-pound black marlin caught by Louis Schmidt, Jr., in 1949 after a 15½-hour battle.

Build Up Your Bowling By
Knockin' 'Em Down
With STEVE NAGY, Bowler of the Year

By STEVE NAGY
Bowler-of-the-Year

How many times have you released a bowling ball, seen it roll right over your target on the alley, wait expectantly for the ball to hook into the pocket—but nothing happens?

The ball generally continues straight ahead, striking the 3-pin and leaving you a clothesline leave on the left—usually the 1-2-4 pins.

This is the result of releasing the thumb and fingers from the ball at the same time. It is the same as putting the ball on a shovel and simply pushing it on the alley.

The lack of a hook on the ball can come from poor finger action.

In releasing the ball, remember the thumb comes out of the ball first at the foul line, then the fingers take over.

This finger action is extremely important in developing a good hook.

The four fingers impart stuff to the ball with a lifting motion as the ball is sent out over the foul line. Don't twist your wrist. That will not add anything but spin.

The bowler should be relaxed and balanced even though the action is very fast and strenuous.

This ultimate relaxation is the result of being comfortable in performing each of the earlier steps in approaching the foul line.

Pontiacs Crash 2830

Pontiac Broadway Garage of the Central Rec League opened with a salvo of 1050 on alleys 7 and 8 last night in the city tourney.

Subsequent counts of 944 on 1 and 2 and an 836-finisher on 3 and 4 enabled them to take over the scratch division lead in the KBA championships with 2830.

George "Curley" Flemings and Hod Spaulding contributed 616 and 580 respectively. Flemings shot 256 and 201 before splits in the last three frames hobbled him to 159 and 616. Spaulding had a high of 213.

Welch's Grocers hold the gross single score of 1085.

Blinders Take 2nd

The Pontiacs' 2962 enabled them to take over fifth place in the gross division.

Major and minor squads are scheduled tonight on two shifts 7 and 9:15 p. m.

Dodgers—Art Shelightner, Ed Doyle.
Yankees—Bill Ferguson, Jack Short.
Giants—Bruce Davis, John Vitarius.

The three umpires for the 1953 schedule will be Frank Sass, Ernie Best and Eugene Brown of the Wiltwyck School athletic staff.

Wings, Rangers Play Fourth Tie

(By The Associated Press)

The National Hockey League's pace-setting Detroit Red Wings are 28 points ahead of the last-place New York Rangers today. But you wouldn't know it from the 11 games they have played each other this season.

The Red Wings and Rangers battled to a 2-2 tie last night before a crowd of 8,469. It was their fourth deadlock this year, with Detroit having won four and the Rangers three of their other seven games.

It took a goal by rookie Johnny Wilson at 6:25 of the third period to give Detroit the one point it needed to increase its first place margin over idle Montreal to five points.

Wilson's tally came on a 25-foot screened shot which slipped between the pads of Lorne Worsley in the Ranger nets. The goal came just after Detroit finally went to the attack after being outplayed during most of the first two periods.

How Score Went

Nick Mickoski put New York ahead early in the first period but Ted Lindsay tied the score at 14:13 of the second stanza by converting a Gordie Howe rebound.

The Rangers regained the lead less than two minutes later when Wally Hergesheimer climaxed a three-man breakaway by drilling a 25-foot drive past Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuck.

Howe's assist gave him 72 points for the 1952-1953 campaign and put him only 14 points behind the National Hockey League's all-time mark. Gordie set the record during the 1950-1951 season and tied it again last year.

Dates With His Wife's Mother Break Family

Attorney Charles C. Cooley said Mundorf, 34, dated his mother-in-law, Mrs. Frances Albrecht, 52, each Saturday night in 1951. He told the court Mrs. Albrecht, a stenographer and a widow, "frequently told Mundorf she loved him."

Mundorf, a factory foreman, and his wife, Marion, 27, separated last October. She has filed suit for divorce on charges of cruelty. They have two children. Cooley told Judge Miner Mrs. Albrecht had prevented reconciliation and had urged her daughter to take divorce action.

Judge Miner ordered Mrs. Albrecht to appear for a hearing but no date was set.

Fred Dwyer Looks Like Prime Miler

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Is Fred Dwyer, Villanova's tiny killer of the boards, destined to become America's greatest miler of all time?

"It's quite possible if he doesn't reach his peak too soon," said Dan Ferris today. "He is wonderful and getting better all the time. It's just a matter of when he'll hit his prime."

Ferris is the white-haired father of the National Amateur Athletic Union whose stop-watch eyes have clocked the strides of the country's best—from Joie Ray back in the twenties, to Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke in the thirties and right down to the still active Don Gehrmann and Fred Wilt.

"Fred is still very young, just 21," said the long-time secretary of the AAU. "A miler shouldn't hit his peak until he's 25 or 26. If that's true in Dwyer's case, he conceivably could be America's best bet for the four-minute mile."

Shooting at Double

The unbeaten Dwyer, winner of five straight indoor mile tests this winter, takes a shot Saturday night at the first half of a double that eluded such great runners as Venzke, Bill Bonthron and Les MacMitchell.

This week it's the AAU indoor championships at Madison Square Garden. On Feb. 21 he is scheduled to go in the IC4A. Several milers won both of these events but none on successive weekends.

Dwyer opened the winter season with a 4:19.4 mile victory in the Washington Star meet. Then he won the Philadelphia Inquirer in 4:09.7, the Wanamaker in 4:08.2, the Hunter in 4:09.2 and the Baxter in 4:09.8.

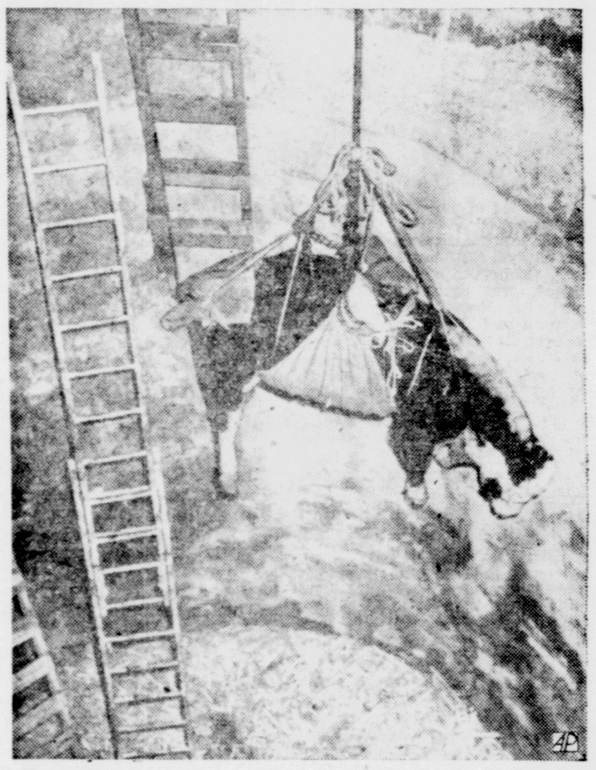
Swinging to Freedom



Three hours after she was discovered trapped in a pit silo on the farm of H. F. Massoni, near Liberal, Kas., this five-year-old Hereford cow, dubbed "Lucky Lady" by her owner, swings to freedom in a makeshift sling used to hoist her out of her trap. Massoni believes a curious cow opened the door to the silage shed, letting a dozen of her mates inside. In the crush "Lucky Lady" was toppled into the 35-foot pit.

The Bonefish Maneuver

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

Plug casting hasn't always been a particularly good method of taking bonefish and most people chalk that up to the supersonic senses of the world's smartest fish. Personally, I never did find bonefish especially hard to catch with a fly when they are "mudding" on the flats, but with a plug it's another matter.

Even when the plug is cast some distance ahead of them, telltale waves spread out and Mr. Bonefish takes off like a bat. Funny thing is, if we forget all the rules about crafty presentation and toss our plugs right smack on him, the money apparently thinks the splashing plug is something he kicked off the bottom, because he'll hit fast. This is probably the most fantastic exception to angling lore, but it can be explained in the way bonefish feed.

As a rule you'll find sharks and rays feeding with the bonefish. Actually, our silver ghost is the uninvited guest, because the great wings of the ray and the leathery bodies of grabbing sharks are disturbing the sand, turning up crabs, shrimps, and all those little tidbits that Mr. Bonefish relishes. Instead of being a timid soul, our cagey chow hound is filching pies off the back porch.

Being fast on his find, the bonefish watches for sudden disturbances nearby — like the splashy entry of your plug 10 or 20 feet away. But drop the lure right on him when he's feeding and he'll think it's something that popped out of the sand.

The sportiest contest in the entire fishing world will be staged on Panama Bay from July 4th to August 4th of this year. This international bill-fish derby is based on a high and unique standard: angling achievement.

Competing anglers are going to tangle with black and striped marlin as well as Pacific sailfish in a big-game free-for-all that promises to be the liveliest tournament in the history of fishing. Anything from a 9-foot sailfish to a 15-foot black marlin can come to bait in these waters.

Long known as a highly productive big-game arena, Panama Bay was only recently developed for large scale tourist angling. A fleet of American type fishing craft will be readied to close with the bill-fish.

Anglers from every corner of the globe are being invited to attend, and judging from past records, all hands will have an equal chance at the major tournament trophies. Every bill-fish is eligible for entry; and the name "Panama" means abundance of fish. This year's talent might well see a record fall—the 1006-pound black marlin caught by Louis Schmidt, Jr., in 1949 after a 15½-hour battle.

Train Is Derailed

New Smyrna Beach, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—The three unit diesel engine and 12 cars of the Vacationer, Miami to New York Pullman train, derailed near here last night but no one was seriously hurt. Thomas Tipton, chief dispatcher here for the Florida East Coast Railroad, said six persons were slightly hurt and had been taken to hospitals. Tipton reported the first two units of the engine broke off from the 15-car train, went up the track some distance and overturned. The third unit was destroyed by fire, he said.

Aldrich Starts Work

London, Feb. 12 (AP)—The new United States ambassador, Winthrop Aldrich, started work today with introductory calls on Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. The three leaders lunched together at Churchill's official London residence, No. 10 Downing street. Formal diplomatic business between Aldrich and Britain's government must await his presentation of credentials to Queen Elizabeth II. This ceremony probably will take place late next week.

Pass Out Armored Shorts

Western Front, Korea, Feb. 12 (AP)—The U. S. Eighth Army today issued armored shorts to a frontline infantry division. If they prove practical they may become standard equipment. The shorts, made of 12 layers of basket-weave nylon, weigh four pounds. They are tacked to the armored vests which have been in use in Korea for a year. The shorts offer the same protection to the hip area which the vests gives the stomach, chest and back.

Ex-Legislator Dies

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Former Rep. Roy O. Woodruff, 76, veteran Republican legislator from Michigan, died today at Walter Reed Hospital. He served 17 terms in the House of Representatives before retiring from public office at the close of the 82nd Congress last month. He gave failing health as his reason for not seeking reelection.

'53 Budget . . .

The traditional budget hearing before the two fiscal committees was a carbon copy of previous sessions. Scores of witnesses urged—with little chance of success—that the Legislature rewrite certain parts of the involved budget for the coming fiscal year, which begins April 1.

Mayor Is Present

Highlight of the hearing was the united stand by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri and the New York Board of Estimate for $62,700,000 in extra state financial assistance for the hard-put metropolis. Despite Impellitteri's 55-minute plea, and a similar one by Council President Rudolph Halley, there appeared little likelihood the additional funds would be forthcoming.

As usual the largest representation, with the biggest demands came from groups who claimed to represent parents' and teachers' groups in New York city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spisa, president of the Sunnyside-Woodside Health Council of Queens, urged that the Legislature create a committee to study the feasibility of a state-operated lottery to raise funds exclusively for school construction, school repair and hospital.

Garth A. Shoemaker of Elmira, president of the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private taxpayers' group, spearheaded the economy pleas.

He said the taxpayers of the state were "not naive" and realized that, when the Legislature approved the budget, it was clearing a "spending program in excess of the revenues that can be collected under existing state taxes for general purposes."

Firemen Are Called

Firemen were called at 4:38 p. m., yesterday to 46 Chambers street where excessive oil in a space heater caused a flare-up in the second floor apartment of Mrs. Sadie Farber. No damage, other than smoke and fumes, was reported.

Dewey, Brownell to Speak

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell are scheduled to address two Lincoln Day dinners tonight honoring Lincoln and celebrating the party's victory in last fall's presidential election. The two will deliver the main addresses at the 67th annual dinner of the National Republican Club at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend. Both also will speak briefly later at the annual $25-a-plate fund raising dinner of the Kings County Republican organization at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn.

Morrill Announces GoodyearProgram To Conserve Soil

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, O., is following the increased interest in soil conservation as stressed in President Eisenhower's first State of the Union message to Congress, according to a former Kingstonian, who holds an executive position with the firm.

Arthur G. Morrill, director of the Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards program, said this year the project has been expanded on a nationwide basis, starting July 1, 1953, to inspire voluntary soil conservation district workers, farmers and ranchers to greater efforts to preserve the nation's topsoil.

All States to Compete

Goodyear has sponsored a soil conservation awards program on a regional basis in 17 states for the past six years. The new program will be patterned after the old with 100 persons from all 48 states eligible for grand prize award vacation trips to the Wigwam Inn, on Goodyear's Farms at Litchfield Park, Arizona, in December 1954.

All organized soil conservation districts in the United States are eligible to compete for the Goodyear awards. One member of each winning district and the top cooperating farmer or rancher named by the district will make the trip to Arizona.

Winning districts will be selected on a point system of rating actual accomplishments. Actual competition will be over a 10-month period with two months for judging. State soil conservation districts will compete with each other for first and second place awards.

To Award Certificates

Certificates of meritorious achievement will be awarded 1,000 outstanding supervisors and cooperators after the close of the contest year on April 30, 1954, Morrill said.

Morrill is a son of Arthur L. Morrill, manager of the Kingston branch of the Fitzgerald Brewing Company. His wife is the former Mary O'Connor, daughter of Charles E. O'Connor of this city. The Morrills reside at Cuyahoga Falls, O.

So far as is known, he added, no major allies of the U. S. are permitting war material shipment to the Iron Curtain countries. But he said the U. S. and Canada are the only nations which have severed all trade ties with Red China.

Meanwhile, Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) disclosed that Gen. James A. Van Fleet will be asked to tell the Senate Armed Services Committee soon how he believes "an offensive can be conducted successfully in Korea."

Laying down his Korean command this week, Van Fleet replied "certainly" when an Associated Press correspondent asked whether "a general offensive in Korea can be successful at this time."

Saltonstall said he would ask the general to "spell out to us in detail" how it can be done.

Fort Knox, Ky., Feb. 12 (AP)—"We've found everything right on the nose." That report came out of the United States bullion depository here as federal officials reached the half way mark yesterday in their spot check of the 14 billion dollars in gold bars. George M. Humphrey, new secretary of the treasury, ordered the counting and weighing of 10 per cent of the 12,000 tons of stored yellow metal.

Train Is Derailed

New Smyrna Beach, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—The three unit diesel engine and 12 cars of the Vacationer, Miami to New York Pullman train, derailed near here last night but no one was seriously hurt. Thomas Tipton, chief dispatcher here for the Florida East Coast Railroad, said six persons were slightly hurt and had been taken to hospitals. Tipton reported the first two units of the engine broke off from the 15-car train, went up the track some distance and overturned. The third unit was destroyed by fire, he said.

Aldrich Starts Work

London, Feb. 12 (AP)—The new United States ambassador, Winthrop Aldrich, started work today with introductory calls on Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. The three leaders lunched together at Churchill's official London residence, No. 10 Downing street. Formal diplomatic business between Aldrich and Britain's government must await his presentation of credentials to Queen Elizabeth II. This ceremony probably will take place late next week.

Pass Out Armored Shorts

Western Front, Korea, Feb. 12 (AP)—The U. S. Eighth Army today issued armored shorts to a frontline infantry division. If they prove practical they may become standard equipment. The shorts, made of 12 layers of basket-weave nylon, weigh four pounds. They are tacked to the armored vests which have been in use in Korea for a year. The shorts offer the same protection to the hip area which the vests gives the stomach, chest and back.

Ex-Legislator Dies

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—Former Rep. Roy O. Woodruff, 76, veteran Republican legislator from Michigan, died today at Walter Reed Hospital. He served 17 terms in the House of Representatives before retiring from public office at the close of the 82nd Congress last month. He gave failing health as his reason for not seeking reelection.

'53 Budget . . .

make the inspections, wherever possible.

The traditional budget hearing before the two fiscal committees was a carbon copy of previous sessions. Scores of witnesses urged—with little chance of success—that the Legislature rewrite certain parts of the involved budget for the coming fiscal year, which begins April 1.

Mayor Is Present

Highlight of the hearing was the united stand by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri and the New York Board of Estimate for $62,700,000 in extra state financial assistance for the hard-put metropolis. Despite Impellitteri's 55-minute plea, and a similar one by Council President Rudolph Halley, there appeared little likelihood the additional funds would be forthcoming.

As usual the largest representation, with the biggest demands came from groups who claimed to represent parents' and teachers' groups in New York city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spisa, president of the Sunnyside-Woodside Health Council of Queens, urged that the Legislature create a committee to study the feasibility of a state-operated lottery to raise funds exclusively for school construction, school repair and hospital.

Garth A. Shoemaker of Elmira, president of the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private taxpayers' group, spearheaded the economy pleas.

He said the taxpayers of the state were "not naive" and realized that, when the Legislature approved the budget, it was clearing a "spending program in excess of the revenues that can be collected under existing state taxes for general purposes."

Firemen Are Called

Firemen were called at 4:38 p. m., yesterday to 46 Chambers street where excessive oil in a space heater caused a flare-up in the second floor apartment of Mrs. Sadie Farber. No damage, other than smoke and fumes, was reported.

Dewey, Brownell to Speak

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell are scheduled to address two Lincoln Day dinners tonight honoring Lincoln and celebrating the party's victory in last fall's presidential election. The two will deliver the main addresses at the 67th annual dinner of the National Republican Club at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend. Both also will speak briefly later at the annual $25-a-plate fund raising dinner of the Kings County Republican organization at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn.
